Somewhere in the Pacific—(Delayed)—Because Marine Sergeant Robert H. Kralcoek, 28, (above) of Salem, excelled in operating a half track before his own front lines on Iwo Jima, locating Jap positions and knocking them out, he was recently awarded the bronze star medal. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kralcoek of 690 South 18th street, Salem.

McCHORD FIELD, Wash.—(Special)—Capt. Russell J. Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Christensen of 364 N. 12th st., Salem, Ore., is now stationed at McChord Field, a fourth air force base, where he is assistant base operations officer. Captain Christensen, who flew 124 missions on his tour of duty overseas, has been awarded the air medal with ten oak-leaf clusters and the Asiatic-Pacific theatre ribbon with six battle stars.

Captain Christensen is married to the former Margery H. Mitchell of Sydney, Australia.

Nine to 12 pounds of raw material are required to make one pound of aluminum.

Spectacular Welcome Is Given V-Day

The spontaneous welcome of V-day aboard a carrier in the south Pacific was "the most spectacular sight I have ever seen," Lt. (jg) Lawrence L. Epping writes in a graphic account of the historic announcement.

The lieutenant, one of four navy sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Epping of 1925 Maple ave., Salem, formerly of Mt. Angel, is attached to the carrier Kula Gulf.

His letter follows: "Wonderful news was just heard officially. The war is over. We heard it when we were all attending the movie on the hangar deck last night. Everyone rose with a thunderous roar. We all went up on the flight deck and I saw the most spectacular sight that I have ever seen or ever hope to see as long as I live—which looks to be to an old man now.

"There are hundreds of ships in the harbor and all have from 5 to 25 spot lights, giant ones to pick ships out five miles away. These were all criss-crossing in a jet black sky. Every-colored flares were filling the sky completely; parachute flares, bursting rockets, smoke trails, every conceivable kind. Everyone was yelling, crying, singing, praying—it affected everyone a little differently, I guess, but it is something that will always be clear in my mind. I shall never forget it. If I could only describe one tenth of it, it would sound unbelievable.

"This is something to thank God for, so will you take $25 out of my next allotment and send it somewhere for Thanksgiving?"

Dorris Jeanne Cutler, U.S. C/N, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Jack L. Cutler of 2270 Maple ave., is home on a 21-day furlough from the Providence hospital. She will report to St. Vincent's hospital later.

Lawrence Epping

Part of her vacation will be spent on the coast with her parents.

"Notice his wristwatch—looks very similar to the one I got for graduation!"

Parish Hails Debt Payment

St. Vincent dePaul parish in north Salem observed Sunday as a day of prayer in thanksgiving for the conclusion of the war and in celebration of final payments on the parochial school debt.

A field mass was celebrated at the state fairgrounds by Archbishop Edward D. Howard and a picnic dinner was served later on the grounds.

Among the group of clergy in attendance was Father Robert Neugebauer, former pastor of St. Vincent's. He is now stationed at Verboort in Washington county. Other pastors present included Rev. James Maxwell of St. Paul, Rev. T. J. Bernards, pastor of St. Joseph's in Salem, and Rev. Norman Fritz, his assistant.

Deacon and sub deacon of the mass were Rev. George O'Keefe, and Rev. Louis Radakowski, pastor and assistant pastor of St. Vincent dePaul. Edmond Blicen, Lawrence Weisner and David Suing of Salem, students at Mt. Angel seminary.

SAN FRANCISCO—(Special)—Marine Capt. Daniel McLellan, 25, of 1009 Chemeketa st., Salem, Ore., has won commendation for work through three campaigns in the Pacific. He led infantry units at Cape Gloucester and Peleliu, and at the latter directed construction of a bridge under heavy shelling. At Okinawa he supervised building 15 miles of highway and 20 miles of supply road under Japanese fire. He is a graduate of OSC and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. McLellan, Salem. His father is an engineer in the state engineer's office.

Bruce Gordon of U.S. navy air corps, who has been attending the navy technical training school at Memphis, Tenn., is spending the next two weeks in Salem. He will accompany his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gordon, sr., and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Smith, Route 7, for a week's vacation at Oregon and Washington beaches.

OTTUMWA, Iowa—Flight instructor at the Naval Air station here will be transferred to the naval air station, Dallas, Texas, this week for the flight instructors' refresher course, including Lt. (jg) Sam M. Whitney, UNSR, of Dayton, Ore., who has been a flight instructor at Ottumwa since May 1944. He has a bachelor of science degree from the Oregon State college, received in June 1941. Prior to entering the Navy he worked for the Bonneville Power Administration, McMinnville, Ore., clearing a right of way for the power transmission line.

HEADQUARTERS P A NAMA CANAL DEPARTMENT—S/Sgt. Kenneth W. Boswell of Indiana has been promoted to technical sergeant. He is a crew chief for a fighter squadron stationed in Panama. He is married to the former Ruby M. Pennington of 892

N. Winter st., Salem, Ore., and prior to his entrance into the armed forces, he was engaged in agricultural work. The sergeant arrived in Panama June 22, 1944.
