Sewage Plant At Mt. Angel Local Issue

MT. ANGEL—Election day next Tuesday will not only decide momentous matters for the nation and state, but will likewise determine an important issue for Mt. Angel, namely, whether or not the city council shall levy a tax, not to exceed five mills, to provide funds for the construction of a sewage disposal plant. This plant is to be built as soon after the war as shall be deemed wise and practical.

A sinking fund for this purpose was established a few years ago but the amount that now finds its way into the fund is pitifully small. A special tax would be levied by the individual taxpayer yet the amount realized from the tax on the combined taxable property would amount to a sum that would work considerably toward the financing of the expensive but necessary project.

By adding the measure to the regular election ticket, the city council thought to save the people of the community, the extra expense and trouble of holding a special election next spring.

Candidates for the four vacancies in the city council will be voted upon. Candidates for the two year term position are Mike Hopper, Carl Mucken, Walter P. Smith, A. G. Traeger and Joseph L. Wachter.

Nominees named for the unexpired term of Joseph J. Keber, who is moving to Portland, are Raymond Terhaar, Victor Frey and E. G. Unger.

East Mt. Angel will cast its votes at the city hall as usual. Voting of West Mt. Angel will be done at the N. B. Travis Plumbing shop instead of at the Mt. Angel Motor company as in former years.

Spring Valley Boosts Its Quota by $18.65

SPRING VALLEY—This community came through with flying colors again in the war chest drive, raising $83.65, which was $18.65 more than their quota of $65.

To Be Ordained

Stayton New Bus Put in Operation

STAYTON, Nov. 3—The new school bus arrived in town Tuesday night. It was driven west from Richmond, Ind., by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Siegmund and was used Wednesday morning.

The bus, the second in operation by school district 71, seats 41 students and will be used for the North Santiam-West Stayton loop. The buses are being driven by Pius Lulay and Henry Minten.

Monmouth Property Sold During Week

MONMOUTH—Three new houses built on West Main street by F. I. Bressler of Salem, were sold this week. A. F. Huber sold to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Smith of Monmouth, to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Taylor of Independence.

Mrs. Dora Goodman sold one house to H. K. Browitch of Independence. Mrs. Goodman also sold the Rabe duplex on Warren street to Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ray of Monmouth.

Swegle Starts Hot Luncheons

SWEGLE—The school has been assured a hot lunch program again this year under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teacher organization. Plans are to start November 8. Federal aid will again be given in proportion to that paid by the parents. For some time it was believed this aid could not be secured but a readjustment was made. Mrs. Percy Kleeman has consented to do the cooking. Mrs. E. E. Brandt was appointed chairman of the project and she will be assisted by the PTA president, Mrs. Charles Norton.

Four members of the organization attended the county council meeting in Salem Thursday. They were Mrs. Charles Norton, Mrs. William Hensell, Mrs. Charles Bottorff and Mrs. William Hartley. The hot lunches and the new legislative measures that the state group will endorse were the main topics for consideration.

The Swegle group was also hosts for the noon luncheon. Mrs. Hensell and Mrs. Bottorff attended the county teachers' institute in Salem on Friday, in charge of PTA publication table.

Parents Sponsor Holiday Party

MONMOUTH—Hallowe'en was featured here this year by an innovation in the way of entertainment, when parents of upper grade school boys and girls gave them a theater party, sponsored by the women of the American Legion auxiliary. Mrs. Edwin Jensen, president of the auxiliary, planned the affair, and was assisted by Mrs. C. L. Tomkins, Mrs. Jack Stump and Mrs. Oscar Groves.

High school students had a party at the community building, arranged by teachers and parents. Rev. George Turner, new minister of the Christian church, assisted with entertainment.

The fire siren was heard only once in the interest of Hallowe'en, and altogether it was the quietest holiday of its kind on record.

Scio Woman Mayor Aim, Recorder Believes

SCIO—Scio may have a woman mayor or at least a councilman or two from the distaff side, if a movement in that direction materializes here. No nominating petitions have been filed as yet, however, according to report of Acting Recorder Virginia Dolezal.

The petitions must be filed with the recorder before November 20, in order to meet the charter deadline for the city election December 4, at which a mayor, six councilmen and a recorder will be named. None of the present officers is a candidate for re-election.

Scio E Bonds Total Is Down

SCIO—Series E war bond sales in Scio during October were $6,581.25, according to totals released by Postmaster E. Phillips and Waldo DeMoy, manager of the Scio State bank. The figure is $1100 less than the September total. Sales at the postoffice were $3937.50 and at the bank $2,643.75.

The John Turpin family has moved from the John Brock farm residence in Richardson gap to a place in Crabtree.

Charles Leffingwell and family have gone to Santa Monica, Calif., to reside. They have operated a berry and nut farm southwest of Scio for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rodgers of Pratum, formerly of Scio, were weekend visitors at the parental home, Mr. and Mrs. George Rodgers.

Melvin Sweet and family have returned from a pheasant hunt and visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Sweet, Weiser, Idaho.

Roscoe Ames of Albany, chairman of the Linn county war salvage committee, was in Scio this week in the interests of a tin can collection here.

Monmouth Mayor Seeking 8th Term

MONMOUTH—Dr. F. R. Bowersox, who has served as mayor here for seven consecutive terms, is again a candidate, by petition. Sharing the ticket with him are

G. M. Partridge and J. H. Cady, councilmen whose terms expire this month. Mayor Bowersox has been ill at a Salem hospital but is now at home recuperating.

On the ticket nominated at the caucus are the names of Clara C. Powell for mayor; Mrs. Elsie Brisbane, recorder, and Emmet Staats and D. R. Dewey for councilmen.

"Holly" Jackson Says:

Well folks, everything is alright again out at our house. We've agreed to both refrain from voting so you're just going to have to get along the next four years without a president. The "little woman" said if we'd make a change that's just what we'd be doing anyway and I says "well we've had lots of practice the last 12 years doing without" etc., etc., etc., so instead of spending all our energies on politics we're going to work every minute getting together the best assortment of jewelry, watches, diamonds, silver, salt and peppers and other nice things for you to give those extra nice people for Christmas. So when you think of Christmas—think of Holly.
