

Ceremony Read at Church

St. Vincent's de Paul church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Evelyn Hannigan, daughter of Mrs. Charles Hannigan of Gervais, and First Sergeant Jack Thompson, United States marine corps, son of Mrs. Marie Thompson, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Father Robert Neugebauer performed the nuptial mass before a setting of palms, white and yellow flowers and candles. Mrs. Frank Thompson sang before the service and Mrs. Harold Hannigan played the wedding march and accompaniments.

The bride wore a white marquisette gown for her wedding. The floor length dress was fashioned with a full skirt, long sleeves and a high neckline enhanced with lace. Her full length tulle veil was edged in lace and cascaded from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with gardenias with white streamers of pink Cedie Brunner roses. Mr. Harold Hannigan gave his sister in marriage.

Miss Rita Hannigan was her sister's maid of honor. Her gown was of pink marquisette with lace trim. The bride's other sister, Miss Marie Hannigan, was the bridesmaid. She wore a blue marquisette and lace gown. They carried old fashioned nosegays of blue, pink and white flowers. Betty Jean Wilson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a white floor length frock trimmed in blue. In her hair was a band of blue flowers and she carried a basket of rose petals.

Stands With Green
Mr. Edmond Bliven stood with Sergeant Thompson as best man. Mr. James Nolan was the usher. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hannigan wore a navy blue dress with white trim and a corsage of red roses and white narcissus. Mrs. Thompson attended her son's marriage in a black afternoon gown with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses and narcissus.

A wedding breakfast in honor of the newlyweds was held at the home of the groom's mother. At noon a wedding reception and dinner was held at the Lions Den with covers placed for 30 guests.

When the couple left on their wedding trip the bride wore a brown tulle with luggage accessories. Sergeant and Mrs. Thompson are leaving this week for Quantico, Virginia, where he is an instructor in geometries at the marine officer's training school.

TEA PARTIES on Wednesday and Thursday when Mrs. Wendell Webb and Mrs. Ashel Bush entertained informally at the latter's home. Their friends were asked to drop in for a cup of tea any time after four o'clock. A very spring-like atmosphere inside. lovely bouquets of forsythia, acacia, daffodils and narcissus arranged about the rooms. The tea table was a mass of small nosegays of violets centered with pink roses. around the base of the centerpiece were tiny nosegays of the same flowers, which were given to each guest. The hostesses were attractive in black silk afternoon frocks. Two who assisted. Mrs. Robert S. Farrell, jr., wearing a good-looking black silk crepe dress with white lace trim on the bodice and a becoming hat in shades of fuchsia and purple. and Mrs. Conrad W. Paulus chie in a fuchsia dress with a rhinestone beret in her hair.

Greeting old friends was Mrs. David W. Eyre, jr., who has been here visiting the past week. Cynthia and David and daughter, Conard, have been in Galveston, Texas, since last spring. Mrs. Eyre looked smart in a fuchsia wool suit with matching turban. From the legislature came Rep. Rose Poole of Klamath Falls, who wore a moss green ensemble and matching hat. Mrs. Eugene Marsh of McMinnville, wife of the speaker of the house, was striking in a brown suit with white pin stripe and a wide brimmed off the face brown felt hat. and carrying her leopard coat. Mrs. Verden E. Hockett dropped in for a few minutes. all smiles when her navy commander husband came by to pick her up. Commander Hockett is home on leave for the first time in almost two years. and we understand his new assignment will be at the Corvallis naval hospital (Camp Adair). Mrs. L. V. Benson wore a good-looking grey dress and hat. and Mrs. Glenn Stevens wearing a handsome black faille suit with white eyelid blouse and black hat. over her shoulders was her kolinsky coat.

AT RANDOM. Being welcomed back to Salem and Independence are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Schreiber and nine month old daughter, Catherine. Dan was recently discharged from the navy and they expect to be settled in their Independence home in February. Temporarily they have taken an apartment over there. Dan has returned to his position as manager of the J. C. Penney store in Independence. The Schreibers resided in Salem for many years.

As a joke a group of high school girls wore jeans, sweaters and jackets to the basketball game the other night. The girls gathered at the home of Miriam Shellenberger before the game to get ready for the new fad, which they hope to start for games.

Mrs. Ida M. Andrews, who for many years was art supervisor in the Salem public schools, has accepted a position as art instructor in the upper grades at Gonzales, Calif., public schools. Mrs. Andrews writes of the beautiful school building, designed after California architecture. The school is built around a patio. The school serves breakfast and lunch to the teachers, who also have the privilege of cooking any of their other meals there at the cafeteria.

Authorities Disagree on Conscription

Four "experts" who agreed on everything except the conclusions of the discussion opened a variety of fields for further study and exchange of ideas on the subject of peacetime conscription for military training Saturday afternoon before Salem branch, American Association of University Women.

The panel, for which Mr. Rex Putman, state superintendent of public instruction, was moderator, came close to a unity of opinion on one phase of the question. Dr. Carl Frederick Kosack, assistant professor of mathematics, University of Oregon, Mr. O. I. Paulson, state director of vocational education, and Col. Carle Abrams, Salem, who represented the viewpoint of the layman and the military man among the educators, intimated they didn't want compulsory military training saddled with any pretext of "education."

Whether peacetime conscription, now discussed in congress, would prepare the country to protect itself in case of war, would help to maintain peace, would develop the youth of the country remained in question, although members of the panel touched on all these and more questions.

A constitutional change to provide, through taxation of members, for the branch's contribution to national fellowships was proposed at the business session which followed the program.

Touch of Spring
Green bowls of pussywillows and forsythia were arranged around the large meeting room in the Woman's clubhouse for the session by Mrs. Floyd Otter, decorations chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ray Smith and Mrs. Waldo O. Mills. That committee was also responsible for the beautifully appointed tea table. Crystal and silver on ecru lace complemented an arrangement of flowering quince and other spring flowers, burned at either end of the table, where Mrs. Egbert Oliver and Miss Frances Virginia Melton poured.

Miss Ida May Smith was chairman of tea arrangements. On her committee were Mrs. Oma Belle McBea, Mrs. Dena Hoffstetter, Miss Helen Fletcher, Miss Carolyn Wilson, Miss Irene Hol-

Britt Trio Will Appear Here

The third concert of the Crescendo series will be a return engagement by the famous Britt trio. The program will be given Thursday, February 3, 7:45 o'clock at the Salem high school. The trio won the plaudits of most discriminating musicians in a first appearance here last year. The approaching concert therefore, is being anticipated with increasing interest.

When artists assemble to interpret chamber music scores, the opportunity is a rare privilege to those interested in hearing the best in music literature and who are cultivating musical taste. The string ensemble produces the purest form of music, since the instruments are capable of the greatest accuracy in pitch. The contrasting qualities in tone of the string instruments are distinct and individual, but blend into an effect that is music's highest expression.

The Britt trio, violin, viola, cello, is said to be one of the finest groups in the United States today. The players are widely experienced artists in the field of entertainment, both in solo and ensemble. Their 1944-45 itinerary includes leading cities and colleges throughout the nation. Salem high school is distinguished as the only high school where concert artists perform under student management.

Mrs. Richard L. Cooley will be hostess to St. Helena's Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church Wednesday night at the Ralph H. Cooley home on North Summer street at 8 o'clock.
