Soldiers Slumber

Between 175 and 215 soldiers sleep in St. Joseph's parish hall Saturday nights. There were accommodations for 500 at peak load, with units at the Salem YMCA and downtown; all operated by USO and soldiers' sleeping quarters committee.

Salem Sleeps Service Men In Dormitories, Homes

Comparatively few persons in Salem are aware the servicemen's sleeping quarters committee, USO and USO home hospitality take care of 250 to 500 servicemen with cots and beds each weekend, as needed.

At present, there are two large sleeping units, St. Joseph's Catholic hall, through the courtesy of Father T. J. Bernards, who was one of the original founders and one of its most enthusiastic backers.

Unit No. 3, the Salvation army USO, was located downtown but was closed as the need grew less.

Often they say these are better than camp facilities. Many a GI celebrates too much on pay day and is put to bed and well taken care of. Now a special room called "the tank room" is provided for the dead drunks, but is now seldom used.

All servicemen are taken care of, regardless of creed or color. Salem is the only city in the northwest providing this bed accommodations on a large scale.

The sleeping quarters committee was organized more than two years ago, when the Camp Adair soldier load became heavy. The war chest committee, with the USO and army officials cooperation provided the funds.

Home Hospitality Provided Along with the sleeping quarters committee, Mrs. J. N. Bishop, chairman, Mrs. Earl Date, vice-chairman, and Mrs. William H. Phillips, past chairman of USO home hospitality, placed in private homes each week at peak load as high as 350 servicemen.

Adair Thanks Salem People For Furniture

Through the field office of the American Red Cross at Camp Adair, Marion county chapter of the Red Cross has been notified of an expression of continued appreciation from the military of the services given by this community in providing day room furniture for company recreation rooms.

The people of Marion county may feel that not only have they materially contributed in maintaining high morale in the months of training for the men, but they may rest assured that the furnishings are being cared for and will continue to be an invaluable source of comfort for the recreational hours of servicemen.

Day rooms were furnished with furniture and comfort articles at the request of the military through Red Cross channels shortly after the establishment of Camp Adair. Marion county residents individually and through organizations furnished 95 such rooms.

Many organizations in the county have followed through on the rooms assigned to them with assistance to the military in maintaining the rooms in as homelike comfort as possible.

City police aided in the recovery and proceeded to dry out the water soaked apparel and articles contained in the suitcases. One of them belonged to Major Walker.
