Slip Covers Made By Women

They just completed quite a project out at Liberty on Tuesday and seven proud women took home newly covered chairs. Mrs. Myrtle Carter, home demonstration agent by large from Corvallis, assisted by Miss Marjorie Tye, Marion county home demonstration agent completed a course of five lessons on slip covers, with women of the Liberty district as pupils.

Seven women brought chairs and material for covering them, each woman had at least one helper. Some of the chairs needed preliminary work on springs and stuffing; some of the covers were strictly the slip-type while others were semi-permanently upholstered.

Materials were good looking, mostly of large figured cottons, one was a heavy piece of maroon material which was edged with ecru brush fringe.

Work was well done, the women seemed very particular about the work and when I saw the chairs, just before they were completed, final touches were being put on to produce professional looking work.
