Marseille Is Anxious for Allied Arrival

WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 19 — Five Frenchmen from Cannes, stranded in Marseille because of the invasion, reached Allied lines today and told how France's second city awaits the approaching hour of liberation.

Until Thursday night the city was repressed by a tightening terrorism by Joseph Darnard's Vichy militia, they said. Hundreds of pro-Ally sympathizers were rounded up and imprisoned. The Maquis were suppressed in a brief reign of terror harsher than anything imposed during the German occupation.

During Thursday night the militia fled to Vichy. Yesterday morning the partisans opened the prisons, releasing the Maquis. Mean- while all German headquarters and supply personnel evacuated the city, leaving the garrison to prepare Marseille for siege.

The German evacuation order generally was being ignored since no transportation existed, the Frenchmen said.

Vichy has cut the bread ration in Marseille to 75 grams daily. There is no meat, not even horse meat is obtainable.

Permanent Recreation Plan Eyed

A plan for a permanent state-wide recreational program appar- ently was headed for the legisla- ture today, following a meeting of the state recreational committee in Portland on Saturday.

The committee of 14, including Mrs. Clifton Mudd of Salem, was addressed by Sherwood Cates, di- rector of recreation, community war services, federal security agency, who said that 12 states al- ready had found recreation pro- grams so necessary that plans were being laid for their contin- uance despite the closing of army camps.

Essential work with schools, and the problem of juvenile delin- quency, were among factors con- sidered in these states' decision, he said.

Oregon is among 23 states which have had state recreational com- mittees the past few years. This state's was formed in 1941, prior to Pearl Harbor.

Cates told the group, which de- cided informally to seek establish- ment of a permanent program, that he believed the initial step to- ward the formation of such recrea- tional organization should be tak- en by the states, but that it was possible the federal government also would further such efforts.

The committee Saturday also heard Roger Folgate, field director of the federal security agency's recreation work.
