Mrs. Little Talks to DAR

"In the last World war, little heed was paid to the fact that children are a part of a war world. By contrast in World war II the child has received the attention he deserves; first, as a person living now in a muddled world; and second, as a person to be developed during this era into a constructive citizen," said Mrs. Esther Little in her talk before the Chemeketa Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution, meeting with Mrs. R. D. Paris on Saturday.

The responsibility for the problems of insecurity in home, school, and job, emotional instability, and even health and recreational concerns, rests with society, which has failed to provide youth with the inner strength and stability needful for the times, asserted Mrs. Little, who was introduced by Mrs. Charles A. Sprague.

In the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. C. A. Ratcliff, Mrs. W. H. Byrd of Lansing, Michigan, a former regent of Chemeketa chapter, was elected to represent the chapter at the 84th continental congress, to be held in Chicago in April.

Mrs. J. E. West will begin copying mortuary schedules from the census records of 1850 and 1860 in the state library. This project is urged by the national board of DAR to make available data for genealogical research. When the schedules are copied from 1870 to 1890, the typed sheets will be alphabetized and bound, and presented to the genealogical archives in the state library.

Mrs. L. Loos, chairman of national defense, in reporting on the monthly publication of this department pointed out that unless the citizen has the same zeal for his faith as the opposition of the American dream is ended. Among news items gleaned from the National Defense News, Mrs. Loos mentioned the historical study conducted in 1944 by the American council on education to cover the experience of other countries with compulsory military service and its effect on social institutions. She also told of an impressive ceremony held on October 1 in the library of congress honoring the return of three documents to the library after an absence of two and a half years for safe keeping in the interior of the continent; the Declaration of Independence, the constitution of the United States, and Magna Carta. At the beginning of this war Great Britain deposited the Lincoln cathedral original of the Magna Carta signed by King John in 1215 in the library of congress. Mrs. Loos has charge of reporting on war service records and the purchase of bonds and stamps by members.

Assisting Mrs. Paris on the tea committee were: Mrs. J. D. Fontaine, Mrs. D. H. Looney, Miss Margaret Looney, Mrs. Karl Steiner, Mrs. L. Loos, Mrs. F. J. Wied, Mrs. W. W. Allen. The rooms were decorated with bouquets of jasmine. Mrs. David Looney of Jefferson poured tea at a table covered with a cloth of Quaker lace and centered with a silver bowl of jasmine.

Mrs. I. N. Bacon will be hostess to the executive board of the American Legion auxiliary at her home Monday night. Mrs. A. H. Wilson, chairman of membership has announced that the month's auxiliary membership quota has been reached.

Don't Look Now...

but... we've been doing some research work on the cause and use of bubble bath ever since Christmas. Delving deeply into the thing, we find that it looks like soap, but isn't, and even a hint of real soap suds causes these synthetic bubbles to shrink away in shame, leaving only a ring around the tub to prove they ever existed. We've decided a bubble bath is a grand way for a woman of leisure to spend a happy and entirely useless half hour—but who knows any woman of leisure?

Tripp of the week... When Marioris Bergavik, WAVE daughter of the Leif Bergaviks, came home last weekend with a friend, it proved that she'd go a long way to spend a few hours with her parents. On a 72 hour leave, she came by bus from Treasure Island, spent 7 hours at home and 65 hours enroute!

Couldn't take it... During a discussion between mother and a 'teen aged daughter, it was revealed that the mother had graduated from college in 1925, the daughter should graduate in 1950. The mother, continuing her discussion, said "Your daughter should graduate in 1975 and your grand-daughter in 2000." The answer came—"Oh mother, how awful!"
