Co-op Market News

The new Profit Sharing Stamp Books will be substituted for the old Patronage Record books and coupons beginning March 1st. The new books with full instructions will be sent by mail direct to all those who have their names in the profit sharing membership register. There will be extra books for those who do not yet have their name in the register.

Among the homegrown food products lately added to the long list of such commodities previously in the Market are a quantity of home canned fruit in glass jars—peaches, pears, and pitted black cherries. Tomatoes in 1-qt. and 2-qt. jars are also available. These processed foods do not require as many blue points as the factory processed food in tins. Among other items are local grown home dried sweet prunes, shell beans and navy beans. All fine food.

The Co-op Market still has the outstanding locally grown apple display in Salem. There is still a good supply of walnuts and filberts.

In addition to Co-op butter the Market now has Parkay, Allsweet and Nucoa substitutes. There will also be some lunch meats. This line will be expanded as soon as sufficient additional capital is made available.

Fryers will be there again this Friday supplied by Mrs. Geo. Box. To be sure to get one better telephone Mrs. Box before Friday, phone 23184.

Garden seeds, tools, insecticides, etc., will be stocked in the Market as additional capital for that purpose is made available.

Some of the furniture that Mr. Pickett had ordered for Christmas is just now coming through. As a result he now has a very large stock of unfinished and prime coated furniture.

Mrs. Maschal is increasing her stock of shelf antiques, rugs and fancy work. Just now she is featuring some new aprons and old English china.

Mrs. Kenyon has a large stock of beautiful artificial flowers and many other handmade novelties just the thing for birthdays and special occasion gifts.

Everyone who shops in the Co-op Market from and after March 1st will receive profit-sharing stamps for every dollar's worth of goods purchased anywhere in the Market.—Pd. Adv.

Legal Notice

STATE OF LOUISIANA
PARISH OF ORLEANS

BEFORE ME, the undersigned authority, a Notary Public duly commissioned and qualified in and for the aforesaid parish and state, personally came and appeared:

ALFRED F. HANSON

who upon being duly sworn, deposes and says:

That he is Vice-President of Wembley, Inc., a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Louisiana and domiciled in the City of New Orleans, Louisiana; that Wembley, Inc. is the owner of a certain trade-mark described as follows:

Three drawings of strong men crushing, twisting, and knotting a necktie with the words "Crush it - - twist it - - knot it" appearing beneath the respective drawings and a fourth drawing of a necktie applauding, beneath which drawing are the words "Not a Wrinkle."

That the said Wembley, Inc. desires to register the said trade-mark for use in connection with clothing, more particularly men's neckties and scarves; that Wembley, Inc. has been using this trade-mark since April 1, 1939; that said trade-mark is not misleading to the public, nor is it the same or similar to any trade-mark heretofore registered in the State of Oregon; that Wembley, Inc. desires to register the said trade-mark in the State of Oregon.

He also certified that necessary application for the registration of the trade-mark has been filed with the office of the Secretary of State at Salem, Oregon.

A. F. HANSON,
Vice-President of Wembley, Inc.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 16th day of February, 1945.
JOSEPH C. MEYERS,
Notary Public.
My commission expires at my death. F-21-28-M-7.

(JOIN US)

...or how to be hep in Puerto Rico

Trust your American soldier to know his way around. In Puerto Rico, as in Punxsutawney or Pasadena, Coca-Cola is a friend-maker he can count on. To natives and to his buddies alike, Have a Coke says How ya doin', pal. It's a simple gesture of friendly courtesy that's easy to understand. Yes, Coca-Cola is truly an American symbol of a refreshing way to make friends.
