Candidate's Dog Defends Rights

By JOE LYTLE
SCIO — Here's an item for the columnist who signs himself "C. That":

M. D. (Del) Zahner of Scio, a republican candidate for nomination for Linn county sheriff, this week extended the courtesy of calling on one of his four republican competitors in the pre-primary campaign, Albert Julian, of Lyons.

Unlike Mr. Julian himself, the latter's dog in a vicious manner contested Del's right to approach the premises, and, in an unguarded moment, snapped the visitor's foot between the instep and the ankle.

The canine made another pass at the candidate, only slitting the lower part of Del's trouser leg. The third lurch apparently was intended for Del's throat, but with the agility of the active man he is, Del warded off the fangs.

The contenders for the sheriff nomination parted as good friends as before, but Del's friends suggested he take a deputy along the next time he calls on a contender.
