Speaking of prep coaches and hopping around, new Coos Bay boss Tony Frajols will probably deck out with the "Trotter" system in his debut season at the Bay. At least it seems likely since Tony charted all Trotter's Willamette plays before he checked out for Coos Bay
Sunday. The Trotter system is really a modification of the Georgia Buildogs routine used in the Frankie Sinkwich-Charley Trippi era, dual tailbacks lined up behind unbalanced line in single wing. Coach Duke charted the system while helping to work the Georgia-UCLA Rose Bowl game two years ago, liked it and attached it to his teachings at WU.

Give Fraiota a couple good backs of the Floyd Simmons-Don Rochen species and a stout line, and he'll make it work. But then with such ingredients what football system wouldn't work! It isn't the system that wins football games-'tis the players who make the sys-

NEW YORK, Sept. 1-(P)-The National league pennant race between the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals became even more close tonight at St. Louis Hogan Holding where the Cards again beat the leaders 3-2. The win narrowed Chicago's lead to only two games.

Meanwhile the American league chase was just as warm as Detroit nipped Cleveland, 5-4, to maintain a game and a half lead over the Washington Senators. The Nats finally overcame their New York Yankee jinx and whitewashed Joe McCarthy's men, 3-0, putting an end to a six-game winning streak for the Yankees over the Senators in the pastweek. The Yanks fell to five games behind Detroit. The St. Louis Browns broke

'Blazin' Ben' Three Swings Up on Nelson

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 1-(AP) The little larruper from Texas, former Lt. Ben Hogan, clung tenaclously to his lead in the Nashville open golf tournament today but he looked over his shoulder and saw an old rival, Byron Nelson, closing in fast.

Pint-sized Hogan nailed an fourunder-par 67 to his first round 64 for a halfway total of 131, eleven under regulation figures. Just three swings back at 134 and finishing strong came the unquenchable Nelson, who followed a scrambling 70 with a blazing 64, seven under par- today.

In one of the closest fairway fights in recent weeks, three tournament-tough pros followed Nelson by a stroke. Knotted at 135 were Herman Barron, of White Plains, NY, Jimmy Hines, of Chicago, and Sammy Snead, of Hot the five-under-par 32. Springs, Va.
