

Records Reveal Top German Leaders Responsible in 1938 Bloody Jew-Baiting Program

By DANIEL DE LUCE
BERLIN, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Hidden records of the Nazi party's own highest secret tribunal flatly assert that the party's top leadership was responsible for the bloody program of 1938.

The official documents recovered here disclosed, after seven years, the black truth of the massacre of Jews.
Reporting to Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering after the court investigated the deaths of 108 Jews wantonly slain in a November night of murder, rape, arson and pillage, Judge Ludwig Schneider, who presided over most of the program hearings, wrote:

"Public opinion to the last man knows that political actions like that of Nov. 9 are organized and carried out by the party, whether this is admitted or not."
Goebbels Speaks
He said Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels told a party leader who telephoned him at 2 a.m. Nov. 10 about the killing of a Polish Jew that there was "no cause for excitement over the death of one dead Jew" since "in the next few days there would be thousands."
"At this time, most of the deaths could still have been prevented by an additional directive," Schneider said.
"Since this was not done, the final result must have been desired."

Ordered Demonstrations
The party leadership had issued orders for "spontaneous" anti-Jewish demonstrations, using the killing of a German diplomat in Paris by a Jew as a pretext.

Party members who committed the excesses were carrying out "the recognized will of the leadership," Schneider wrote. He added:

"The responsibility for command lies with those who command, not with those who carry it out."

Records of the party court revealed that it investigated the deaths of 108 Jews, of both sexes, their ages ranging from 16 to 82. Of the slayers, all party members, 16 faced the court, sitting behind closed doors at Munich.

Market Tops 8-Year Highs

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Further strength of rails and selected industrial lifted the stock market averages to another eight-year peak today although many leaders displayed considerable rising antipathy.

A better than expected car loadings summary revived the carriers in the fourth hour and heartened steels, motors, rubbers, coppers, air transports and assorted blue chips. Transfers totaled 1,500,000 shares compared with 1,890,000 the day before.

Persistent hopes for wage settlements again aided bullish forces. In addition, idle funds continued to seek income payers and inflation psychology remained as an anti-liquidating argument.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up 4 of a point at 70.3, highest mark since April 22, 1937. The industrials attained a top since Aug. 25, 1937.

Pearl Harbor Ambassador Claims 'Clear Conscience'

TOKYO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Tokyo's last ambassador to Washington declared today military "fire eaters" struck Pearl Harbor without his knowledge and he was unaware the bombs already had fallen when he delivered Japan's note to Secretary of State Hull on that fateful Sunday.

"When I returned to the embassy I was informed of developments by staff members who got it from the American radio," Adm. Mikisaburo Nomura said in an interview.

"I was very embarrassed and worried, but it was beyond my power to prevent it. War is deplorable, but my conscience, may I say, is clear."

Worked to Avoid War
The man who presented Japan's reply to the American note for continued peace in the orient on that Dec. 7, 1941, asserted he had urged his nation's leaders to be cautious and had worked to avoid war.

(Hull angrily told Nomura and Japan's special envoy Saburo Kurusu that morning: "In all of my 50 years of public service I have never seen a document that was more crowded with infamous falsehoods and distortions on a scale so huge that I never imagined until today that any government on this planet was capable of uttering them.")

No 'Double Play'
"I didn't play any double play in dealing with Secretary Hull," said the gray-haired, tall retired Nomura in an exclusive interview at his bomb-refuge home near Enzan, 50 miles southwest of Tokyo.

"The war was against my wishes; I knew America's great industrial capacity and ability to produce, but it was decided in Tokyo." The 67-year old retired admiral, who often had served his country in the United States and speaks

Late Rally in Wheat Boosts Grain Market

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Wheat futures gained on late rallies today after profit-taking had cut prices around a cent a bushel in early dealings. Rye and oats advanced after early setbacks to close mixed, and corn was fractionally lower.

Main factors in the early wheat losses were profit-taking and other selling influenced by the announcement that Canada was offering wheat for export at prices below domestic levels.

Late bullish influences, however, included reports that Argentina had temporarily suspended exports of 5,500,000 bushels of wheat to England and Brazil due to transportation shortages, and that China was asking the UNRRA for allocation of $945,000,000 for relief.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 higher than the previous finish, September $1.70 1/2-3/4, corn was down 1/4 to 1/4 December -1.16 1/4-1/2, oats were 1/4 higher to 1/4 lower, September $1.15 1/2-3/4, rye was 1/4 down to 1/4 up, September -1.55 1/4-1/2, and barley was unchanged to 1/4 lower, September $1.18 1/4.
