

Legion Junior Nine Debuts, Beats Airmen

Capital Posters Net 10-6 Nod Over GIs

By CHES KOWITZ
Salem's newly-formed Junior Legion baseball nine made its first appearance of the season yesterday at Geo. E. Waters park, and although they received but two blows off a pair of Salem Air Base choppers, rung up a 10-6 victory over the Flyers.

Coach Al Lightner got a pitcher's-eye view of his junior ballgamers in their initial outing, taking the mound himself in order that the pitching staff, all of which performed in Sunday's junior loop, might take a needed rest.

The Capital Posters didn't look at all bad on the defensive side, but when it came to taking their cuts at the horsehide, the older and more experienced GIs had too much on the ball. One of the winners' two safeties was punched out by Lightner, and the only regular team member to get on via a hit was Catcher Dean Hagedorn, who beat out a hopper to third in the second inning. Seventeen Juniors struck out, 15 of the whiffs dished up by the fancy assortment of stuff from Portisider Larry Dunlap, who replaced Jimmy Dorer for the Airmen after two outs in the second.

The Juniors took an early lead in the second canto, scoring five runs off two hits, five walks, one GI error and a couple of passed balls. They added three more tallies in the fourth and racked up another two in the following frame, mostly on walks and base-running. The Airmen, entering their half of the fifth on the short end of a 10-1 count, bounced back with five runs in the next three innings, and had the bases loaded after two out in the ninth.

The local Juniors have slated a Camp Adair team for a practice contest at 6:30 this evening, then Thursday trek to Albany for a night game with the Hub City Legion nine in their official 1944 curtain-raiser.
