

Seen and Heard . . .

By Jerome English

SOCIAL WHIRL has been gay this week for members of the legislative contingent . . . Mrs. George Duncan entertained with two luncheons this week at the Wayne Hammett home . . . Her guests were legislators' wives with whom she knew during other sessions when her husband served in the legislature . . . For the occasion she wore an attractive frock of sea blue silk jersey with fuchsia print . . . Dainty bouquets of yellow daisies and heather in crystal vases centered the luncheon tables.

Always an anticipated event of the legislative session is Senator P. J. Stadelman's dinner party . . . this year was no exception as his formal party was beautifully arranged at the Marion hotel with over 250 guests attending . . . The buffet table centered with a fountain filled with red tulips, iris and narcissus . . . sprays of acacia, tulips, potted plants and red tapers centering the many long dinner tables . . . A festive setting for the many formal gowns of the women and their colorful corsages . . .

Mayor and Mrs. George Stadelman of The Dalles received with the host . . . Mrs. Stadelman in a becoming dinner gown of winterberry red with black bodice to which were pinned white baby orchids . . . Mrs. John J. Elliott, who also assisted, attractive in a moss green gown and wearing green orchids . . . Dorothy McCullough Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bynon were down from Portland . . . Miss Nadine Strayer, daughter of Senator W. H. Strayer, over from Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McMahan here from Albany.

A SPRING TEA on Friday when Mrs. Paul Hendricks, wife of Rep. Hendricks, entertained for wives of representatives and Salem friends at her attractive Fairmount Hill home . . . Mrs. Bruce Spaulding, radiant in a black silk dress with fuchsia bodice and sequin trim, greeted guests at the door . . . Mrs. Hendricks received informally in a becoming pastel green and black silk jersey dress . . . A yellow cloth on the tea table to match the yellow and green color scheme of her dining room . . . A centerpiece of daffodils and narcissus . . . Catching our eye was the large round yellow coffee table in the knotty pine den . . . and a spring bouquet of white and pink carnations, iris and heather in the center.

A few spring outfits we spied . . . Mrs. Roy H. Simmons smart in a brown tulle with white pin stripe and a brown straw sailor with ruffling edging the tiny trim . . . Mrs. James Linn in a brown and grey checked suit with brown skirt and a fetching brown felt sailor with white trim . . . Mrs. Eugene Marsh, who poured earlier in the afternoon, wearing a becoming brown silk dress and wide brimmed brown straw hat . . . Noted Mrs. Taylor Hawkins' pert green felt hat . . . Mrs. Hall S. Lusk was down from Portland for the tea as was Mrs. Lowell Kern, who assisted the hostess.

CLIMAXING the week, as for our social activities, was the buffet supper our managing editor and his wife, the Wendell Webbs, were hosts Friday night . . . Guests were the legislative press and their wives . . . A grand party and a beautiful buffet table laden with turkey and all the trimmings . . . Mrs. Asahel Bush and Mrs. and Mrs. William Franzwa assisted the hosts informally . . . Right at home in the kitchen was Ralph Watson, with his sleeves rolled up, assisting the hostess.

SUNDAY AT HOME when Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Devers, sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wiedmer entertained for their son and daughter, Sergeant and Mrs. Joseph M. Devers, jr. (Helen Wiedmer) . . . Joe recently returned from the Mediterranean theatre of war . . . Helen looked radiant in a becoming bright green silk dress with red camelia pinned to her shoulder . . . The couple will leave early in March for South Carolina, where he will report at Columbia for duty . . . The hostesses both wore attractive black afternoon dresses and their husbands enjoyed greeting people about the rooms.

Two who assisted . . . Mrs. Robert Cannon wearing a brown silk crepe gown with bodice of blush pink and off the face brown hat . . . Mrs. Robert DeArmond in a pretty icicle blue silk dress . . . Pouring while we were there . . . Mrs. C. W. Parker wearing a chic grey sailor in black and her daughter, Patty, who served, in grey wool with silver nailhead trim . . . Mrs. Excel Kay's spring hat was of aqua with a cluster of violets in back . . . and Mrs. W. Connell Dyer wearing black and her black hat trimmed with veiling enhanced with pink dots . . . Mrs. Meredith Huggins' pretty sailor of turquoise straw with a large pink flower perched right on top . . .

Friends were welcoming Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Linden, who are home from a several months sojourn in Arizona . . . Mrs. Homer H. Smith, jr. in a white wool dress and clever white sailor with brown trim . . . Mrs. Harry H. Weinstein striking in a sierra brown ensemble with leopard jacket and robin's egg blue felt hat . . . Senator and Mrs. Joel Booth from Lebanon were among the callers . . . Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Mudd . . . still elated about hearing their son, Lt. William Mudd, over the army hour broadcast from France the week before.

Tolstoy, Russian Novelist, Dies

LONDON, Feb. 24—(AP)—Moscow reported "sorrowfully" last night death of Alexei Tolstoy, 62-year-old Russian author. U. S. military doctors recently donated penicillin for Tolstoy's treatment.

The writer, a distant relative of the famed Count Leo Tolstoy, was author of "Peter the Great" acclaimed as perhaps the greatest Russian historical novel since the revolution.

WOODBURN — Outstanding event was the 38th annual Martha Washington tea given as a book benefit by the Woodburn Woman's club and held at the Woodburn library club rooms Thursday afternoon.

The musical program was presented under the direction of Mrs. O. L. Withers, program chairman. The program included a piano solo by Donna Dean, two vocal solos by Mrs. Neal Butterfield; a vocal solo by Dick Moon; a group of seven songs in duet on the marimba, by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thompson; a vocal solo by Mrs. J. Melvin Moche; a vocal solo group by Mrs. Clara Chamberlain; and a piano number played by Miss Grace Banker.

Mrs. Howard Magnuson was accompanist for the soloists; Mrs. Alfred Moon played for her son. Tea was served from a lace covered table centered by a fruited cherry tree growing from Uncle Sam's hat in patriotic colors with small red and blue hatches crossed on the brim. Tall tapers in red white and blue surrounded the centerpiece.

At the tea urns were Mrs. Wallace Jones and Mrs. Arista Nendel for the first period; Mrs. J. Melvin Ringo and Mrs. John Muir, for the second period.

Camp Fire girls assisted the serving committee. Mrs. H. McClain supervised the girls; Mrs. Henry Beaman was general chairman.

Representatives of the Junior Women's club, Mrs. Carl Magnuson, and Mrs. Clyde Smith, presided at a candy table, netting about $25.00. Altogether, there will be a fund of about $80.00 for new children's books and non-fiction.

Question and Answer Night Plan of DAV

An opportunity to ask questions and obtain information pertaining to discharged veterans of World War II will be given residents of Salem Thursday, March 1st, at the VFW Hall, 8 p. m., when Salem Chapter No. 6, Disabled American Veterans, will hold a "question and answer" night.

The open house was announced Saturday by William Croghan, commander of the DAV chapter. Croghan said National Service Officer Lile Dailey from Portland and A. L. Brewster, DAV local service officer, will be on hand to answer questions.

"We cordially invite men and women discharged from the service and families of disabled men, whether their fighting men have been discharged from the service or not," Croghan said, "to attend our 'question and answer' night."

"Many questions arise that can easily be answered by our Service Officers. We shall be happy to clear up any problems that may be confronting discharged service men or their families."

The DAV commander said important points discharged veterans returning to Salem should know, will be discussed at the meeting. "The DAV," he said, "is officially chartered by congress and recognized by all branches of the government as one of the organizations to which veterans can apply for free information in filing claims, without cost or obligation."

Proceeding the meeting the auxiliary will join the chapter at 6:30 for a no-host dinner. Members are to take their own table service.

SALEM ELECTRIC
Salem, Ore.
February 22, 1945

Portland General Electric Co.
237 North Liberty Street
Salem, Oregon
Attention W. M. Hamilton
Dear Bill:

With interest, I followed your campaign in the recent City of Salem special election, wherein the Portland General Electric Co. spent a lot of time and money to get the people of Salem to vote on the question as to whether or not the Salem Common Council should grant the Salem Electric a franchise.

I knew that you, as manager of the Portland General Electric Co in this locality, would put pressure on all your employees and friends to vote the way you wanted them to so do, but I didn't think that you would put out the propaganda that I, as manager of the Salem Electric, was the owner of the Salem Electric, when you positively knew that I only have one share of stock in the Salem Electric and have only one vote as a member only.

I have no influence over the Board of Directors and am not a member of the Board of Directors.

I am employed the same as you are and can be discharged today the same as you can be. The only benefit I would receive should the Salem Electric expand would be the pleasure of seeing good citizens of Salem receive their own power at a much lower cost than your company could possibly furnish them power.

I do hope that you will rectify this propaganda that you have put out, and I will aid you by publishing this letter.

'Calendar Capades,' High School Civic Club Carnival, Scheduled for Next Friday

By Marilyn Archibald
"Calendar Capades," eleventh annual Civic club carnival, is to be presented this Friday night, March 2, in the high school auditorium at 7:15.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Gertrude Smith, adviser for the Civic club, and Jack Ricketts, president, it is expected to be one of the outstanding performances ever presented by the organization.

In 1935 the Civic club, comprised entirely by seniors, started the traditional event with a carnival in the old high school gym. The idea of the concessions in the gym continued until 1939 when Bill Filmore, now a member of the U. S. navy at sea, introduced plans for a stage show plus princesses and a queen.

The carnival's motive has been to create leadership and find the talents of the high school students. This year profits will go to the Nelson Memorial fund, which was started last year in memory of J. C. Nelson, long time principal of Salem high school.

Cities' Share Of Road Fund Apportioned

An apportionment of $747,314.08 constituting the cities' share of the Oregon highway fund for 1944, was announced Saturday by Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell, jr.

The cities' share is based on five per cent of the money credited to the state highway fund for the year, plus an additional sum of $1,852.78 which was apportioned to certain cities and towns in 1943, but was not paid because those towns were found to be no longer operating as incorporated areas.

The highway fund for the year totaled $14,909,225.97. Five per cent of this fund amounts to $745,461.30 and this sum, plus the $1,852.78 amounts to the $747,314.08 which was apportioned by the secretary of state.

City apportionments are based on population and the individual amounts ranged from $284,575.80 for Portland, to $64.30 for Lone-rock.

DENTAL HEALTH IS ESSENTIAL FOR MEN IN ESSENTIAL WORK

War effort aided by physical condition of those who turn out the guns, ships, and aircraft.

Dr. Painless Parker Says:

"Today industry recognizes what the army recognizes" - that dental care is a vital factor in helping to maintain physical fitness. But whether you have a war job or not, it is well to consult a dentist at frequent intervals, to see that teeth are kept in repair."

Dental Plates

Replace missing teeth with dentures that assist you in eating the vigorous foods required for health and energy.

Pay For Plates As You Wear Them

More natural effects achieved with New Transparent Plates

Why not enjoy the lifelike resemblance afforded by lighter, more realistic plates? New style plates, made with the improved material all dentists recommend for adaptability and faithful reproduction, have unfading natural color and permanent natural form. Because they are lighter in weight, they are more easily handled and have more grace in design. Their soft surface lustre makes them difficult to detect. They will not shrink or warp.

Translucent Teeth Enhance Dental Plates

Science has perfected artificial teeth that absorb and reflect light as do natural ones. Their translucency adds a live, vital appearance to dentures. You can select these teeth in the shade, shape and size of your present teeth for your new plates.

Skill And Energy Both Needed In Nation's Production Centers

The experience and skill of trained workers are nullified by ailing teeth. Focal infection has led to a variety of serious illnesses and has led to layoffs and diminished energy. It was estimated that the annual loss to industry in peace time through accidents and illness was estimated in money at millions of dollars a year. But there is no way of calculating this loss in the present emergency. If your teeth require examination and repair, visit a dentist before you incur the risks incident to disease.
