Haugens Move To New Home

SCIO—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haugen are settled in their new home, the former Roy Lambert property. The Lamberts moved to a small farm near Providence, purchased from Paul Rorer. Lambert is employed by the Roaring River Logging company.

Baccalaureate sermon for Scio high school graduating class is to be delivered by the Rev. C. Albert Vernon of Scio Church of Christ on Sunday evening, May 27.

Mrs. P. W. Schruk left a few days ago for Baker, Ore., to be present at graduation of their older daughter, Beverly, from Baker high school. Beverly has made her home during the current school year with the family of Schruk's sister, Mrs. Taylor substituted for Mrs. Schruk in Scio grade school during the latter's absence.

Lincoln Commencement To Be Held Thursday

LINCOLN—Graduation exercises will be held at the school house Thursday at 8 p.m. Members of the class are Martha Williams, Raymond Baker and John Rodriguez.

Ramon Mendehall of Zena school will also receive his diploma. Diplomas will be presented by Frank B. Bennett, superintendent of Salem school; invocation by Rev. Merrill H. Fox, and song by Grace Ashford.

Gardening Today

When the rain stops, gardening work will be rushed because much of that which should already have been done couldn't be.

Pruning of the earlier flower shrubs should be done. This includes forsythia, the first of the spruce's, cutting the seed pods withered flowers from the lilacs and dead branches from trees.

Prunings should be divided and replanted. Some of those which develop large growths should be divided every other year. If division is done now, the plants will grow well during the summer and give good bloom next spring again. Too late division makes for poorer blooming the following spring.

A thorough soaking of the roots of peony plants with semen will help control the disease which prevents the flower buds from opening.

Old clumps of delphiniums will benefit from a feeding of a balanced fertilizer. Then place a mulch around them. Hoeing about the delphiniums injures the roots. This is also true of the primroses. After the primroses have been replanted, feed them with a balanced fertilizer and mulch them. You will find you get much better plants. Peat moss is a very good mulch for the primroses.

Tulips should not be lifted until after the foliage begins to yellow. This is usually after June 1. Excess plants carried on show that tulip bulbs, lifted on May 1 and replanted in fall, produced no flowers, while those lifted on May 15 and replanted in fall produced about 20 per cent bloom. Those lifted following the natural withering of the foliage will bloom normally.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS:
Mrs. W. D. asks if Portland will have a rose show this year.

Answer: Yes, the dates have been set for June 5 and 6. It is being sponsored by the Portland Rose society, which now has more than 1000 members. I am quite sure there will be none of the old-time parades, although I have seen nothing to this effect in print as yet.

Mrs. M.B.B. asks what she shall do with her Easter lily. Will it bloom again and should it be forced?

Answer: It should not be forced for at least two years. Under normal conditions, it is best to plant the Easter lily out of doors and let it become a garden lily. When the blooms have faded, cut them off, lift the bulb in the soil out of the pot and plant out-of-doors in rich, well-drained soil. Do not add manure to the soil near the bulb. Leaf mold is very beneficial. The plant may bloom again this autumn, but it is best to remove the buds and allow it to bloom next spring. Frequently the two bloomings in one season will finish the bulb.

Mrs. C.C.J., Salem, writes that her Madonna lilies "rot off," and wants to know what to do to them.

Answer: Dig some Bordeaux into the top soil. Do not dig deeply. Rather, stir it lightly in. Then dust with sulphur dust or spray

'Having Wonderful Crime,' Gay and Baffling Mystery, Opens Run Today at Grand

The hilarious adventures of three people on a honeymoon, who became complicated with a murder mystery, are told in RKO Radio's "Having Wonderful Crime," opening today at the Grand and starring Pat O'Brien, George Murphy and Carole Landis, each of whom plays a character made famous by detective story author Craig Rice.

O'Brien has the role of Malone, attorney and amateur sleuth who is always being landed in trouble with the police by fun-loving Helene Justus (Miss Landis) and her bridegroom (Murphy).

As the story opens, Helene, about to start on her honeymoon, has just pulled another stunt which makes the town too hot to hold Malone, and he insists upon accompanying the newlyweds on their honeymoon. However, it's a case of jumping from the frying pan into the fire, for the troubles they thought they had left behind catch up with them and the honeymoon becomes just one darned thing after another.

There are two murders, their lives are threatened, and there are weird happenings with a magicians' trunk and a disappearing body. Malone, as well as being odd man on the honeymoon, has some very trying experiences before he unravels the web of mystery. Although he's ready to strangle Helene before he gets through, he restrains himself, and eventually finds happiness on his own account with an eye-filling damsel he meets at the honeymoon lodge.

The three stars make the most of the diverting situations and amusing dialogue, and receive good support from Lenore Aubert, who is featured; Richard Martin, Anje Berens, George Zucco, Charles Brown, William "Wee Willie" Davis and Blanche Ring, as well as a bevy of bathing beauties provide a glamor diversion during the man hunt.

Many Guests Entertained

LINCOLN—Guests at local homes recently were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Robinson of Los Angeles, who spent his 72-hour leave with the R. J. Meissner family here. Dale Robinson, motor machinist's mate 3/c, is stationed at Port Angeles and the Robinsons were neighbors when the Meissners lived in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Williams had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Williams and Edward, Mrs. Raymond Dillard, and Sandra Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams and Roger and the immediate family, Albert, C. A. Alfred, Martha, Virginia, Franklin and Le Roy Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mackey and Wauvonia of Corvallis were Mother's day guests of Mrs. Mackey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Yenckel.

Many Oak Point Farms Cleared of Tree Stumps

OAK POINT—Several farmers in this community are improving their property by clearing some land of brush, stumps and trees. E. R. Hitchman is doing the work with a caterpillar and bulldozer. He is now on the Clarence Primus farm and has cleared land for Charles Evans, Edward Harnsberger, Dr. Knott, C. C. Comstock and Ted Muller.

There are eight daily papers appearing in Palestine in the Hebrew language.

Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn are co-starring for the third time in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new laugh hit, "Without Love," starting today at the Elsinore theatre. The top-notch cast includes Lucille Ball, Keenan Wynn, Carl Esmond and Patricia Morrison.

Wallace Beery tries to persuade Tom Drake to enter the lighter-than-air service of the U.S. navy, unaware that the young man would like nothing better but is physically handicapped. A scene from M-G-M's "This Man's Navy," now at the Capitol theatre.

'Without Love,' Mirthful Comedy With Strong Cast Opens Today at Elsinore

An outstanding cast, headed by co-stars Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn and including such tried-and-true comedy experts as Lucille Ball, Keenan Wynn and Felix Bressart, has been brought together by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to provide one of the most mirthful movies of the season in "Without Love," which opens today at the Elsinore theatre.

Based on the play by Philip Barry, author of "The Philadelphia Story," the new attraction is the story of a scientist-inventor (Tracy) and a girl (Miss Hepburn) both of whom shun love. Each has different reasons for rejecting love, and both are determined to stay away from it.

Employed by the government to perfect a new high-altitude oxygen mask for fliers, Tracy sets up his workshop in the basement of Miss Hepburn's Washington home, hiring out as caretaker. Soon Tracy finds that she can be of great assistance as he puzzles over his invention . . . and the upshot is a startling proposal by Miss Hepburn that they marry "without love."

Hilarious is the word for the resulting sequence of events, which involve Miss Ball as Miss Hepburn's business manager; Keenan Wynn as her no-tolerance cousin; Bressart as a science professor, and Carl Esmond, Patricia Morrison, among others.

The co-stars follow the pace they set in the highly successful "Woman of the Year" in which they were teamed. Harold Bucquet has directed with an eye to the grand comedy Donald Ogden Stewart scripted from the Barry play.

by the child welfare committee. This includes sponsoring the Girl Scout troop; holding a preschool clinic; gifts to the Children's Farm Home and Doernbecher's hospital children; 4H cub assistance and scholarship donation.

Pratum-Macleay Plans Meeting

PRATUM—The Pratum-Macleay home extension unit will hold its last meeting of the year Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. H. H. Paget of the Willard district. Wilma deVries, chairman, will preside at the business meeting when the nominating committee reports. The committee includes Mrs. A. L. Bowen, Mrs. Tom Burton and Mrs. Theodore Olson.

Marjorie Tye, home demonstration agent for Marion county, will present the discussion on "Why We Behave as We Do."

Miss deVries and Mrs. M. F. Keparth represented the unit at the annual Program Planning day held in Salem Monday when the following topics were selected for next year's home extension program in Marion county: 1, Sugar Saving Desserts; 2, Buffet Meals and Hospitality; 3, Home Recreation; 4, Improving Sewing Technique; 5, Conserve With the Scrap Bag; 6, Housework, the Healthful Way; and 7, File It Now.
