

Willamette to Get Athletic Field in Deal

The option offered Salem Friday for the purchase of Bush's pasture by Henry V. Compton, vice president of the Pioneer Trust company, representing A. N. Bush and his sister, Miss Sally Bush, specifies that "the city shall, contemporaneously with the execution of such deed to it, execute to Willamette university a deed of conveyance . . . to a tract of land, fronting on Mission street . . . without consideration. . . . Said tract of land shall contain not less than seven nor more than 10 acres and shall be so conveniently located within said tract as to afford a site for an athletic field for Willamette university and for high schools in this vicinity."

The deed may contain a provision, if the city shall so elect, that failure of the university to use the tract as an athletic field for a period of three years, the tract reverts to the city.

Although the letter from Mr. Compton suggests that the development be named "Asahel Bush park" it requires only that whatever name given be "appropriate to constitute the same as a memorial to Asahel Bush, sr., the father of A. N. Bush and Sally Bush."

Members of the special committee, which Friday agreed to recommend the purchase to the council Monday night, are Albert H. Gille, chairman, Milton L. Meyers, E. J. Scellars, W. I. Needham and David O'Hara.

No requirement as to method of payment is made in this option offer, members of the committee pointed out Friday.

Lack of Labor Hits Nut Crop

FOREST GROVE, Oct. 20 (AP)—Filbert and walnut harvesting in Washington county may be hit by the year's most acute labor shortage, Roy L. Davidson, farm labor assistant, said today.

Walnut picking, just beginning, will require about 1500 workers, Davidson reported. The filbert harvest is fast reaching a peak.

High school students may be recruited to help in the county's 5000 acres of walnuts. The farm labor office said only 100 Mexicans would be on hand.

An average of 50 tons of nuts daily in the last week and a half was reported by the Ralph E. Dugdale drier at Cornelius.

Cranberries Harvest Good

MARSHFIELD, Oct. 20 (AP)—Harvesting of Cranberries in small bogs is nearly completed, growers said today, and pickers are moving on to larger areas. Shortage of help is not so acute now as at the season's start, but part of the crop probably will be lost, they reported.

Officials of the Coos Cooperative, Bandon, estimated this year's crop at 35,000 boxes, of which 40 per cent has been produced so far.

A mechanical picker, which harvests 300 pounds of berries an hour, was demonstrated here by its inventor, William Hoyt, Aberdeen, Wash.

Medford Doctor Guilty Of Narcotics Selling

MEDFORD, Ore., Oct. 20 (AP)—Dr. R. W. Clancy, Medford physician accused of dispensing narcotics illegally, was found guilty today on four counts of violating the Harrison narcotics act.

A federal court jury, which earlier heard a witness testify that he was a drug addict and had purchased drugs from Clancy, convicted the physician after four hours' deliberation. Sentence will be pronounced Monday.

Oil Heating Meeting Set for Portland

PORTLAND, Oct. 20 (AP)—C. E. Lewis, Milwaukee, Wis., president of the oil heat institute of America, will be main speaker at a Pacific coast conference for the oil heating industry here tomorrow.

Both members of the Oregon Fuel Merchants association, sponsors of the meeting, and non-members are invited.

Fred Miller Appointed Assistant to Neuner

Appointment of Fred A. Miller, district attorney of Clackamas county, as assistant attorney general of Oregon was announced here Friday by Attorney General George Neuner.

Miller has served as district attorney for several terms but was not a candidate for reelection this year.

96th Received Basic Training At Adair Under Gen. Bradley

CAMP ADAIR, Ore., Oct. 20 (AP)—One of the units that took part in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's invasion of the Philippines—the 96th division—was trained here.

The division, first trained by Maj. Gen. Guy Carlton, was organized at Camp Wadsworth, SC, on Jan. 5, 1918. World war I ended before it ever got into combat, and it was disbanded on Jan. 17, 1919.

Seven years later it was reborn for the first time as a reserve division in the northwest. Reserve officers in this section were assigned to regiments set up in Portland, Seattle and Eugene.

Second Rebirth

Pearl Harbor set the stage for its second rebirth. Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley, a Missourian who was graduated from West Point in 1914, was named to head reorganization in May, 1942.

When the unit was activated August 15, 1943, General Bradley said: "We will welcome obstacles that we may glory in overcoming them. We will welcome the rain and the mud. We will be as tough mentally as we are physically. This is the kind of a division we are going to be: well trained, ready and anxious to fight, not for our own personal glory or advancement, but for the honor of the division and the service of our country."

Not Oregon Outfit

More than 75 per cent of the personnel came from the midwest and southwest, but the division drew soldiers from throughout the nation, all the territories, and 36 foreign countries. When training was completed at Camp Adair in April 1944, Illinois had nearly 2000 representatives, Texas 1200.

Japs Name New Terms On Relief Supplies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Japan has again expressed willingness to send a ship to a soviet port to pick up relief supplies for imprisoned allied nationals, but has made new demands concerning safe conduct for the ship.

Disclosing this today, Undersecretary of State Stettinius told a news conference that when the supplies are moved will depend upon negotiations with the Russians over Japan's new stipulations.

Slot Machines Declared OK

PORTLAND, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Oregon state liquor control commission decided today not to attempt to prohibit licensed establishments from installing slot machines.

Fifteen new licenses, originally authorized on the condition that slot machines not be placed on the premises, were issued without any restriction.

"It is not our place," declared Administrator Ray Conway, "to regulate gambling, since the state recognizes it is legal in horse and dog racing."

Commissioners declared, however that some taverns were required to install the machines in order to obtain larger beer shipments.

FDR's Dog Fala Gets Republican Competition

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt's little dog Fala had republican competition today. Fluffy, a Canadian sheepdog wearing an "I'm for Dewey" sign about his collar, greeted Gov. Thomas E. Dewey on his arrival at the station here.

"He's conducting a 'one-dog' campaign for Dewey," explained owner George Washington Nicolas of Pittsburgh.

Stockman Coming

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 20 (AP)—Leaving Washington tomorrow, Rep. Lowell Stockman will arrive in Oregon soon to help his wife launch an attack transport in Portland and to campaign for reelection.

Bids Opened For New Plant

Bids on the construction of a combination market, milk and receiving dairy plant in Salem for the Dairy cooperative association will be opened Tuesday in Portland.

Five Salem contractors, Henry Carl, Barham Bros., Ed Viesko, Erwin Batterman and Halvorsen Construction company have secured copies of the plans and indicated they will probably enter bids. Four Portland builders are also said to be interested.

Clausen & Clausen, Portland architects, will receive the bids for the new plant.

Greek Guerrillas Speed Nazi Rout

ROME, Oct. 20 (AP)—Greek Guerrilla forces were credited by the allied high command today with aiding in speeding the withdrawal of the Germans toward northern Greece toward Yugoslavia, while British troops occupied the legendary city of Thebes, 32 miles northwest of Athens.

A reliable Cairo source said the Germans were evacuating the large island of Lemnos in the northern Aegean sea, leaving probably the equivalent of two divisions spread out over western Crete, Rhodes, Coe, Leros and Melos.

Chinese Holding Nippon at Bay

CHUNGKING, Oct. 20 (AP)—Chinese troops are holding the Japanese at bay in the vicinity of Tajungkiang, 23 miles north of the imperiled provincial city of Kweilin, Maj. Gen. Chang Tung-Chuen, a Chinese army spokesman said today.

The Japanese have sent a column from Hingan in an advance east of the Hunan-Kwangsi railway to a point 23 miles northeast of Kweilin, however. Hingan, on the railway, 35 miles northeast of Kweilin, is now a base for enemy drives to the west, southwest and south.

Thumbnail of War!

Western Europe — Americans capture Aachen; Canadians advance five miles in new offensive north of Antwerp.

Russia — Russians and Yugoslavs capture Belgrade; Berlin reports Russians 12 miles within East Prussia; Russians make new 9-mile penetration of Hungary from south while another force captures Hungary's third city, Debrecen.

Greece — British occupy Thebes, as Germans continue northward flight.

Italy — Heavy fighting, with slight allied gains in some sectors.

Pacific — Americans, 250,000-strong, consolidate beachheads on Leyte in Philippines and move inland as Japanese gather resistance; one front-line report says Tacloban airfield captured; heavy air umbrella protects invading troops.

China — Chinese halt Japanese 23 miles north of Kweilin, and recapture two Japanese points; Japanese, fearing American invasion, reported fortifying area between Shanghai and Hangchow Bay.

Flying Rules May Be Eased

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 20 (AP)—A Portland newspaper quoted a civil aeronautics administration (CAA) official today as predicting that restrictions on private flying along the Pacific coast would be relaxed.

The newspaper said it was told by Paul Morris, regional CAA manager, that both the CAA and the interdepartmental air traffic control board favor easing the ban which now bars private planes from a 150-mile strip down the coastline.

Morris said the CAA expects restrictions to be lifted enough to permit student flying and certain essential private flying in the barred area, the newspaper said.

Portland Officer Will Visit Albany Lodge

ALBANY — Camp Phillips auxiliary USW, are making preparations to entertain the department president, Mrs. Lolo Shelley, Portland, at the regular meeting October 29. Several other department officers are expected to be guests the same afternoon.

U.S. Internes On Philippines Near Liberty

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Invasion of the Philippines brings liberty one step nearer for American soldier and civilian prisoners in eight camps operated by the Japanese in the Philippines.

The prison camps nearest to American forces now ashore at Leyte island are two at Davao, on the island of Mindanao, one military and the other for civilians.

Five camps, three civilian and two military, are located on the main island of Luzon. The principal civilian camp is Santo Tomas university in Manila. One military camp is at Puerto Princesa on the island of Palawan, the southwesternmost of the group.

The location of the camps was reported to the American Red Cross last July.

Other camps maintained by the enemy include six for military prisoners in Formosa. Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, commander of American forces at the time the Philippines fell, has been reported at one of the Formosa camps.

Vet Hospital Named Amputation Center

PORTLAND, Oct. 20 (AP)—Veterans hospital here has been named amputation center for the northwest by the US veterans administration, Lt. Col. Paul I. Carter, head of the Portland medical and surgical center, said today.

Returning service men from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Nevada and Alaska will be cared for at the hospital, which is already one of six tumor centers in the country, Dr. Carter said.

ON the HOME FRONT

A young woman who lives in the apartment house we call home and works at The Statesman (and it isn't our roommate) now signs her last name, indicates sex, color and age even in the letters she writes to her brothers and sisters.

It came about like this. Not long ago she went into a store owned by persons she considered longtime acquaintances. Their family had known her family, etc. The proprietor called her by her first name, asked concerning a brother in the service, introduced her to his newest clerk and told the clerk that the young woman worked at The Statesman. The clerk responded, with a smile, that they had once lived in the same small town and had friends in common.

The YW purchased a $1 item and wrote a check for it. She was tucking her fountain pen away when the clerk said in that cool, crisp voice we tried unsuccessfully to develop when we were attempting to sell goods behind a counter "I'm sorry—I'll have to ask you to put your address on that." PS—The check was good.

50 Danes Taken in Raids by Gestapo

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Free Danish press service reported today that the Nazi Gestapo, conducting a series of raids throughout Denmark since Saturday in an attempt to smash the underground, have arrested at least 50 persons.

British Fight Inside Cesena

ROME, Oct. 20 (AP)—Eighth army troops clashed with the Germans today in Cesena, a fortress town and junction 50 miles southeast of Bologna on strategic highway nine, as the allies forced small gains all along the rocky, muddy north-Italian front.

The allied communique told of continued heavy fighting, but there was no suggestion that the allied forces were about to smash out of their dreary positions for the long awaited conclusive struggle with Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring's Nazi troops.

On the Adriatic coastal sector troops of the First German parachute division withdrew slowly and with repeated counterattacks.

General Motors Club Holds Dinner Here

Dealers and their representatives and newspaper and radio men of the Salem area were guests Friday night at the Marion hotel for the second meeting of the mid-valley General Motors club. Following dinner, films showing some of GM's postwar plans and an application of information gained in recent customer research surveys were presented.

Police Pick Up Escaped Prisoner

Charles Frank Ivey, 24, was picked up by state police Friday while hitchhiking near Eola and asked to report to the Salem office to check for non-possession of a draft card. While looking through the records, they discovered that he was an escapee from a trusty gang of the Portland police and had been at large since May 11, 1943. Ivey has been returned to the Portland police.
