

Music Week to Begin May 7

National music week this year will be observed from May 7 to 14, according to Mrs. Walter Denton, who will again serve as state and local chairman.

Mrs. Denton will announce her state and local committees soon. The week, she says, will be again sponsored by the National Federation of Music clubs. As usual, musical programs in churches and schools, and several other events will feature Salem's celebration of the week.

SECTION

It has been the bleachers for Salem high school students this year, first time in many a day that the local ball club hasn't figured in the annual basketball tourney.

The Statesman Woman's page editors snapped pictures of a group of boys and girls sunning themselves at lunchtime one day this week before the great columns of Salem's attractive high school building.

Walking briskly down the front walk in the upper righthand picture are Bob Zeller, student body forensic manager and a good basketballer; Jean Fidler, secretary of the junior class; Jean Smith, a Civics club princess from Tri-Y; Peggy Smith, Miss Liberty Belle of Salem high and home economics club president; and Doug Gibson, a member of the varsity basketball team and a junior.

The lower righthand picture shows a group of students talking things over. Eugene Lowe, a junior and member of the basketball team; Edith Fairham, president of one of the Tri-Y groups; Trudie Meier, active in Tri-Y and one of the Civics club princesses; and Bruce Hamilton, prominent athlete, and president of the S club. In a Round of Parties

Miss Marylee Fry, who will be married to Mr. William Earl Snell, United States navy, on Saturday, arrived in Salem last night from Portland to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Fry, jr., until after her wedding. There are a round of parties in her honor and the rehearsal is scheduled for Saturday afternoon when Mr. Snell and his ushers will arrive from Portland.

The ceremony will take place at St. Paul's Episcopal church with Rev. George H. Swift officiating at 8 o'clock. Many guests are bidden from out-of-town and Salem. A reception will be held at the Fry home on West Letelle street after the nuptials.

The bride-elect's aunt, Mrs. Earl Flegel, is coming from Fort Worden, Texas, for her niece's wedding and expects to arrive on Friday.

For Monday Miss Fry's grandmother, Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner, and her great-aunt, Mrs. Milton L. Meyers, are arranging a 12 o'clock breakfast in her honor at the Meyers home on Court street. A handkerchief shower will fetter the bride-to-be. Members of the Thursday club, of which the hostesses are members, will make up the guest list. Bouquets of spring flowers will provide the decorative note.

Dinner For Bridesmaids

Miss Fry will go to Portland on Friday to a luncheon at the Town club when Miss Marjorie Englehardt entertains in her honor. That evening the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. Daniel J. Fry, sr., will entertain feminine members of the bridal party at a 7 o'clock dinner at her South High street residence.

Fourteen guests will be seated at a large table centered with a long and narrow arrangement of daffodils, forsythia, yellow satin ribbon and candles.

Luncheons And A Tea

Mrs. Jerrold Owen and her daughter, Miss Marianne Owen, will be hostesses for a luncheon and handkerchief shower on Tuesday afternoon at their Leslie street residence for the pleasure of Miss Fry.

Guests will be seated at small tables with baskets of pastel spring flowers forming the centerpiece. Covers will be placed for 12 and bridge will be in play during the afternoon.

A luncheon hostess on Wednesday afternoon will be Mrs. P. D. Quisenberry when she entertains at her West Letelle street home in compliment to the bride-to-be. Twelve guests have been invited to a 1 o'clock luncheon.

Slated for Thursday afternoon is the informal tea for which Mrs. Harry N. Crain and her daughter, Mrs. Boyd E. Brown, (Barbara Crain) will be hostesses at the Crain home on South High street for Miss Fry. Guests have been invited to call between 4 and 6 o'clock. Mothers of the engaged couple, Mrs. Daniel J. Fry, jr., and Mrs. Earl Snell, will preside at the tea urns.

Social Notes of the Week . . .

Social notes this week concern the comings and goings of army wives. Mrs. Alex DeSchweinitz and young son, Allan, left on Thursday for Carmel to join Lt. DeSchweinitz. He is stationed at Ft. Ord and has leased an apartment for his wife and son. Judge and Mrs. Harry Belt accompanied their daughter and grandson south and expect to return to the capital the middle of the week. Lt. DeSchweinitz was previously stationed at Camp Adair.

Mrs. Donald Plympton (Wilda Jerman) of Portland is enroute for the south today to visit her father, Mr. Arch M. Jerman, in Tucson, Arizona and her army air corps husband in Big Springs, Texas. She expects to be gone several weeks and while she is away her young daughter, Sally, will be here with her grandmother, Mrs. Arch Jerman. Mrs. Plympton's brother, John Jerman, is leaving Wednesday for Buckley Field, Denver to begin his aviation cadet training.

Mrs. Kenneth Sherman (Marjorie Van DeWalker) is leaving today for Halls, Tennessee to join Lt. Sherman, who is stationed at Dyersburg Field with the army air corps. Enroute south Mrs. Sherman will stop in Whitefish, Montana, to visit with her husband's parents and will also make a short stop in Chicago. Mrs. Sherman has been visiting in the capital the past month with her mother, Mrs. Gladys Van DeWalker.

Mrs. William Regner (Lorraine Sampson) and Mrs. Robert Barnett (Barbara Bell) are driving south to California this week, leaving Tuesday morning. Mrs. Regner has been residing in Salem while her army lieutenant husband was stationed at Camp Adair and is returning to San Mateo to live with her parents. Mrs. Barnett will go on to Carmel where she and Captain Barnett have taken a house. He is stationed at the Presidio at Monterey and was formerly at Camp Adair.

A Party at Cooley's . . .

Betty Cooley, daughter of the Earl Cooleys, and Miss Ann Forristel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Forristel, were hostesses for a gala St. Patrick's party Saturday afternoon at the Cooley home on Center street.

Card games were in play during the afternoon and refreshments were served by the hostesses. St. Patrick's decorations and bouquets of daffodils and forsythia were used about the rooms.

Guests of Betty and Ann were Sharon and Carol Colley, Elaine Stanley, Patty Craig, Mary Felke, Martha Marshall and Charlotte McNary.

It Was a Church Ceremony . . .

Lt. Wallace E. Hancock, jr., United States army, slipped a slender gold band on the left hand of Miss Estelene Smith Saturday night at a ceremony in the First Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock. Rev. H. E. Scheuerman of Monmouth officiated before a large assemblage of guests.

Pink and white, with touches of blue, were colors selected by the bride for her wedding. The altar was decorated with baskets of pink and white carnations, cala lilies, snapdragons and stock. The many white tapers were lighted by Miss Irene Berning and Miss Audrey Hancock of Los Angeles, the bridegroom's sister. They wore pink silk dresses. Mrs. Richard Bell sang "God Gave Me You" and "I Love You Truly" before the bridal party entered. Miss Alice Rose was the organist.

The tall, brunette bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Smith and she was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she chose a white upper satin gown fashioned with a full skirt which terminated in a train and long sleeves with points over the wrists. The fitted bodice was made with a sweetheart neckline enhanced with seed pearls and tiny self covered buttons in back.

Her train-length tulle veil was edged in lace and cascaded from a crown of seed pearls. Around her neck was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, gardenias and orchids.

Miss Betty Jean Smith was her cousin's maid of honor and Mrs. Charles Harris of Portland (Loretta Smith) was her sister's matron of honor. The bridesmaids were two other sisters, Mrs. Louis Cross (Neva Smith) and Mrs. James Hurd (Ada Mae Smith), and Miss Marjorie Price and Miss Georai Clark. Jill Harris, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

The girls wore dresses of silk crepe made with torso waists, full skirts and low round necklines. Ruffling enhanced the necklines, waists and three-quarters length sleeves. The attendants wore pink dresses except for Mrs. Cross and Miss Smith, who wore powder blue. They carried garlands of sweetpeas and daisies and wore halos of sweetpeas.

Lt. Ray Lamka stood with Lt. Hancock as best man and seating the guests were Captain Ray Patterson, Lt. Robert Northcupp, Lt. Robert Gunther, Lt. Joseph Stachanzky, Lt. Robert McAdoo, Lt. Robert Wolfe and Lt. George Coughlin.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Smith chose a navy blue silk crepe gown with rose trim and a navy blue hat. Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Hancock, sr., came from Los Angeles for their son's marriage. Mrs. Hancock wore an ice blue silk dress and a fuchsia hat. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

The newlyweds received congratulations at a reception held in the church parlors. Mrs. Eva Black presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Wayne Price was at the coffee urn. Mrs. Guy H. Smith cut the bride's cake. Assisting in the serving were Miss Jean Burrell and the bridal party. Miss Ruth Skinner passed the guest book.

When Lt. and Mrs. Hancock left on a short trip to the beaches she wore a navy blue dress with powder blue top coat and a navy blue and white half hat. To her shoulder she pinned a white orchid. The couple will make their home on route two while he is stationed at Camp Adair.

A Tea This Afternoon . . .

One of the largest social affairs of the early spring season will be the tea for which Mrs. Daniel B. Jarman will be hostess this afternoon at her attractive home on North Winter street. Calling hours are from 4 to 6 o'clock and over 125 guests have been bidden.

Miss Jane Findley and Miss Virginia Pope will greet the guests at the door. Assisting in the living room will be Mrs. Percy Kelly and Mrs. M. Bayard Findley.

Presiding at the tea urns the first part of the afternoon will be Mrs. Harry V. Collins and Mrs. Raymond Walsh. Pouring the last hours will be Mrs. Homer Goulet, sr. and Mrs. Miller B. Hayden.

Young girls who will assist in the serving are Miss Phyllis Fisher, Miss Doris and Miss Florency Duffy, Miss Marianne Low, Miss Mary Jane Kestly, Miss Eloise Findley, Miss Jane Walsh and Mrs. William J. Thompson, jr.

Miss McGinnis Will Wed . . .

Announcement is being made today by Mrs. Kathryn W. McGinnis of the engagement of her daughter, Miss Patricia McGinnis, to Mr. Ora John Davis, sergeant United States army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arley Davis of Salem, West Virginia.

Miss McGinnis is a graduate of Salem high school and has been employed at the Oregon Pulp and Paper company. Mr. Davis attended schools in West Virginia and was employed with the Burlington and Ohio Railroad before enlisting. He is with the 70th division at Camp Adair.

The wedding plans are dependent on his orders, but the couple expect to be married early in the summer.

An Informal Dinner Party . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Riches were hosts for a smartly arranged informal dinner party Saturday night at their Kingwood Heights home. The hosts are planning a series of similar affairs this spring.

Cards were in play during the evening and arrangements of spring flowers were used about the rooms.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Karl Heinlein, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, Dr. and Mrs. James L. Sears and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Riches.
