Where They Are—What They Are Doing

Emmett B. Warner, above, and Louis F. Warner, below, sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. Warner of Swegle, who are both in the navy. Emmett, aviation machinist's mate first class, surprised his parents last Sunday when he arrived home on a 15-day leave from Norfolk, Va. He came by plane and plans to return to Norfolk the same way. He has been in the navy since January, 1942, and has made several trips across the Atlantic.

Louis, machinist's mate first class, is somewhere in the Pacific. He enlisted in February, 1942 and hasn't been home since October, 1942.

The Warners have a younger son, Neil, who is an aviation cadet. He enlisted in the army air corps in December, 1943, and is attending school at La-Grande, Ore.

A NINTH AIR FORCE MUSTANG FIGHTER BASE England—Benjamin Blake, 2086 Mission street, Salem, Ore., a ninth air force crew chief on the P-51 Mustang, "Oklahoma Kid," where he is in charge of maintenance, has been recently promoted from sergeant to staff sergeant, it is announced by his fighter group headquarters.

Sgt. Blake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Blake also of 2086 Mission street, and graduate of Salem high school, class of '41, was employed as a weaver by the Thomas Kay Woolen Mills of Salem prior to entering the service in September 1942. He received his basic training at Camp Luna, Los Vegas, Nev., and attended the Dallas aviation school at Dallas, Tex. He was later sent to the Allison engine school at Indianapolis, Ind. and joined his present organization in September 1943 at Santa Rosa, Calif.

Sgt. Blake is anxious to get the war over so he can get back to see his boy, who was born only 14 days after his departure for overseas duty. "I would be glad to work 20 hours a day if it would hasten the end of this conflict," Sgt. Blake said.

MT. ANGEL—Warrant Officer and Mrs. Richard J. Hessel left Sunday for Seattle after spending a three-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hessel. Saturday night the young officer and his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hessel were dinner guests at the Dehler home.

Mr. Hessel was transferred from Fort Bliss, Tex., to Seattle, about a week ago and his wife accompanied him to the new post.

Sgt. and Mrs. John Zumstein, who have been in Florida for the last year, are on furlough in Salem. They are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zumstein, 2010 North Liberty street and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Zielinski, route 7. Sgt. Zumstein is an aerial gunnery instructor at Tyn-dall field air base. Sgt. and Mrs. Zumstein were Hayesville residents before he enlisted.

Dudley Bullock has been given a rating of fireman second class, one out of four in the company qualifying. He expects to be home on leave soon and will then go to Shoemaker, Calif., to attend school.

NORTH HOWELL—Pvt. Harold Dunn, recently home on an extended furlough, left Saturday for Camp Hahn, Calif.

MIDDLE GROVE—LeRoy E. Barker, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Barker of route 7, has been promoted to first class petty officer in the US navy. He was graduated from Salem high school in 1941 and enlisted in the navy June 16, 1942. He is now stationed with a carrier aircraft service unit as an aviation machinist's mate, in the Pacific.

Plasma Donors Lauded in Talk By Maj. Berger

Somewhat the war seemed very far away as Maj. Armin Berger, former Salem dentist now an infantry officer with the 41st division in the South Pacific, talked to the Salem Kiwanis club Tuesday noon. Or it seemed that way until E. J. Scellars, asked "How about blood plasma?"

The army officer, so recently in the front lines, who had been so poised and sure of himself as he spoke of the 18 months he had spent in the combat zone, paused and seemed to grope for words to express his feelings about plasma. "It's wonderful, the effect it has on the men. Those of you who have helped in this work would feel more than repaid if you could see the difference."

"We used to wait for the medical man to administer it; now the first aid man to reach the wounded gives it, if possible before he is moved. The effect is remarkable and you would feel your efforts were well worth while."

It was not because the war is not real to Maj. Berger that it seemed so far away, but he talked about the details in such a matter of fact way that at no time during his talk did his hearers feel at all close to the enemy.

"The Australians are a wonderful people and they were glad to see the 41st division when it first arrived there although not many said so. They showed it more by the look in their eyes, the Salem officer said."

Maj. Berger is spending an extended leave with his family in Salem.

Mrs. Buckley Barks At Tree Barkers

SILVERTON—That you can't bark up all trees and that Mrs. Harry Buckley is as good as any story-book detective were two points learned by cascara thieves this week.

Mrs. Harry Buckley is the wife of the superintendent of the Silver Creek recreational area. For the past few years, the bark has been stripped from a number of cascara trees in the federal lands of the area. Efforts to catch the thieves had failed. But many of the trees had died.

Mrs. Buckley, an intensive student and lover of nature, became incensed. When the bark began disappearing again this week, she started on a still hunt, found a car with license, turned it over to the state police. They learned the owner had been selling the bark, and made an arrest. It was expected early this week that this arrest will lead to further apprehensions.

School Picnic Well Attended

ELDRIDGE—More than 150 persons attended the annual school picnic held at the school grounds Sunday.

A game of softball was played between the fathers and sons. Mrs. Willow Evans and Mrs. Karl M. Brown have been required to teach when school is resumed in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goffin, this place; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Broek of Salem were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Ditmars at Fairfield.

Unionvale School Closing Program Held

UNIONVALE—The Unionvale school closed Thursday. The program included about 25 numbers of music, songs, exercises, and drills by the entire school; comedy play, "The Boss of the House" by Imogene Baker, Bonnie Shelburne, Anona Gubser and Patsy Kuhno.
