Early Educational Venture Recalled by Citizens

Sublimity Parish Will Be Host Next Week To Valley Guests When School Is Dedicated

The new high school building at Sublimity, which will be dedicated September 9. The building on the site of one of the first colleges in Oregon, is also on the domain once ruled by Milton Wright, father of the Wright brothers of airplane fame.

SUBLIMITY, Sept. 1—The new eight room St. Boniface high school will be dedicated here at special ceremonies Sunday, Sept. 9. The new building is the latest unit in a Catholic parish plant dating back to 1879. Rev. Peter Stampf, Benedictine from Mt. Angel, was sent to take charge of the parish which he visited once a month.

The present parish has 160 families and more than 250 pupils registered in the parochial grade and high school. The high school was established in 1938 and is a fully accredited four-year high school. The new building, completed free of debt, will be dedicated by Archbishop Edward D. Howard next week.

A field mass will be celebrated, weather permitting, and later the women of the parish will serve a homemade sausage dinner. The school plant will be completed by the grade school building erected in 1913.

Sublimity has special significance as an educational center since it was the site of one of the first colleges in Oregon, erected by the United Brethren church in 1856. The existence of this college was brief, but its glory remains. Sublimity is also famed as the home of Milton Wright, father of the Wright brothers. Milton Wright was the principal of the pioneer educational institution of the United Brethren church.

The Sisters of St. Mary of Oregon staff the grade and high school, assisted by Rev. Joseph Schbring, pastor of St. Boniface and Rev. Ethelbert Mal, a Salva-torian priest from Jordan and two lay teachers. School will open Sept. 17.

Besides Archbishop Howard, special guests at the dedication ceremonies will be Rt. Rev. Thomas Meier, OSB, and Rt. Rev. J. Robertson, SJ, Benedictine abbot from Mt. Angel and representative of Oregon Jesuit province, respectively.

Mrs. Curry Is Scio Visitor

SCIO — Guest from Portland for the weekend at the Melvin Sweet home in south Scio will be Mrs. George Curry. The Currys and the Sweets were neighbors a few years ago when the men were employed in highway construction in western and central Oregon. Curry joined the navy and is now at Okinawa.

Having recently completed summer course at Washington State university, Seattle, June Cyrus plans to resume work at Oregon State college, Corvallis, as junior, in mid-September. Miss Cyrus, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. M. B. Cyrus, was reared at Scio and completed high school here.

September meeting of Scio city council will be held Sept. 4, as the regular meeting night falls on Labor day, a legal holiday in this state. Newly-appointed Councilman Ike Burton is expected to qualify as successor to D. W. Johnston, recently moved to Toledo.

Silverton Airport Rebuilt; Alfred Adams Now Instructor

SILVERTON—An airport is being rebuilt at Silverton. Alfred L. Adams, veteran flier and instructor, has purchased 22.74 acres of the old airport in Bethany district from John J. Moe who acquired the property when the airport was abandoned a few years ago.

The ground has been surveyed, staked out and disked preliminary to rehabilitation of the field. Drainage tile laid by the WFA while the city owned the airport, will be utilized in providing a solid runway. The air strip will be 300 feet wide and 3400 feet long, north and south.

Two county graders, a carryall and a road roller have been promised for early use on the field. The air strip will be seeded with alta fescue.

A hangar to accommodate five planes is planned. Lack of quality aviation hardware may hold up the hangar temporarily.

The old airport was operated by the city from 1926 to 1940, and had a government beacon and landing lights.

Adams holds one of the first commercial airmen's certificates issued in Oregon and has an instructor's rating issued in 1940, in conjunction with war training service teaching college boys to fly through civil aeronautics authority supervision.

The first New York newspaper, the New York Gazette, was published by William Bradford in 1725.

furniture is one thing young Mrs. Jones declines to hunt. Instead, this afternoon she will go to Wards, and see if today's shipments have brought in anything of interest. She may find what she's looking for. Or, she may have to come back. Or she may tell us her needs, and we'll notify her when her selection comes in.

But she is not going to traipse all over town wearing out her shoes and her nerves. She knows that furniture is being made. She knows that Wards is getting its share.

Above all, she knows what she buys at Wards will be style-right, dependable, and priced to save her money. Doesn't Mrs. Jones' idea sound sensible? You too should...
