

All Vehicles Must Keep Up Records

Operators of commercial motor vehicles are now required to keep records of the operation of all vehicles covered by their certificate of war necessity on simplified forms of their own, as forms 17 and 17-A formerly supplied for this purpose by ODT have been discontinued.

ODT officials declared that all operators must keep records with reference to mileage used and motor fuel consumed. In addition, every certificate holder who operates a property-carrying vehicle is required to keep a record, for each vehicle, of the number of days the vehicle was idle with the reasons therefor.

Certificate holders engaged in non-distributive operations are required to keep a record of loads transported in all over-the-road operations. A record of loads transported does not have to be maintained by certificate holders owning vehicles engaged in (1) retail distribution service (other than tank vehicles); (2) construction operations; (3) maintenance or repair services; (4) transportation of property wholly within the boundaries of any property under common carrier control or management or between such properties when not separated by more than one mile; (5) public health, safety or public utility service; and (6) farming or the transportation of farm products or supplies (not including for-hire vehicles).

Wheat Drops 1/2-Cent Bushel In Portland

PORTLAND, Aug. 7 (AP)—A drop of 1/2 cent a bushel on ordinary classes of wheat was registered on the Portland market, while the national market fluctuated narrowly during the last week, the war food administration said today.

Trading on the open market was light. No important demands were received from buyers, and there was no selling pressure from growers. Some producers were releasing at current bids, but most were holding their supplies in the country.

Portland receipts increased sharply to 550 cars. Most of this apparently was for commodity credit corporation account and for terminals.

Mills were able to meet current demands from offerings, but their requirements were moderate and for special quality lots. Other classes of buyers were not actively in the market for cash wheat.

Winter wheat harvest made good progress, with yields generally satisfactory throughout Oregon. Some early sown spring grain was promising, but much of it has been damaged by drought.

Turner Guests Entertained

TURNER — Mrs. Levi Locken was surprised Wednesday by her brother, Audrey Osborn. She had not seen him for eight years. Osborn was accompanied by his wife and daughter. They are former residents of Oklahoma and returned Sunday to Camp Lewis where he is stationed.

Mrs. Raymond Titus has as her house guest last week Mrs. H. A. Richmond of Salem.

A boys camp conducted by the 99 men of the Christian churches of the state will be held at the Turner Tabernacle this week.

Irrigation Increases Farm Acres

By LILLIE L. MADSEN, Farm and Garden Editor. Farmers planning to purchase land to increase the size of their farming units can use the purchase of war bonds at this time very effectively if they have a possibility of irrigation. W. G. Nibler, said this week.

Mr. Nibler explained that starting with the principle that one acre of irrigated land is as good as two acres of non-irrigated land in a farming unit, the purchase of a few thousand dollars worth of irrigation equipment as soon as it is available is a much cheaper way to increase the size of the farm than is the purchase of additional land at the inflated values now being paid.

Grain Futures Sink Lower

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP)—Grain futures rolled downward under persistent selling today as the allies rolled onward in Europe.

All wheat and rye futures, and December and May oats dropped to new seasonal lows. Oats and rye fell more than 2 cents a bushel and wheat was down almost as much as one time, but rallied slightly under short covering.

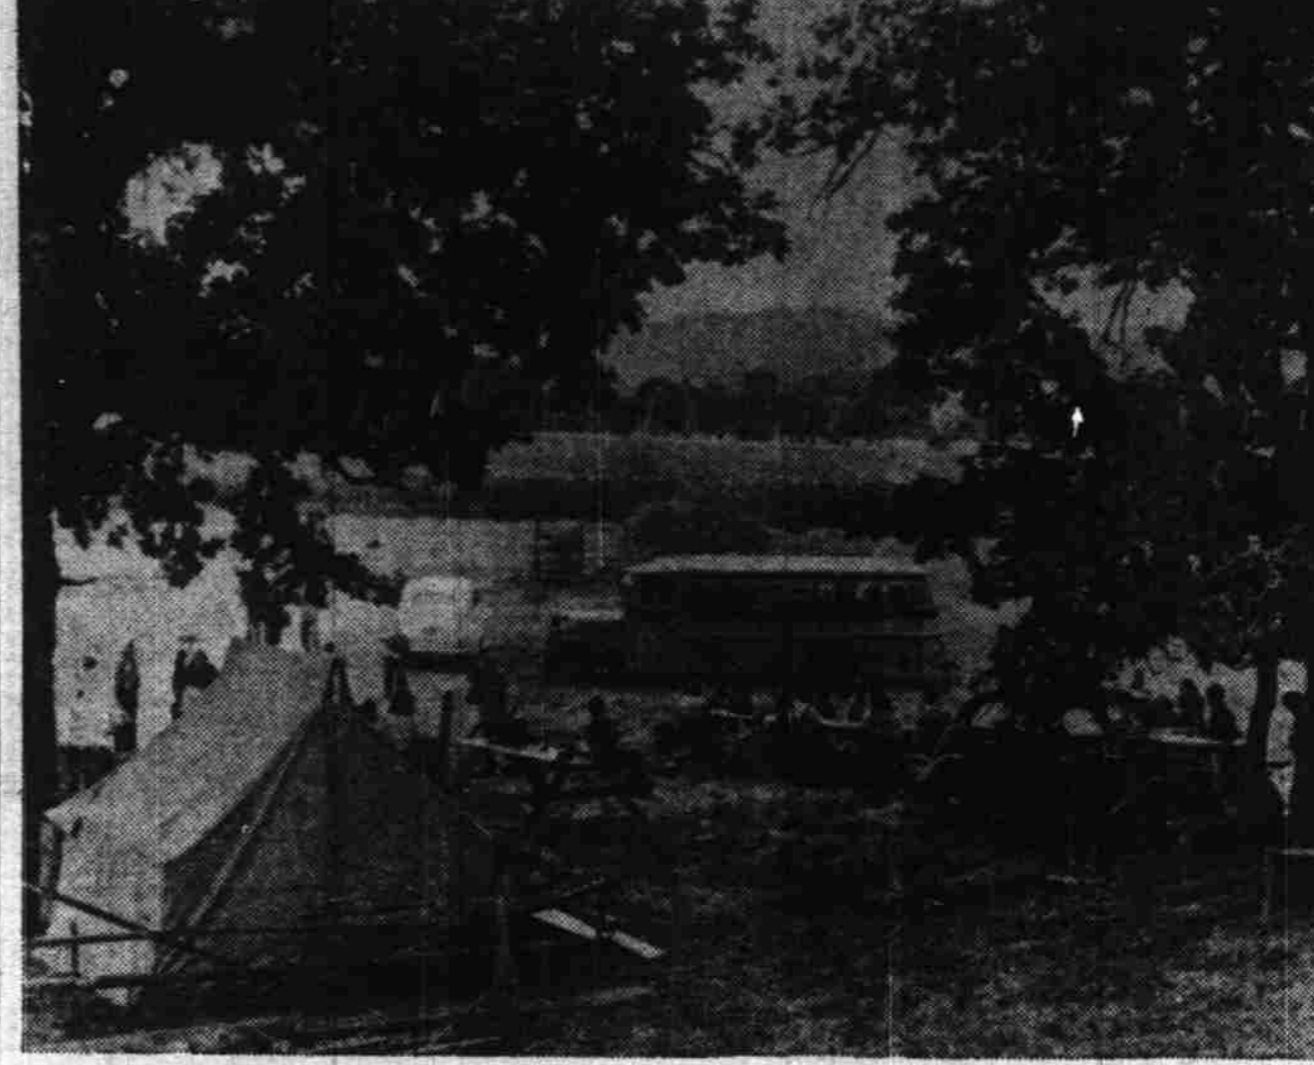

Favorable war news was the main bearish influence, but traders were also influenced by heavy oats arrivals in the northwest and favorable spring wheat thrashing weather, with a heavy movement of that grain expected this week.

Wheat closed 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents below the previous finish, September $1.53 1/2, December $1.53 3/4, all seasonal lows. Rye closed off 2 to 2 1/2 cents, September $1.03-1.03 1/2, December $1.04 1/2, May $1.06 1/2, also lower for the season. Oats were down 1 1/2 to 2 1/4, September 66 1/2, December 68 1/2, May 66 1/2, new lows for December and May. Barley was down 3/4 to 1 1/4, September $1.10 1/2.

September and December wheat sold down to 31.53 1/2 at one time, 1 1/2 cents a bushel under the price at which the government reportedly will support the cash market.

Weed control specialists who have investigated the origin of some of America's worst perennial pests report that Canada thistle was introduced from Europe at Montreal, Canada, by Burgoyne's army; that windweed or morning glory came from some unknown source in 1859; that Russian knapweed came in with imported alfalfa and sugar beet seed in 1900, and that whitetail arrived from Europe and Asia in 1890 in alfalfa seed.

Comfortable Lunching Place for Workers

This is not a weekend picnic, but a platoon of young Willamette valley bean pickers who have been provided respite facilities for their noon lunch period. Between 80 and 100 platoons of these youngsters under 18 years old are helping in this year's record bean harvest.

Young Bean Pickers Are Commended

If bean pickers were given "E" awards, gold stars, or any other formal recognitions, between 2500 and 3000 Willamette valley youngsters who are members of the "bean brigades" in some 80 to 100 organized youth platoons certainly would be making the headlines.

At least that's what Russel M. Adams, assistant state farm labor supervisor in charge of youth activities, believes. He wouldn't leave out the additional thousands of youngsters, nor the thousands of women, who are working independently in harvesting Oregon's record-breaking acreage of snap beans, either.

Tons and tons of beans are rolling into the canneries in nine Willamette valley counties. Most of them are being picked by children and women.

Platoons, consisting of 30 to 40 youngsters under 18 years of age, are setting some good records this year, Adams reports. Each platoon has an adult leader who not only looks after the welfare of the picker but supervises the picking.

When picking begins early in the morning, the lunch hour is often advanced as early as 10:30, or brief mid-morning rest periods are set aside for snacks.

Most farmers provide cool, shady spots where the youngsters can rest while they eat. This, along with adequate supplies of cool drinking water and other comfortable facilities, has paid dividends in boosting picking averages and in keeping more children on the job throughout the season, Adams reports.
