TURNER—The 93rd annual convention of the Oregon Churches of Christ opened Monday night at the convention tabernacle east of Turner. The registration reached 300 Tuesday noon. Dr. Perry E. Gresham of Seattle is guest speaker.

Missionaries present are Miss Grace Farnham, Japan; and Miss Goldie R. Wells, Africa; both are Oregon girls and speak each day. Dr. C. L. Pickett, Seattle, retired medical missionary to the Philippines was a guest Monday and brought greetings to the convention. M. B. Madden, Seattle, former missionary to Japan was in attendance Tuesday.

Great interest is shown in the adult classes conducted each day on the following themes—"The churches face world issues," by Victor P. Morris, Eugene; "The church ministering to the individual," by Dudley Strain, Salem; "Church membership, recruiting and developing," Len B. Fishback, Roseburg; "Methods for guidance for young people," Mr. and Mrs. Art Stanley, La Grande; "Public worship," Ward A. Rice, Medford; Women's mission study class, Mrs. J. R. Howard, Corvallis; first period and Mrs. Victor P. Morris, Eugene, second period.

The laboratory school conducted at the Turner church with Miss Ida Mae Irvin, Indianapolis, as supervisor began with a satisfactory enrollment of pupils and student teachers.

The music is under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne V. Jensen, Portland, the orchestra directed by Mr. Jensen. Congregational singing and special music at every session is a feature.

Dr. C. F. Swander, state secretary is busy but finds time to greet old friends.

The book displays from the three publishing houses are patronized by the book lovers who browse around the book tables at all hours of the day.

Favorite Authors At Silverton Exclude Smiths

SILVERTON—Of the 30 "best sellers" listed for the week, the public library at Silverton has 16. Betty Smith's "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" again came to the top, winning over Lillian Smith's "Strange Fruit" in the national list. However, a check made at the local library Wednesday, shows Lloyd Douglas' "The Robe" and Bromfield's "What Became of Anna Bolton" both more in demand than the Smiths' output.

Other fiction appearing on this best seller list and obtainable at the local library includes Allen, "Bedford Village," Asch, "The Apostle," Keyes, "Also the Hills," Davenport, "Valley of Decision," MacInnes, "While We Still Live," Non-fiction includes Fowler, "Good Night, Sweet Prince," Carlson, "Under Cover," Gunther, "D Day," Seagrave, "Burma Surgeon," Scott, "God Is My Co-Pilot," Tuit, "Yankee Lawyer," Heiden, "Der Fuehrer."

3 Day Holiday For Mt. Angel Is Approved

MT. ANGEL—Mt. Angel will observe a three-day holiday next week, July 2, 3 and 4, the Business Men's club having voted at its luncheon at the Mt. Angel hotel Tuesday to close business houses on July 3. The order will not be binding on business men if they deem it necessary to transact business on that day. The arrangement was decided on merely to give the merchants and other public servants the chance to avail themselves of a little extra leisure. The club agreed to pay the cost of notifying customers, especially rural ones, in ample time to allow them to stock up sufficiently to tide them over a three-day period of closed shops.

Pfc. Anthony Meissner, wounded in Italy and home on a furlough, was a special guest at the luncheon. He talked at length telling of the mode of living and farming in Africa and Italy and of some of his experiences. He told of the oxen and the wooden plows still employed there and of the threshing of grains by the oldtime flail and tramping method.

Pfc. Meissner has been overseas since the beginning of the African invasion. An infantryman, he has served with the Fifth army in French Morocco, Tunisia, and Italy. He was wounded by an exploding mine and is here on an extended furlough, arriving here last Saturday. He is the son of Mrs. Sophie Meissner of Mt. Angel, and one of three brothers in the service.

A vote of the club empowered the officers to buy bonds in whatever amount the club can afford should a faltering quota make it necessary.

There was much discussion about joining those towns who are offering prizes for bond purchasing. The general trend of opinion was that Mt. Angel reach her quota in the quiet, dignified manner she has employed in the past, and this was agreed upon when the matter finally came to a vote.
