Ball Biggies. Eyeing 'Plan'

Important Meeting Opens Next Friday

By Bus Ham

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.-(AP)-A semi-essential classification for baseball to keep the game going In 1945 may be one of the possibilities that bigwigs of the sport will discuss in New York Friday. Baseball people, reluctant all along to be quoted on wartime problems, nevertheless have indicated they feel a semi-essential rating could be justified on this basis:

During the ball season, let available players follow their profession; during the six months off season, use them in the war jobs for which they are best fitted. In this way, ball players could perform double duty-not only contribute to the essential victory undertaking, but also do their normal bit in aiding morale.

This might make it possible for the army, navy and war manpower commission to channel back into the sport some physically rejected men, plus others discharged from service and 4-F's not yet called up for review under proposed manpower control legislation.

Baseball's position is further outlined by its wartime record to date: number of games played in training camps, 800. Men in a series of buzz bomb alleys.

Uniform admitted free to league one sputtered out while we were may flower may flo games, 4,500,000. Contributions in high figures to ball-and-bat funds, in radio, picture and personal appearances here and overseas.

Exemplary action in being among the first to carry out office of defense transportation requests to reduce travel, winning public praise from ODT.

High percentage of men in uniform-of 5,800 players in game allay suspicions. We talked with at time of Pearl Harbor, 5,400 the wounded in hospitals. We now in service . . . few, if any, stood with lumps in our throats outstanding players returned to as General Bolling pinned Lieu-

Although they have won four straight conference battles, the Beavers must take at least three of the four games next week if they are to stay in the thick of red hot northern division pen-nant chase. Losing their first three starts put the Orange in a position where they can only afford to lose one more conference battle if they are to have contests with Idaho Friday and Gill's men already held two vic-tories over Washington State by scores of 54-32 and 48-36.

The Beavers and Vandals will be meeting for the first time this season at Moscow. Idaho is reported to have a potent team led by John Taylor, flashy fresh-man center, and Len Pyne, high scoring letterman guard. The Vandals dropped two close decisions to Oregon and lost two to Washington at Seattle last week, but almost upset the Hus-kies the first night.
