

Tom Turkey Best Buy For Money

By Maxine Buren
Thanksgiving is nearly far around the corner, but it always pays to prepare oneself for the big holiday, by ordering turkey ahead and planning the meal so supplies will not have to be selected the last minute.

In Tuesday morning's Statesman we found that the civilian supply of turkeys for this Thanksgiving will be sufficient but there will be few extras. Someone may get fooled, but in the meantime let's look at what's the best type turkey to buy.

According to the bulletin from the department of agriculture, the best turkey to buy is a tom turkey not much over five months old, giving the topmost amount of lean meat for the money. This is the conclusion from studies made by the US department of agriculture.

The studies show the turkey puts on little fat until at least 20 weeks old. After this hens fatten more rapidly than toms. At 32 weeks, a hen may have fattened so much that 28 percent of her total weight is fat. Young toms on the other hand, begin to fatten only when 24 to 28 weeks old. They may then put on 20 per cent of their weight in fat.

So the shopper who at Thanksgiving buys a 20 pound dressed hen turkey hatched early in April will pay for more than five pounds of fat. A dressed tom of about the same age and weight will have only four pounds of fat.

A little fat makes a turkey tender and juicy of course, and adds good flavor, but too much fat makes the turkey too expensive when bought by the pound.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 3—(AP)—Students of the University of Texas, led by Ex-Marine Malcolm Wallace of Dallas, cut classes today to march on the state capitol in howling protest over the discharge of President Homer P. Rainey.

Depositing a crepe-shouldered coffin labelled "academic freedom" over a mosaic of the Lone Star of Texas in the rotunda of the capitol, they demonstrated with shouts of "We want Rainey" while Wallace handed Gov. Coke R. Stevenson a student demand that he send each member of the board of regents this telegram:

"On behalf of the university student body whose degrees are at stake, I request you and other members to convene in Gregory gym at 10 a. m. Saturday, Nov. 4 in open meeting in order to explain to the students the basis of the Houston decision, and to elect a president. I am accepting no resignations."

Earlier the rancher governor said he would take no immediate action.

"I've been around the campfire long enough to know you can't drink coffee out of a boiling pot without burning your lips," he said.

The regents last night discharged Rainey in a meeting at Houston, charging he failed and refused to conform to regulations and policies of the board and has made statements "reflecting on the motives and good faith of the board."
