gain any ground on the Giants who moved back into the win side shading Chicago, 6-5, in 10 innings.

Nap Reyes provided two homers and two singles to bat home four of the Giant scores but a three-run homer by Catcher Dewey Williams of the Cubs in the ninth almost upset the applecart. Reyes bounced back with his second circuit clout of the day to tie in the home half and Phil Weintraub's single following Mel Ott's one-baser scored pinch runner Leon Treadway with the decisive tally.

Bill Voiselle, relieving Rookie Bill Emerich with two on and one out in the ninth, tossed up the Golf Tourney home run ball to Williams but received credit for his sixth successive pitching success.

Melvin Bosser, another returning war veterans with only class D experience, was the winning hurl- A. R.
