Some Are Free

Watch Unrationed List, Make Food Purchases That Cost No Points

The food ration picture looked pretty black last week, but checking carefully over it, we find a few lighter gray spots.

Although we still feel the loss of sugar stamps, saved until actually needed, and listen doubtfully to the OPA's promises of 30 days notice before withdrawal of any shoe stamps, all meats have not gone onto the rationed list yet and a person can live mighty well on ration-free food.

Careful buying, can still save red stamps for butter, which remains a "must go" on many families, although everything possible has been done to discourage its use.

The necessity for real butter on the western family table has long been a settled fact, and it has been hard for those who wanted to—to change the family mind.

Remember when buying that the following foods are not yet on the list of rationed foods, but that's not saying they won't be sometime.

Beef—Heart, sweetbreads and tongue.

Lamb—Breast and flank, neck, shank of all grades and lamb patties, as well as steaks, chops and roasts of utility grade and lower, also hearts, liver, sweet-breads and tongue.

Mutton—All cuts of all grades. Veal—Breast, flank, neck, shank, peel of all grades and patties, veal steaks, chops and roasts of utility grade and lower, also hearts, sweetbreads and tongue.

Pork—Fat backs and clear plates, hocks, jowls, knuckles, regular plates and bacon ends, also heart, liver and tongue.

Sausage—All loaves, liver products, including braunschweiger, fresh or smoked liver sausage, liver cheese, loaf and pudding.

Other sausage products, unless listed on the chart with a specific point value, are point-free if they contain 50 per cent or less meat.

Head cheese, souse, scrapple and blood sausages also remain point-free regardless of higher meat content.

Ready-to-eat-meats— Tongue slices.

Meats in tin or glass containers—Chili con carne, deviled tongue, meat loaf, spreads, potted and deviled meats, tamales, and beef, pork, veal and lamb tongue.

Fats, oils and dairy products—Cream cottage cheese containing 5 per cent or less butterfat, shoring, salad and cooking oils.

Processed foods— Grapefruit juice, orange-grapefruit blended juice, orange juice, canned beets, carrots, mixed vegetables, pumpkin, squash, greens, canned beans, (except green or wax).

Frozen and dried fruits and vegetables are still unrationed.
