

Mothers Meet For Luncheon

The DeMolay Mothers club met for luncheon at the Masonic Temple Thursday noon with Mrs. E. A. Miller and Mrs. W. Haber-nicht as hostesses. A bowl of iris lilies and roses formed the table centerpiece.

WOODBURN — The Woodburn Woman's club held its final meeting for the spring in the library clubrooms, Wednesday afternoon, June 7, with the vice president, Mrs. Henry Beaman in the chair. The final treasurer's report for the year showed $131 raised during the year for the state nurses' scholarship fund, $88.50 for the library book fund and $49.00 from fees and dues.

Mrs. Beaman introduced officers-elect, presenting each with a beautiful corsage. Those honored were Mrs. L. S. Mochel, president; Mrs. Alice Rodgers, recording secretary; Mrs. Anna Chapman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arista Nendle, vice president elect, Mrs. J. J. Hall, who was not able to be present.

With Mrs. Mochel in the chair, the matter of participation in the state wide project of federated women's clubs, the drive for fund and clothing for Russian relief, was discussed. Whole, wearable winter clothing, which is being cleared out of closets is acceptable for shipment to headquarters in Portland, where it will be put in first class condition and shipped at once through northern Pacific waters to Russian ports.

Local depositories to which the clothing may be taken are Mrs. Jess Fallon's home on Broadway, Mrs. Leslie Paulson's home on North Settlemier Avenue, and the club rooms at the city library.

Spring Valley Missionary Society History Recalled

ZENA—Days of the 1800 era were brought back vividly when reminiscences of the earlier Spring Valley missionary society, which was organized in 1887, were told at the last meeting for the season at the home of Mrs. Frank Munson, which is built on donation land claim formerly owned by the Miggins family, which has many of the historic old maple trees still flourishing around the home.

Mrs. R. H. Scott, Mrs. Fred Muller and Mrs. Walter B. Hunt were co-hostesses for the affair. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Ted Burns and Mrs. Lawrence McClure.

Eight past presidents attended the meeting including Mrs. James Remington, Mrs. Eugene Prescott, Mrs. L. M. Purvine, Mrs. W. D. Henry, Mrs. R. H. Scott, Mrs. Charles McCarter, Mrs. Worth Henry and Mrs. Fred Muller.

Each visitor and past president was presented with a beautiful corsage.

The program under the direction of Mrs. R. H. Scott included group singing, devotionals led by the president, Mrs. Ralph C. Shepard, prayer by Mrs. W. D. Henry.

Roll call by Mrs. L. I. Mickey was answered with reminiscences and telling the date of becoming a member.

Mrs. W. Frank Crawford and Mrs. Worth Henry read interesting records concerning the first organization.

Mrs. James Remington told of driving a team and carriage to one of the missionary meetings.

Ruth Carlson, small daughter of the R. V. Carlsons played a piano solo.

Mrs. Roy E. Barker invited the group and their families to her home for a picnic the first Sunday in August. The hostess committee for the first fall meeting will be Mrs. W. D. Henry, Mrs. Roy E. Barker and Mrs. James A. French.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. James Remington, Mrs. Eugene Prescott, Mrs. L. M. Purvine, Mrs. Daye Stafford, Mrs. Vivian Cochran, Mrs. Nels Yenckel, Mrs. W. D. Henry, Mrs. Worth Henry, Mrs. Lois Crawford, Mrs. Ralph C. Shepard, Mrs. W. Frank Crawford, Mrs. L. I. Mickey, Mrs. Ted Burns, Mrs. Roy W. Hammer, Mrs. Joe Hackett, Mrs. Chris Yungen, Mrs. C. F. Merrick and Audrey, Mrs. R. V. Carlson and Ruth and David, Mrs. Charles McCarter, Mrs. Lawrence McClure, and hostesses Mrs. R. H. Scott, Mrs. Fred Muller, Mrs. Walter B. Hunt and Mrs. Frank Munson.

Farm Labor Office Opens At Woodburn

Woodburn — The farm labor employment office opened in Woodburn, Monday, May 5, with Mrs. Gladys L. Lacey, employed as the farm labor assistant, in charge.

The office is located at 164 Hayes street and the telephone number is Main 260. Mrs. Lacey may be contacted at her home by phoning Main 102.

Farmers and fruit growers are asked to place their requests and orders for workers with this office. Prior to the opening of this office the Salem farm labor office had serviced the Woodburn area. Women and children are being recruited through the women's organizations as well as direct recruitment through the office.

So far there has been great interest in seasonal work displayed in the community—school children in particular are looking for jobs in the open after months of hard work in the school room. Although the season has been a little slow in starting it is anticipated that there will be plenty of work in the near future.

WU Summer Students To Register Saturday

Present Willamette students planning to attend the summer semester will register Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock in the university library. Registration will be held for both civilian and navy students. Cards and class schedules will be available in the registrar's office today, making it possible for the students to be finished sooner on Saturday.

A payment of at least $50 must be made at registration time, with the additional amount due by August 10. Board and room payments are the same except that the deadline for the last of the three payments is in September.

Glennerva Harnsberger Accepts Teaching Job

Glennerva Harnsberger, Willamette university senior in physical education, has accepted a teaching position at Myrtle Point high school, according to Dean Walter E. Erickson, head of the teacher placement bureau. She will teach classes in biology and women's physical education.

Miss Harnsberger was interviewed recently by Leland P. Lynn, principal of Myrtle Point high school, when he visited at Willamette. He is also a graduate of Willamette.

German Commentator Reports Opening of Soviet Offensive

LONDON, Friday, June 9 —(AP)—A top-ranking German radio commentator declared yesterday that powerful Russian armored forces had launched an offensive on a wide front north of Iasi in Romania and had advanced several miles in the center and on the left flank.

There was no immediate confirmation of the push, and the nazi commentator, Ernst Von Hammer, did not say flatly that it was the beginning of the expected Soviet thrust through the Galati gap toward the Ploesti oil fields and the wealth of the Danube valley, generally expected to be timed with the allied invasion of Hitler's Europe from the west.

Last night's broadcast Soviet communique containing only three sentences, said that "during the day there were no essential changes at the front." It was the first bulletin since May 29 which contained no mention of a battle in the Iasi vicinity.

The terse Moscow communique said 15 tanks had been knocked out and 22 enemy planes destroyed Wednesday.

Earlier Russian dispatches had said that "soon Russian infantry will march across German land."

If the attack actually was more than a relatively local operation among a series of fierce grapples north of Iasi in the past two weeks, it was likely to be followed immediately by a lunge of Soviet armies toward Warsaw in Poland.

Moscow announced yesterday that 10,000 Germans had been killed in eight days of futile attacks north of Iasi, while the nazi reported at least 10 Soviet rifle divisions had been "wiped out or decisively mauled" in the same fighting.

In yesterday's broadcast Von Hammer said German and Romanian troops were throwing counterattacks against the Russian advance and had regained some ground. He said no fighting of importance had been reported from other sectors of the eastern front.

The German high command said on Wednesday that mopping up operations were being included in the Iasi area, and in its communique today said only that "renewed Soviet counterattacks" were foiled.

The Iasi region has been most frequently cited by the Germans as the logical jumping - off point for the expected Soviet summer offensive, and even Moscow commentators have spoken of the military and political advantages of striking into the Balkans before dealing the death blow to Germany itself.

Late in the night the Berlin radio broadcast a DNB dispatch saying German bombers made many attacks "against enemy tanks advancing on the forefield of the

Kidds at Exercises
UNIONVALE — Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Kidd and Mrs. Carrie Kidd attended the Amity eighth grade graduation exercises Wednesday evening, when their niece, Rosalie Mae, was a member of the class. Richard Panek, formerly of Unionvale, also graduated.
