Grand Old Man of Hazel Green Dies After 70 Years Residence

HAZEL GREEN, April 2—Nelson P. Williamson, grand old man of this community where he had resided for 70 years, died today at his home here. Funeral services will be held Wednesday from Clough-Barrick chapel at 3 p.m.

Born July 10, 1875 in Lullen, Denmark Mr. Williamson came to the United States in 1874 settling first in Wisconsin and after five months to Oregon. He settled in the Waldo hills community and later bought the first of what became his 240 acre farm at the time of his death.

His wife, Matilda Williamson, died in 1925. Surviving are eight children, Marie Hendershot of Stayton; Mildred Bartruff of Everett, Wash.; Rosalie French, and Bertha Ligon of Portland; Hilda Woelke and Carolyn Williamson, Victor Williamson, and William Williamson all of Salem; three grandchildren, Eleanor Burns of Portland, Jeanette Bartruff, Everett; and Alois Williamson of Salem.

He was a member of the Lutheran church. The Rev. W. H. Cooksey of the Lallah Center church will have charge of the funeral service and burial will be made in City View cemetery.

Mr. Williamson was a member of the Hazel Green school board at least three different times, the first of which was in 1892, local residents recall. He served again about 1908 and again about 1914 when the present school house was being built.

His son, Victor, had taken over management of the farm which included considerable of the choice beaver dam soil in the Lake Lallah district. His daughter, Miss Carolyn Williamson, had been his housekeeper since the death of Mrs. Williamson in 1929.

Hole-in-One By McLaughlin

Another member for the exclusive Hole-in-One club. This one I. L. McLaughlin, one of the regular par masters at Salem golf course. Playing with Jack Nash and Bud Waterman Sunday afternoon, McLaughlin hoisted his tee shot on the 157-yard No. 15 hole, regarded as a toughie on the course, into the cup for an ace. It was the first dodo ever made by McLaughlin in many years of golfing. According to Course Owner Eric Kay, the hole-in-one is only the second on the No. 15 hole in the past 15 years.
