CAP Resumes Screening for Pilot Training

New plans, as yet not completely outlined, for the screening of boys seeking to qualify for training as air cadets are being made by the Civil Air patrol, an auxiliary to the army air forces, with Capt. A. D. Dahlgren, army air forces, being attached to the cadet examining board in Portland.

The announcement was received by Lt. James E. Cannon, commander of the Salem unit of the CAP.

Capt. Dahlgren is a veteran of combat duty with the 8th air forces. The tests will be resumed as soon as the new examination books arrive, Lt. Cannon said Thursday night. Previously, boys could be accepted up to their 18th birthday but in the future only boys between 17 and 17 1/2 years of age and nine months will be eligible.

Final class in meteorology was held at the armory Thursday night followed by an examination in charge of 2nd Lt. Eldon Turnidge, of Jefferson, instructor. The cadets will be given a two-week vacation and will resume the weekly schedule of meetings August 24.

During the summer, Lt. Cannon has been active in preliminary organization of detached flights in nearby towns and a recruiting campaign for civil air corps cadets, between 15 and 16, with both boys and girls included, is under way.

The CAP also is interested in recruiting young women for enlistment in the Women's Army Air corps. The campaign will be intensified after the short vacation and the start of school in the fall, it was announced.

D. A. Skeen of Salt Lake New Lions International President

CHICAGO, Ill., August 3—D. A. Skeen of Salt Lake City, Utah, was today elected president of the International Association of Lions clubs at the closing session of the twenty-eighth international meeting. The association, which added 368 new clubs and had a net increase of 28,000 members during the year ended June 30, now has a total of 4500 clubs and 160,000 members in 14 countries.

Prior to his elevation to the presidency, Skeen served Lions International as 3rd, 2nd, and 1st vice president, successively. He served the Lions club of Salt Lake City as director and president, and during 1922 he held the office of district governor of the Lions clubs of Utah. He served one term as international director.

Skeen is associated with the law firm of Irvine, Skeen and Thurman. He is a member of the Utah state bar, the American Bar association, and the Commercial Law league of America. He was formerly deputy county attorney of Salt Lake county.

In accepting the presidency, Skeen said, "Greater today than ever, is our opportunity for service. We have seen in a short space of time our very right to serve our fellow man challenged. Community life in the world has felt most the impact of this cruel orgy of death and destruction.

"Basically our community life must go on. We as Lions have before us, under world conditions, the great opportunity—yes, responsibility—to heal the wounds and remove the scars of war impact on our respective communities and to make the communities better and life there such that opportunities will attract and bring back with due appreciation the service men and the war workers."

Skeen was born in Plain City, Utah, and attended the University of Utah. He received his BS degree from the Utah State Agricultural college and his LLB degree from the University of Chicago.

He is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, and is affiliated with the Latter Day Saints church. He was active in the establishment of the Utah State Training School for Feeble-minded children, and was president of the governing board of that institution for 10 years. He is interested in various other phases of social welfare work. He is also interested in farming and livestock. Skeen is married and has five children.

Lumber Gets Shipping Rate

The interstate commerce commission Thursday advised Public Utilities Commissioner George H. Flag here that it had refused to allow lumber mills on Grays Harbor and north of Bellingham to ship lumber to Southern California, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and Texas at the rate for such shipments from the Willamette valley.

The Oregon utilities commission intervened in the case and joined in the protest of the Willamette Valley Lumbermen's association. Prior to the war most of the Puget Sound and Grays Harbor mills shipped their lumber by water.

Sportsmen Hold Fox Hunt in City Cemetery

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 3—(AP) A horn blowing in a cemetery at midnight lead citizens to wonder whether Gabriel was calling. Investigation today disclosed sportsmen were staging a fox hunt in the cemetery and the horn was used to call their dogs back.

The cemetery is in the heart of a residential section. Officials explained sportsmen were asked to rid the cemetery of foxes after other means failed. They said foxes had destroyed 300 ducklings in a lake which beautified the grounds. The hunters got three foxes.

Full Shares of Racing Funds Are Allocated

Full shares of license and pari-mutuel receipts from dog and horse races for the current year already have been allocated benefactors with the exception of the state's general fund and the county fairs, figures available today disclosed.

The allocations, as listed by the department of state, included $35,000 for the Oregon State Fair, $35,000 for the Pacific International Exposition, $5000 for the eastern Oregon Livestock show, $1200 for the Northwestern Turkey show and $5000 for the Pendleton Roundup.

The state's general fund has received $22,365.27 and the county fairs $30,500. Of the state's take of 3 percent from pari-mutuels the remainder of the season the general fund will receive one sixth and the remainder will go to the county fairs.

Office Budget Cut $40,000

State unemployment compensation commission officials declared Thursday that they are not concerned over the recent reduction of $40,000 in their appropriation for administrative costs during the current year.

The reduction was announced by the federal security agency. Commissioner T. Morris Dunne said the local unemployment office now has fewer employees than for many years with the result that there has been a substantial financial saving in administrative costs.

In case the war should end before the close of the year and the work load is increased a supplemental appropriation would be sought, Dunne said.

The appropriation for last year was $380,000.
