Pies for Polio Social Slogan

MISSION BOTTOM—Members of the Community club feel they may have established a record in the way of pie socials, for on Thursday, January 25, one was held in the Mission Bottom school house which netted $127.60. One pie brought $32, and another sold for $20. Fifteen pies were sold. The only way that school boys were able to buy pies were for the auctioneer to keep the older folk out of the bidding. Inspiration for the high bidding was the fact that one-fourth of the proceeds went to "March of Dimes", one-fourth to Red Cross, and the remainder to school-house equipment.

An excellent program preceded the auction, consisting of a trombone solo by Truman Massee, a pantomime play by the high-school group under direction of Ruth Townsend, a piano solo by Doris Davis, and a playette, "The Princess Beautiful" by the upper grade pupils of Mission Bottom school.

Both plays were well performed and enthusiastically received by the audience.

Much of the success of the social is due to the auctioneer, Joe O'Brien, who contributed not only his efforts but also donated a box of candy bars for the auction.
