"Holly" Jackson Says:

Sterling Silver "your name" barettes just arrived. We sell them in pairs but, just for you, we'll "split a pair." There are several different shapes and when we get your name on one of the more stream-line models we feel sure you are going to like it.

My wife says I should explain whether I'm talking about the ladies who read the ad. or about the barettes... darned if I know how these women always outguess us—now I'm almost afraid to ask you to come in and see these new arrivals, now I'm all mixed up—darn these suspicious women.

for every American soldier killed in action . . .

3 are wounded and may not get the care they should

The long list of war dead does not make pleasant reading . . . Nor does the situation in regard to our wounded. For they are coming back to America at the rate of 1,000 a day! And unless something is done, these men may not get enough proper care.

Their need is so great. But the help, to date, has been so shamefully small. At the moment, each Army nurse in this country is handling more than twice as many beds as any person is efficiently able to handle.

The country is doing everything in its power to recruit more nurses. But at the same time a vast effort must be made to stretch the professional usefulness of every single Army nurse on duty in the United States. This is why Wacs are needed to help—now.

More than 8,000 Wacs are needed immediately in Army General Hospitals in the United States to help Army doctors and nurses in their tremendous task. Previous experience is not necessary. Any woman aged 20 to 49 inclusive—with two years of high school (or the equivalent schooling) may apply. If you meet enlistment requirements, you will be given basic training before being sent to a recognized Army Medical Technician School. After six weeks of technical training, you will be assigned to an Army hospital, where you will have four weeks of additional on-the-job-training.

Wacs who complete training satisfactorily become Technicians Fifth Grade right away. Hospital companies, comprising medical, surgical and other technicians, and clerical workers are now being organized by the Women's Army Corps to provide this urgently needed help.

Join your local WAC Hospital Unit. One is being organized in this community now. Get your friends to enlist with you, serve together in the same Army Hospitals.

Never in history was a woman's war job so clearly defined. So obvious . . . so urgent.

While you hesitate . . . the terrible list grows and grows.

Our wounded are waiting for you, so patiently, so bravely, so sure you'll come.

TODAY . . . APPLY AT YOUR NEAREST U. S. ARMY RECRUITING STATION OR MAIL THIS COUPON.
