Miss Jane Huston Bride Of Mr. Fitzsimons at Church Ceremony

The wedding march from Lohengrin has been played for generations of radiant brides but none was more lovely than Miss Jane Olive Huston who was married Friday night to

Mr. Maurice Craig Fitzsimons, United States coast guard. It was at the First Presbyterian church altar that the bride received her golden circlet from Mr. Fitzsimons. The time was 8 o'clock and the Reverend Chester W. Hamblin read the ceremony before a large gathering of friends and relatives. The church was beautifully decorated with all white bouquets of gladioluses and daisies arranged at the altar interspersed with woodwardia fern and tall white tapers in candelabras. Bouquets of white flowers were arranged in each window.

Lighting the tapers were Miss Harriet Hawkins and Miss Virginia Covert. They wore blue and pink flowered organdy dresses. Miss Mary Elizabeth Kells, who arrived this week from New York City, sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" before the bridal party entered and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony. Mrs. Ralph Dobbs played the organ accompaniments and wedding marches.

Bride in White Satin Mr. Huston escorted his tall, brunette daughter down the candlelighted aisle. She was striking in her shimmering white satin gown, simply designed with a gored skirt which fell into a court train. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, a little shirring and long sleeves with points over the wrists. Tiny satin buttons enhanced the bodice in back and on the sleeves.

Her train length veil of bridal illusion, made with an over veil which was fingertip length, cascaded from a ruffle of old lace, which had belonged to her grandmother. For "something borrowed" she wore her sister, Harriet's, gold and emerald lavier. She carried a sheaf of white calla lillies.

Sisters Are Attendants Immediately preceding the bride was her eldest sister, Miss Anne Huston, who attended as honor maid. Before her walked the bride's other two sisters, Miss Harriet and Miss Virginia Huston, as bridesmaids, and Miss Patricia Fitzsimons, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaid.

The girls wore identical bouffant frocks of net and lace. The net skirts were very full and the shirred lace bodices were fashioned with cap sleeves, sweetheart necklines and peplums in back. Anne wore dusty rose, while Harriet and Virginia were in orchid, and Patricia in apple blossom pink. Their lace and net elbow length mits matched their dresses. Their matching shoulder length veils fell from ruffled Juliet caps of net. Anne's cap was of lace like her dress. The attendants all carried bouquets of stock in shades of pink, orchid and American Beauty tied with ribbons the color of their gowns. Father Is Best Man

Miss PicKell Now Mrs. Holford

The First Christian churc., was the setting for the marriage of Miss Alda May PicKell, daughter of Mrs. E. D. PicKell, and Mr. Ronald D. Holford, son of Mrs. Grace Maring, on Friday night at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. W. H. Lyman, pastor of the Court Street Christian church, performed the ceremony.

The altar was decorated with baskets of garden flowers, palms and white tapers in candelabra. Lighting the candles were Miss Mildred Hettwer and Mrs. Neil Peart, who wore yellow gowns. Mr. Ray Armstrong sang "Always" and "God Gave Me You." Mrs. Glenn Fraser was the or-

Mr. V. D. Leek gave his niece in marriage. Of white satin and lace was the bridal gown. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a lace voke and the full skirt which ended in a train was enhanced with lace panels. The long sleeves ended in points over the wrists and the neckline was sweetheart style. She wore a fingertip length tulle veil. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, pink rosebuds and blue forget-me-nots.

Attend the Bride Miss Doris Jeane Leek was the maid of honor and wore a pink chiffon gown and carried a colonial bouquet of sweet peas. Mrs. Paul Nott and Miss Vera Mitchell were bridesmaids. They wore pink and blue chiffon frocks and carried sweet pea bouquets. Flower girls were Charlene Wright, niece of the groom, and Darleen PicKell, sister of the bride. They also wore blue and pink chiffon dresses.

Lt. Roe Crabtree, cousin of the groom, stood with Mr. Holford. Ushers were Mr. Robert Lyman and Mr. Julian Kinler.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. PicKell wore a pink lace and chiffon gown with sweet pea and rose bud corsage. Mrs. Maring attended her son's marriage in a black lace gown. Her flowers were rosebuds and sweet Reception Follows

The newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the church parlors. Mrs. Charles Wright, sister of the groom, cut the bride's cake. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Basil Zell and Mrs. Lee Wolfe. Mrs. Edgar Sawyer served the groom's cake. Serving were the Misses Mabel and Dorothy Zimmerman, Zana Hales and Shirley Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. E. C. Salter and Mrs. A. P. Derscheid, aunts of the moon, the bride donned a smart bride. Miss Lola Koerner passed the guest book and Mrs. Evelyn Haymond and Miss Helen Austin were in charge of the gift table. During the reception Mrs. Glenn Fraser played piano selection and Mrs. Paul Nott sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and Pinned to the shoulder of her "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Ronald Sheets played a group of numbers on his vibra-harp.

When the couple left on their wedding trip to the coast the bride wore a powder blue suit with rose blouse and white acssories. Her corsage was of gardenias and pink roses. The couple will reside in Salem at 1384 Waller street.
