Salem Failed To Do Share For Buildings

Although Salem will receive greater benefits than any other section of the state it was the only city in Oregon that failed to raise its quota of the fund for promotion of the $10,000,000 state building program approved by the voters at the recent special election.

The campaign fund was raised by the United Citizens committee. Announcement of Salem's failure to raise its share of the fund was announced Thursday by chamber of commerce officials. Only $1500 of Salem's quota of $4000 was subscribed, but chamber directors, who said they would survey other communities, doubted whether it was up to the chamber to undertake the campaign, previously a non-chamber activity. Only $1200 remains to be raised to meet statewide expenditures during the campaign.

Chinese Push Past Liuchow For Yungfu

CHUNGKING, July 12 -(AP) Chinese troops pushing beyond Liuchow — recovered U.S. bomber base which was turned into a mammoth booby trap by the retreating Japanese — are driving toward Yungfu, 30 miles from Kweilin, site of another abandoned air field, the Chinese command said today.

The "most elaborate mining and booby trapping of the whole eight years of war in China" was found at Liuchow's air field, indicating that "the further the Japanese retreat toward their chosen major battle position the rougher the pursuit will become," an Associated Press dispatch from Liuchow declared.

Chinese headquarters meanwhile announced a setback on the south China coast where the Japanese captured Tinpak, 170 miles southwest of Canton. The Chinese also said enemy forces at Dong Dang just inside the Indo-China border had made repeated attacks against Chinese frontier positions 75 miles northeast of Hanoi, but asserted these thrusts were repulsed.

Farmer Found Dead In Barn Thursday

SILVERTON — Whittmore E. Davis, aged about 51, was found dead Thursday morning at 8:30 in his barn. Discovery of the body was made by Ed Bisanz, a neighbor, who had gone to the Davis barn to ask him to do the Bisanz chores Thursday night. Davis was lying on the barn floor with a cow chain in his hand. The chain was still attached to a cow standing in the stall. Death was attributed to natural causes and it was believed that Davis was overcome after he had milked the cow and just as he had planned to lead her from the barn.

Davis had come here about six weeks ago and bought the small acreage on Hobart road where he had been living alone. Relatives are not known here.

Funeral arrangements in charge of Ekman's will be made as soon as relatives or friends can be contacted.

De Marigny was charged with murdering his father-in-law and was acquitted at a Nassau, Bahamas, trial.

Harold G. Christie, chief crown witness in the trial, recently conferred with De Marigny in Montreal, Aiken said, and as a result "Mr. De Marigny contacted me as his solicitor and immediately left for New York and subsequently the Bahamas last week."

Neuner Ruled On Clam Law 2 Months Ago

In May of this year Attorney General George Neuner advised the state fish commission that a 1937 law under which a number of homebound motorists were arrested by state police last Sunday for having coastal razor clams in their possession should not be interpreted to permit punishment or confiscation.

While Neuner's opinion was being unearthed, state police remained clammed up on the subject of clams from Clatsop and Tillamook counties. Their superintendent, Charles P. Pray, admitting he had received a letter from a Seaside official asking what action he would take in the future, said he had not replied.

He declared neither his department nor any other law enforcement agency had authority to set aside or fail to enforce a law enacted by the legislature, but declined to comment on the portion of the 1937 statute, which Neuner had said "involves an absurdity and injustice which should be avoided . . . "

B-17 Fortress Climbs to New World Record

SEATTLE, July 12.-(AP)-A Boeing B-17 Flying Fortress called "the shadow" has climbed to 43,499 feet, an altitude its makers said they believed was a new world record for four-engined aircraft.

The shadow, Boeing Aircraft company announced tonight, made the record ascent yesterday in a regular test flight over Seattle.

The plane, so-named because it is painted jet black on half its fuselage for test purposes, was piloted by James Fraser and carried four other engineers on a flight that lasted more than four hours. The shadow was above the 40,000-foot level two hours, 21 minutes.

Boeing said that based on records of the national aeronautics association, the shadow set a new national altitude record for all types of airplanes, eclipsing the 43,166-foot mark established in June 1930 at Anacostia, D. C.

The NAA lists as an international record the 56,046-foot altitude reached over Italy in October 1938 in an Italian plane, but this was not a four-engined aircraft.
