Ernie Smacks A Homer ---The Hard Way

NEW YORK, Sept. 18-(A)-Ernie Lombardi hit a home run the other day. Now Ernie Lombardi hits home runs often enough to eliminate any great element of surprise. but this home run was something extra special.

It happened the day of the hurricane, when the Giants were playing the Phils at the Polo Grounds. The storm came well publicized, and the pre-game comment on the bench concerned mostly when, how, where and who it would strike. Frank True of the New York Sun was listening in.

"Ernie," Gus Mancuso said to Lombardi, "it would be a great stunt if you could come to bat just at the time the hurricane hits. With a good tail wind you ought to knock one into Yankee stadithe advance guard arrived. Pa- film actress Jinx. pers and dust scurried through the air, and the flags atop the stands began to starch out straight. Lombardi eyed these favorable omens calculatingly as he walked to the plate.

Ernie hit a home run. It probably was one of the most prodigeous blows ever seen at the Polo grounds. It cleared the second deck of the stands at least 50 feet inside fair territory. Nobody ever will know just how far the ball did travel, and the fans still were "ahing" when the big guy loped across the plate.

The ball probably would be going yet except for one little factor. Ernie had no weather vane on top of his noggin, and he hit the ball over the left field standsagainst the wind.

Reports from St. Louis indicate Musial will be back in the lineup as the Cards swing through the east on their final tuneup for the world series. If Stan is able to take a regular turn he could make things close by a sizzling hit spree down the stretch but the clock is running out on him. Averages, including games of Sunday, show Musial at .348, 13 points behind the Pride of Flatbush.

Joe Medwick of New York who has been threatening the leaders with a late season surge, has dropped off three markers to .340, leaving him seven points ahead of the Cards' Johnny Hopp. Walker Cooper of St. Louis and Phil Weintraub of New York are tied for fifth at .320.

Candy, eigarettes and rations are passed out to American soldiers on a dockside "somewhere in an English port" just before they embarked for our rapidly expanding battlefront in France. Let's insure the morale of our fighting man and the success of our operations by having supplies reach them in abundance and on time. Save waste paper! It is urgently needed for food, ammunition, blood plasma and other vital war essentials!
