War End Finds Food Shortage Still Unsolved

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—(AP)—Just because the war is over, don't expect to go out and get all the beef steaks and sugar you want. There still is a world-wide shortage of food—a shortage this country has promised to help meet.

The removal from rationing of meats, butter, margarine, other food, fats and oils and sugar may be many months in coming. In the case of sugar and fats and oils (including butter and margarine), lifting of rationing may not be possible before mid-1946. It may be possible to take some cuts and grades of beef off the ration list next winter, after heavy fall and winter marketings of cattle and hogs reach slaughter pens.

Government food officials emphasized that the end of the war brought little change in the world food situation. Acute shortages exist, they explained, in war-torn areas of Europe and the Pacific. The surrender of Japan did permit the army to announce a 20 per cent reduction in its food requirements, but the bulk of this reduction will be diverted to foreign relief and lend-lease shipments.

Reynolds and Mrs. Madeline Berger of Salem, and Mrs. Jeanne Weber, who returned to Switzerland some time ago, and 17 grandchildren. Interment was in the City View cemetery.

Morse Suggests Tax Policy

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 15—(AP)—Senator Wayne L. Morse declared today the federal administration must adopt a taxation policy which will cause "frozen savings" to be invested toward producing new wealth and new jobs. He said full employment was the most important domestic task in the post-war period the nation has worked and fought for and that if we are to preserve democracy we must achieve full employment under our system of private enterprise.

Morse added that the government must be ready with a program of job producing projects that create new national wealth.

Commission to Study Coming Unemployment

State unemployment compensation commission officials announced Wednesday that they were studying problems incident to the potential unemployment claims load, which is expected to increase materially with the readjustment to peacetime pursuits.

With covered employment already reduced about 30,000 from a year ago and 45,000 from the peak in June, 1943, the problem is reduced mainly to the disposition of 65,000 workers remaining in ship and aircraft plants, plus a few sub-contractors in other manufacturing groups, commission members said.

Also complicating the problem are nearly 20,000 veterans who already have returned to Oregon. Commission members said the estimated 125,000 service men and women from Oregon recently have been demobilized at the rate of 2500 a month and that this rate probably would be accelerated with Japan's surrender.

The commission said claims under the GI bill of rights have increased only slightly since the surrender of Germany.

Continued claims for July were 414, compared with 395 in June and 338 in April. Initial claims from veterans were 96 as compared with 87 the previous month and 61 in April.

The unemployment compensation commission reserve fund now aggregates in excess of $65,000,000.

The Man You Seldom See

Up in the locomotive cab of your train sits a man you seldom see. Perhaps you never catch a glimpse of him although he is responsible for taking you to your destination.

Union Pacific, like other railroads, has certain exacting requirements for an engineer. The man who pilots a passenger or freight locomotive has served years as a fireman... knows the function of a locomotive's many parts... is thoroughly familiar with operating rules... has passed a rigid physical examination and been periodically re-examined. In short, he is well qualified, both mentally and physically, to handle his job.

Care in selecting and training employes has been a big factor in establishing the enviable Union Pacific record for safe and dependable transportation over the Strategic Middle Route, uniting the East with the mid-West and the Pacific Coast.

Another "man you seldom see" is many miles away, doing his part to speed total victory. Let's bring him home—and quickly. You can help by buying bonds—saving them—and then buying more.
