Co-op Market

1288 State Street

The produce display has changed color in the Co-op Market. Now it is pears, tomatoes, Italian and sweet prunes and spear melons. Some can-ning corn is still available. Grapes are just beginning to come in.

Remember that in the Co-op Market you can place orders for fruit and produce to be available the day you want it and get it fresh from the field.

You can help yourself and the farmers who supply the Co-op Market by placing your orders early.

orders early.

The Co-op Market still needs more eggs. Eggs don't stay around long enough to spoil or even so stale after they get to
