British Mother Names Child After Jeep

Mrs. J. Anthony Nunn (Nadine Orcutt) has received an interesting clipping concerning her husband's jeep, which is named "Nadine." Lt. Nunn is stationed in England and the US army newspaper "Stars and Stripes" reported that a British mother, filling out a food ration application, gave her infant daughter's name as "Nadine."

"That's an unusual name," said the clerk. "Is it French or Russian?"

"I don't know," replied the mother, "I got it off an American jeep."

Lt. Nunn has been overseas 18 months and had his jeep, "Nadine," with him in the Africa and Sicily invasions.

LAKEPORT, N.Y.—(P)—An unidentified horseman rode his steed through a hotel dining hall and tap room, driving patrons before him, then vanished into the night.

Circus Thrills Salem "Kids" From 2 to 90 at Two Shows

The same old thing, yet always new, is the circus. Salem youngsters by the hundreds, mostly accompanied by obliging parents, found their way to the circus grounds on Friday afternoon and night, to attend the Arthur Brothers circus.

Animals, from the tiny trick dogs to the huge elephants, shared top honors with the trapeze performers, trick riders and jugglers.

One of the best acts of the show, although one which received little fanfare, was the dog and pony show in which half a dozen fuzzy dogs went through their speedy act with the eager energy that characterizes well trained dogs. They rode the ponies, jumped through hoops, walked on hind and front feet, and clowned through their paces in good style.

The elephants, without which no circus would be a real show, included the two young twins, Joe and Moe, who went through their paces with great skill for such youngsters.

The top horse act was the Criollo stallions, trained and shown by Capt. Jergen Christiansen, in one of those performances which

WE ARE GETTING SOMEWHERE

In our advertising asking the citizens of Salem to support our bill to provide a pension fund for firemen.

The first ad appeared yesterday, and already a lot of people have asked for details. So they are interested—and we are confident of their action if they understand the proposal. They are asking about ages, costs, etc.

There is just one member of the present fire department who has served 30 years. The average age of the firemen now on duty is 44. There are three who are under 30, 12 who are under 40, 15 who are under 50, nine who are under 60, and 4 who are more than 60 years old. Under our proposed plan each fireman will pay into the fund $10 each month, the balance to be provided by the city budget, with no tax levy for the purpose. A computation of ages and years of service discloses that each fireman will make this individual payment of $10 a month to the fund for an average of sixteen years before he becomes eligible to its benefits.

Ask us some more questions. We want you to know all about it. Tomorrow we will tell you about the organization plan and how it is to be administered—unless you ask us something more important in the meantime.
