Non-Highway Gas Coupons Are Expiring

Farmers and other non-highway gasoline users are advised by E. W. Eggen, district OPA mileage rationing representative, that the last of the non-serially numbered off-highway gasoline coupons—those lettered "E" and "R"—will expire on October 31.

Non-highway users who have such coupons which are not serially numbered and which were issued for use beyond November 1 may exchange them for valid ration currency at local boards, Eggen explained.

The expiring coupons may be identified by two points: They do not have a serial number on them, and they bear the capital "E" or "R" with no number after it.

Filling station operators have through November 10 to turn in the expired coupons to their gasoline suppliers, or to exchange them at their local board for ration banking checks. Distributors will have through November 20 to deposit these coupons in their ration bank accounts.

Motors Lead Stock Retreat

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—(AP)—Motors led the stock market on a sizable retreat today with pivots generally yielding fractions to more than 2 points.

Selling cropped up after a moderately active and slightly mixed opening but it lacked urgency until the final hour when offerings expanded appreciably.

There was little in the news to account for the stumble. Analysis inclined to blame liquidation mainly on the continued reluctance of the averages to penetrate the 7-year highs of July. Accounts also were trimmed on the advice of some investment services which were either bearish or exceedingly cautious for the near-term, giving as their reasons indefinite election trends and lack of much important war inspiration.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off 7 of a point at 94.9, widest recession for this barometer since Sept. 6. The market was relatively broad, 967 issues registering. Of these, 721 were down, 98 up and 148 unchanged. Transfers totalled 1,024,690 shares against 744,615 last Friday. Volume was the largest since Sept. 7.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped out. Don't live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTERE on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Doesn't loosen. Checks plaque odor (denture breath). Get PASTERE at any drug store.

Bullish Trade Noted in Rye

CHICAGO, Oct. 23—(AP)—A bullish trade was on in rye today and prices were up as much as 3 1/2 cents a bushel to new highs since last July before profit taking developed to erase part of the gains. Other grain futures markets were unsettled and wheat closed substantially lower.

Rye was mixed at the start when local traders had small amounts for sale. Within the first 15 minutes, however, buying orders came in from every direction and the offerings dried up. Shorts tried to cover on the advance and stop-loss orders were uncovered promptly.

The demand was attributed to the tight statistical position of the brown cereal and prospects that more of the grain will be used in alcohol manufacture. The domestic visible supply has been decreasing steadily and during the past week was reduced 252,000 bushels to a total of 13,242,000 bushels. Open interest in December rye Saturday amounted to 13,890,000 bushels.

Some market observers had anticipated a weaker market at the start following publication of a report that General Foods corporation had authorized a large Chicago grain house to sell its rye stocks estimated at about nine million bushels.

The wheat trade was neglected while interest centered in the rye pit. Prices advanced 1/4 to 1/2 cent a bushel during the morning but broke sharply in the final hour under selling induced by weakness in the Minneapolis market where the December contract at times was off nearly two cents.

At the close wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower than Saturday's finish, December $1.63 1/2. Corn was unchanged to 1/4 higher, December $1.13 1/2. Rye was up 1/4 to 1/2, December $1.13 1/2-1/4. Barley was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, December $1.06.

Special wheat makes gains
PORTLAND, Oct. 23—(AP)—An increase of about 1 cent a bushel on protein qualities of hard winter and hard white was noted in the cash wheat market last week. The war food administration said today. Prices on ordinary types were comparatively unchanged.

Special quality protein lots for immediate mill need presented most of the demand, which was only moderate to light in the general market. Other buyers were not active in the picture.

Portland had only 93 of the some 375 cars at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals, and trading and movement were light. Receipts were mainly CCC supplies and deliveries on earlier purchases. Only light quantities were released at country points by growers.
