

Looking Over USO Scrapbooks

—Photos by McEwan

Scrapbooks Furnish Veterans With Many Hours of Pleasure

"This USO scrapbook work is a grand project for any Salem organization, young or old," says Mrs. Vern Ostrander, chairman of the Salem USO scrapbook committee and prominent worker in veterans' and service organizations of the capital city.

The many compliments from veterans in hospitals are only a portion of the "pay" for the genuinely-interesting work of putting together the various types of scrapbooks the USO has planned, she maintains.

Leeway is left for individual initiative and suggestions to simplify the manual portions of the task are provided with the books, declares Mrs. Ostrander.

She continues "One of the fine things about our Salem scrapbook project is that you know a large number of the books which are made up in Marion county are sent directly to veterans in the Oregon country, namely, in Barnes hospital near Portland, Camp Adair hospital, where there are now approximately 700 patients, including approximately 100 under treatment for malaria, and Klamath Falls where more than 5000 marines just returned from the south seas are recovering in the recently-completed hospital.

"Already several hundred books have been made up in Salem and sent out. Many have been put aboard ship and even sent to the South Pacific. They are read and reread until they are mere shreds of paper, we are told. What a laugh our boys get! "Our committee wants more local organizations such as lodges, patriotic groups, Sunday school classes, Girl Reserve, Girl Scouts and church societies to aid us. The blank books may be obtained from the local USO, 683 Chemeketa street, or representatives of organizations may call my home. We make a charge of 15 cents a book, having found that a little cash layout is a guaranty of quick return and it makes the scrapbook fillers conscious of the value of the material with which they are working."

George Davis Funeral Is Held on Tuesday

HOPEWELL — George W. Davis, 90, a resident at the Bert Stephens home for more than six years, died Sunday. Funeral services were held Tuesday at McMinville. Burial was at Hopewell cemetery.

Smith Creek Camp Holds Honor Court

An outdoor church service and court of honor concluded the first week of Boy Scout camp at Smith creek in the Silver Falls recreational area.

The following merit badges and awards were presented by Harry Michelsen, assistant scout executive, and Don Lundberg, scoutmaster of one of the provisional camp troops:

Harry Wiedmaier, canoeing, SSS No. 12, Salem; Ralph Gell, life saving and swimming, troop No. 50, Stayton; Don Dunn, bird study, troop No. 24, Dallas; Frank Deckebach, personal health, SSS No. 12, Salem; Jimmy Shinkle, life saving, troop No. 50, Stayton; Robert Donnelly, troop No. 13, Salem, and Jerry Muller, troop No. 34, Halsey, second class awards.

Smith Creek concludes its two weeks session Sunday, July 23. One hundred first year campers have there received their first taste of Boy Scout camp.

Camp Pioneer opens July 23 for four weeks, with the largest registration of its history, 300, in four weeks period.

Bean Picking May Not Start For 2 Weeks

Work in beans may be delayed another two weeks and most bean labor platoons are not scheduled to begin until then, Glade Follis of the farm labor employment office told The Statesman Thursday.

Follis emphasized that platoon workers should not be disturbed if they hear of another platoon starting in the bean fields because eventually all groups will be engaged in the bean harvest. After persons have registered with a leader it is requested that no transfers are made from one platoon to another.

There are 16 platoons in all and students should attempt to contact the platoon leader in the vicinity closest to them. Nearly all of the platoons consist of both elementary and junior high students but high school age youngsters will be needed particularly when the harvest is in full sway. Mothers are invited to join the platoon leaders.

Safe transportation is provided all platoons via regular school buses. The farm labor employment office, 361 Chemeketa, will answer queries from interested persons. The phone is 21663.

Jaycees Erect 15 New Paper Saving Depots

Fifteen new waste paper collection depots have been erected and distributed by the junior chamber of commerce in the past week. Frank Crawford, chairman of the Jaycee paper drive, reports that the drive has picked up considerably in recent weeks with more people turning in their bundles of waste paper.

Crawford urges that paper left at the depots be tied in bundles so that the wind will not scatter it. He also requests that children stop playing at the depots and scattering the paper.

New collection stations are located at the following corners: Miller and Fir; South Commercial and Superior; Lee and Mission; 17th and Mill; Trade and 22nd; 12th and Chemeketa; 15th and D; 17th and Madison; Cottage and D; North Commercial and Division; Liberty and Center; Broadway and Hood; Highland and Portland Road; Highland and Laurel; and Columbia and Front.
