Mrs. Melvin Turner, the former Shirley Ann White, who was married June 8 in Ventura, Calif. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold White. Mr. Turner, seaman second class, stationed at Port Heunseme, Calif., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Turner, Ventura. (Josten Miller)

St. Joseph's Scene of Rites

St. Joseph's Catholic church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Mary Patricia Skaling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Skaling, and Corporal James A. Brewer, son of Mr. R. F. Brewer of Winnfield, Louisiana, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Father T. J. Bernards performed the ceremony. Miss Marjorie Reeves was the soloist and Mr. William Fawc played the accompaniment and wedding march. Miss Doris Harrington and Miss Gertrude Schless lighted the candles.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white street length dress fashioned with low neckline, elbow length sleeves, fitted waist and embroidery trim. She wore white accessories and carried a nosegay of pastel summer flowers.

Miss Ruth Tracy was the maid of honor and wore a blue dress, and carried a blue and white nosegay.

Corporal Joseph Bruto was best man for Corporal Brewer. Ushers were Corporal David Masters and Sergeant Benny Kerber.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Skaling chose a brown silk crepe dress and a corsage of gardenias.

A wedding reception was held at the Skaling home. Miss Ione Ahsenmacher cut the bride's cake and Mrs. Sarah E. Halvorsen presided at the punch bowl. Assisting were Miss Shirley Mulkey of Newport, Mrs. Gordon Ullman, Miss Marjorie Stringer and Mrs. William Dahn.

The couple went on a wedding trip to the coast. He is stationed at Camp Adair with the Trailblazer division. The bride attended Sacred Heart Academy and Willamette university, where she was a member of Beta Chi. She is a graduate of Oregon College of Education at Monmouth and a member of Collecto-Coeds, honorary service organization.

Aviation Cadet and Mrs. Orville D. Beardsley (Katherine Foster, Albany) are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, July 6, at Salem General hospital. The lad, who weighed 7 pounds 2 ounces at birth, is the first grandson of Mrs. Olive Beardsley, Salem Heights. Cadet Beardsley is stationed at Spence field, Moultrie, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Dutton are expecting their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Albert H. Dutton and son, Roger, to arrive from Forestville, California this week. Major Dutton is now in France with the army air force.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. White are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Smith of Lemmon, South Dakota. They plan to make their home in Salem.

SILVERTON—Mrs. Esther Weaver comes this week to visit her mother, Mrs. O. S. Hauge, and brother, George Hauge on Adams street.

Mrs. Weaver, who manages a women's specialty shop at Alhambra, Calif., makes her home at Hollywood. A sister, Mrs. E. Randall employed in a government office in Los Angeles, lives with Mrs. Weaver.

Both Mrs. Randall and Mrs. Weaver spent their early girlhood at Silverton and have returned for a number of visits. For many years Mrs. Weaver made her home here after her marriage.

Several affairs are planned for Mrs. Weaver during her stay at Silverton.

SILVERTON—Miss Emma Galbraith, daughter of Mrs. Huxley I. Galbraith, formerly of Silverton, but now of California, and Lt. Thomas Clifford Vining, USNR, were married June 22 at San Jose, according to information received by Mrs. Gus Beck, aunt of Mrs. Galbraith.

WEDDINGS from far away have highlighted the social news of the past week. Many of the brides and bridegrooms, formerly resided here or now live in Salem. Mrs. Laban A. Steeves went east in mid-June to New York City to become Lt. (jg) Conrad Faulson's bride. The couple met this spring when he was here visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Wood.

Patricia Livesley and Stuart Bush renewed an old friendship this winter in New York. They have been friends from pre-school days when their families had summer homes at Agate Beach. Their wedding took place on July 2 in Plattsburg where he is stationed with the navy. Patsy left New York the Thursday before and was entertained at the John Collins home in Scarsdale, old friends of the Bush family. White in New York she and Mrs. Asabel Bush lunched at the Colony club. Mrs. Bush and her daughter, Jodie, have also been guests at the Collins home.

Harry Mosher, who lived in Salem until he graduated from Willamette university, married a Colorado girl, Carol Walker, on June 23. They met while studying at Pennsylvania State, where Harry is now doing government research work. Mrs. D. H. Mosher was present for her son's marriage.

Glenn Olds, Willamette graduate and youth minister at the First Methodist church here, took as his bride, Eva Spelts of Nebraska on June 20 at a ceremony in Evanston, Illinois. Their romance began at Northwestern university.

Dorothy Butts and James Earle, former Salem residents, were married in Pasadena, Calif., on June 21. Dorothy's parents now reside in Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Earle went south for the wedding.

ATTENDS THE BRIDE. Mrs. Winston Williams (Grace Holman), who lives in San Francisco with her army captain husband, was the honor attendant for the wedding of Dr. Elizabeth Thornton, daughter of Mrs. O. A. Thornton of Portland and Dr. Russell Bernhard, which took place at the Swendenborgian church in June. Grace wore a full skirted frock of pastel green marquisette over yellow taffeta. She carried pink begonias. The bride changed her name, but not her title. Seemingly doctoring runs in the family, as the bride's mother was a nurse and her father a doctor. Both are well known in Salem.

THEY MEET AGAIN. In Tacoma recently a group of former Salem folk gathered for a reunion. Including Mr. and Mrs. Burton Lemmon (Isabel Morehouse). Bill by the way is now in Mexico City taking a course in Spanish at the University of Mexico. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Glover (Dorothy Kent) and Mrs. Hal Bolinger (Florence Marshall), who is now temporarily residing in Tacoma with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Marshall, former Salem residents. Hal, a lieutenant (jg) in the navy, is in training at Hollywood Beach, Florida. Florence expects to come to Salem in August for a visit. She is now busily engaged taking nurses aide training.

TIDBITS. Out to the west coast for the summer months are Mr. and Mrs. James Drury and two children of New York City. They come each summer to Sandune Ranch, south of Newport, to cultivate their acres of blueberries. Brunette Mrs. Drury looked smart in a white silk jersey dress with a bright red print, black hat and black silk gloves. The Drurys reside in Greenwich Village, nearby New York university where Professor Drury teaches.

Mrs. Drury remarked that she had never known it so hard to get tickets for plays and the opera in New York as it had been the past year. Tickets for the popular stage plays are now sold through the autumn season. Mrs. Rex Adolph, smart in white with navy blue jacket, and daughter, Joan, are back in Salem from Spokane where they lived before Lt. Adolph went overseas. The Adolphs enjoyed the social city and its friendly atmosphere. They played lots of golf at the country club.

News about Mr. and Mrs. Allan Earle (Rosemary Sawyer), formerly of Salem. Allan is a staff sergeant in the army, stationed in New Orleans. His wife and son, Michael Allen, are living in Palo Alto with her sister, Ruth.

Installation of Pipe Line Started

SILVERTON—P. S. Lord & Co. workmen are on the job digging trench to lay the new pipe on the Abiquia line. First measurement was for 2.2 miles but this was increased slightly before the contracts were let.

Water Superintendent T. L. Blust and City Manager H. C. McCrea are supervising and inspecting the job. The work is expected to take from 30 to 40 days. The Wood pipe was received from Washington some time ago and is now ready to go in as soon as trenching is completed.

Monmouth Graduate Is Cook With Pacific Ship

MONMOUTH—Bob Blair of Portland is now a cook in the United States maritime service and sailed recently for the south Pacific. He was graduated from Monmouth high school in 1940 and attended Oregon College of Education for a year before going to Seattle to work in the Boeing Aircraft plant. More recently he has been employed in defense work in Portland. His parents, longtime Monmouth residents, are deceased. His sister is Mrs. Anthony Sokolich of Portland.

MONMOUTH—Mrs. Elmer Olson and daughter Judy of Seaside are here to spend a month at the home of Mrs. Olson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson.

Brooks Aid Meets

BROOKS—The Ladies Aid society will meet Tuesday afternoon in the church, with Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Cozel as hostesses.

Silverton Has Many Changes

SILVERTON—The McEwan Photo Shop has moved from the Jack building on North Water street to the Legard building, 209 East Oak. McEwan opened his shop here 12 years ago and is open Wednesdays and not Saturdays.

The Wesley Stormers and the Carl A. Thomsons rather shifted properties this week. Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Thompson became owners of the 28 acres of Stormer property on Irwin Valley road, and the Stormers purchased the Carl A. Thompson acreage north of Silverton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Duval, have purchased the Ralph E. Hamlin home at 602 West Main street. Mr. Duval is employed at the Alm Market. This home was formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kelly now of Mt. Angel.

Gardening Today

By LILLIE MADSEN

Summer makes one think of water, and water in the garden will make many think of water gardens.

I'll never forget the very hot day some years ago when I visited the Bauer Aquatic gardens near Dayton, and viewed a pond which I was told contained 25,000 plants, consisting of 40 different varieties.

Rustic walks and steps led from the park down to the lily ponds where along the water's edge grew the many interesting bog and shallow water plants. The paths, built around the ponds were lined with great quantities of the beautiful Japanese iris—and at that time the word "Japanese" held no bitterness for us.

The lilies themselves glistening wax-like in the sun-flecked water, were of white, pink, yellow, red, bronze, lilac and purple shades. Fish, guarding their nets in the shallow water near the walks completed a picture "just right for a hot day."

Fred J. Bauer, jr., owner of the gardens, was present the day we called, and as usual I was full of questions—and he was full of information.

Water gardening, he remarked, had for a number of years been little understood. Then it was coming into great popularity and even the smallest yard calling itself a garden was no more complete without a lily pond "than without a rockery." Now, I feel sure, Mr. Bauer would instead of "without its rockery" say "without its fireplace." It is remarkable how the fireplace idea has taken hold in the Willamette valley gardens. And well it should, for there is no more suitable place for an outdoor fireplace than in Willamette valley gardens—but that is another story.

"What other plant," getting back to Mr. Bauer and his water gardens—"will give you a longer continuous bloom than does the water lily which blooms from the first of June until the first frost? One woman, whose aquatic garden consists of one tuber growing in a tub, picked 53 blossoms from that one plant in one season." I have often wondered how old this plant became, and if she continued to pick 53 blossoms a season, just how many tubfuls of flowers she would have had.

Many of the water lilies in the Bauer gardens grow in a nine-foot deep of water. While the bloom on plants growing at this depth are much larger than ordinary ones, water lilies do very well in 18 to 24 inches or even less of water, Mr. Bauer informed me.

I recall that Mr. Bauer told us that, of course, if you can build a cement pool in your garden, that is excellent, but if you cannot do this, have a water garden anyway.

"Take a tub or half a barrel and sink it in your lawn," he said. "Cover the edges with rock and you have an ideal place for rock plants."

"Place something like ten inches of good garden soil mixed with one-fifth well-decayed cow barn fertilizer in the bottom of the tub. Cover this with an inch of clear sand. Then plant the lily tuber so its crown is just out of the soil. Fill the tub with water and add enough each day to take care of the evaporation. It is really a lot less work having a water lily garden than most folks suppose."

Water lilies, Bauer added, like a sunny location, although they bloom fairly well in semi-shade. Use only one root to a tub, or if you are lucky enough to have a small pond, one root to each three square feet. Water lilies, unlike other lilies, should be planted during the growing season.
