

County V-Loan Goal Passed, E-Bonds Slow

Marion county is nearing its overall goal in the Victory Loan, because of corporation purchases, being counted now, but E bond sales are far behind in proportion.

Total sales roomed past the two-million dollar mark, Wednesday, with $2,192,193.75 being counted at the close of bond headquarters last evening—against the quota of $2,690,000.

But E bonds amounted only to $223,695.25 to date with a quota of $1,150,000 to meet before the official deadline Saturday evening.

"As far as the grand total is concerned, Marion county will go over its goal, but it is going to take plenty of work to get the E-bond figure up to its quota. Never have we had any worry over the overall total, but it certainly is a matter of pride to every Marion county citizen to see that the E-bond quota is completed by Saturday," said Douglas R. Yeater, county war finance chairman, in appealing to the public to buy more E bonds.

Bond headquarters are urging that Salem and Marion county make Friday the biggest day yet in E-bond purchases and thus make Pearl Harbor day anniversary a memorable observance.

The fertilizer is being distributed by the extension division of the Oregon State college.

Ex-Paratrooper's Triplet Babes Take to Air Nazis' Plans

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 5.—Sgt. Richard F. O'Brien, discharged after combat duty with 503d paratroopers, faced the problem of getting his triplets, 19 weeks old, home to Dufur, Ore., from the Ft. Benning hospital. Naturally, he thought of planes. Here they are as the plane reached Minneapolis today: Mrs. O'Brien (left) and Jerry; O'Brien and Jo Anne; O'Brien's sister, Miss Carol and Jackie; NWA Stewardess Terry MacArthur, who helped out. OPA Granted Right to Press Price Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The ninth circuit court of appeals today reversed an Oregon district court decision and ruled that the OPA could legally prosecute a logging operator charged with selling a tractor at an over-ceiling price.

The circuit court ordered the case, on the calendar as Chester Bowles, OPA administrator, vs. L. G. Trullinger, remanded to the Oregon district court "for further proceedings consistent with this opinion."

Trullinger, of Hood River and The Dalles, was charged with selling a tractor to Earl Gilmore, another logger, for $462 over the ceiling price. Judge Claude McCulloch, United States district court judge of the district of Oregon at Portland, ruled that Bowles could not legally bring an action for statutory damages, and dismissed the case.

HILLSBORO, Ore., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Fourteen year old Clarence G. Eastman, Beaverton, route 3, was killed on highway 6 three miles east of here tonight when struck by a stolen automobile state police were chasing.

State patrolman Vernon Byer reported four Portland boys were in the car, but two fled across a field when police halted the car after it struck the bicycle ridden by the victim.

In recognition of the award the company will entertain the drivers and shop employees at a banquet Thursday night.

The award is made for safe driving of vehicles on city streets during the year ended June 30, 1945. First place went to a West Virginia city.

There are 31 drivers on the company's payroll in Salem.

PORTLAND, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Unemployment in Oregon increased 30 per cent between October 12 and November 16, labor-management leaders were told here last night.

Lee C. Stoll, U.S. employment service state director, said the November 16 total was 40,837, a rise from 31,433 the previous month.

The committee urged launching of Portland's million-dollar sewage project and approved asking the state's congressional delegation to support speeding public roads and home construction programs.

Triplets Land In Portland on Way to Dufur

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5.—(AP)—The "airborne O'Briens"—Pop, the ex-paratrooper sergeant, the now famed triplets born at an army paratrooper school hospital and the young mother—arrived at Portland airport today en route to their home at Dufur, Ore.

The triplets, Jackie, Jeanne and Jerry, are the first set of triplets born in an army hospital and believed the first to have made a transcontinental air flight.

They were born eight weeks ago to Mr. and Mrs. Richard O'Brien at Fort Benning, Ga., where the father received his discharge a few days ago.

The paratrooper admitted on arrival today two combat jumps in New Guinea and four years in service was nothing like the thrills of being father to triplets.

"I'm the proudest guy in the country and the biggest nervous wreck," O'Brien noted, juggling babies and bottles.

Industry May Apply For 33% Wage Boosts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The government, in an action which may have a bearing on some labor disputes, tonight told industry it could apply for price increases to offset wage boosts up to 33 per cent above the levels of January, 1941.

Previously wage increases up to 30 per cent above that date could be used as a basis for asking price rises.

Nazis' Plans For Neighbors' Conquest Told

NUERNBERG, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The British prosecution presented evidence before the international military tribunal today showing that as early as May, 1938, the Germans had envisioned the conquest of six neighboring countries.

This evidence, contained in a secret document written by Hermann Goering's air ministry, was one of the surprises produced by the British as they pushed their case against the 20 top Nazi defendants.

Tracing the nazi's efforts to prepare for war while trying to "lull" the world with assurances of peace, the British prosecution also introduced evidence that the Germans had violated 69 treaties, agreements and assurances since 1933.

Col. Mervyn Griffith-Jones, assistant British prosecutor, disclosed the German plans for conquest when he produced a document, dated May 2, 1938, from the Luftwaffe files, which showed the air ministry had prepared a map and study which assumed that by 1942 Germany would have air bases in Estonia, Lithuania, Latvia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Austria, the latter already swallowed by the Anschluss.

Goering, a defendant in the trial, shook his head in negation as the document was read into the record.

Group Seeks To Delay Dam

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Opposition to further construction of river dams was voiced today at a special session of the Columbia Basin Fisheries Development association here today.

Delay in construction of a proposed $2,000,000 dam on the Santiam river was urged "until comprehensive studies affecting fisheries, flood control and reclamation shall have been completed."

A brief outlining objections to river dams will be sent to Oregon senators for distribution to other members of congress. The brief asserts that there is no need for dams for reclamation as "there is already enough land for the agricultural economy of the region," and that a surplus of power exists from present dams.

Transamerica Buys Bank Control

EUGENE, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Transamerica corporation, San Francisco, has bought controlling stock of the First National bank here, Richard Shore Smith, who formerly held control, announced today.

Lone Conchie Continues Fast

WALDFORT, Ore., Dec. 5.—(AP)—A lone conscientious objector continued a hunger strike today, his 11 companions having drifted back to the mess hall.

Lloyd Danzeisen, only one of those who ceased eating Nov. 20 to remain at his fast, said, "in penitence for having collaborated with conscription in America, I am starving my body."

The hunger strikers said discharges of conscientious objectors were too slow and arbitrary transfers were made from the camp here to other assignments.

French Balk Nears Crisis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Secretary of States Byrnes said today that the United States, Britain and Russia might cut without France to centralize transportation and currency in their three occupation zones of Germany.

Byrnes told his news conference he had informed Paris that the U.S. might suggest such a course if French representatives on the allied council in Berlin continue to block action agreed upon by the big three powers at Potsdam.

The secretary said he was entirely in accord with French proposals that the Ruhr and Rhineland matters be investigated but that he was entirely opposed to any government's blocking all council action until it got specifically what it wanted.

Machinery Set In Motion on New Labor Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A bill to carry out President Truman's recommendations for "fact-finding" and "cooling-off" in industrial disputes was introduced in the house today amid new expressions of labor's displeasure.

It was offered in the name of Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the labor committee and referred immediately to that group. Rep. Ramspeck (D-Ga.), acting chairman during Mrs. Norton's illness, said hearings would be expedited and the house would be asked to act before Christmas as Mr. Truman requested.

William Green, president of the A.F.L., reiterated his opposition to the plan after a White House visit. He told reporters, however, that he thought the president was "sincere" and disagreed with the view of Philip Murray, CIO president, that the proposal was designed "to weaken and ultimately destroy labor union organization."

SAWMILLS PENALIZED
PORTLAND, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Penalties ranging from $250 to $4000 in income tax disallowances against Oregon lumber firms were reported today by the WLB west coast lumber commission.

John D. Galey, commission chairman, said the findings were based on wage law violations. The sums listed as penalties may not be used in figuring income taxes.

There are about 5000 golf courses in the United States now, compared with 200 in 1914.
