Education Department Gets Award for War Salvage Job

Oregon's state department of education—usually on the giving mother of Talbot Bennett, who end of diplomas, awards, etc.-found the tables reversed this week when it was the recipient of a certificate of merit for patriotic endeavor in the war effort.

Presentation of the certificate was made by the Oregon state salvage committee in the office of Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction, at Salem Thursday.

Supt. Putnam who declared that Given in recognition of achievements of Oregon schools in saltheir part in the war effort and vage during the year now drawing that they can be counted on to to a close, the award was presented to Mr. Putnam and Miss Joy war is won. In her remarks, Mrs. Kock emchasized that the activity of school children in salvage not only had proved invaluable in the collection of waste materials but had greatly accentuated the interest of women in saving these same materials for youthful collectors.

The influence of school children in salvage has not been restricted solely to the homes of parents," Mrs. Kock said, "but has spread to many homes which have no children and which might not have been reached without the aid of these patriotic young war work- day at Eugene Field school in Sil-
