

Churchill Seeks Fraternal U. S. Alliance, Not Military Treaty

Discussing relations between the United States and Great Britain, the wartime leader said: "I have never asked for an Anglo-American military alliance or a treaty. I asked for fraternal association, free voluntary fraternal association. I have no doubt that it will come to pass, as surely as the sun will rise tomorrow. But you do not need a treaty to express the natural affinities and friendships which arise in a fraternal association. On the other hand, it would be wrong that the fact should be concealed or ignored."

Churchill declared "nothing can prevent our nations drawing ever closer to one another and nothing can obscure the fact in their harmonious companionship lies the man hope of a world instrument for maintaining peace on earth and goodwill to all men."

Churchill also said: "The only question which in my opinion is open is whether the necessary harmony of thought and action between the American and British people will be reached in a sufficiently plain and clear manner and in good time to prevent a new world struggle or whether it will come about, as it has come before, only in the course of that struggle."

"I do not believe that war is inevitable or imminent. I do not believe that the rulers of Russia wish for war at the present time."

Speaking of the "widespread sympathy throughout the English-speaking world for the people of Russia," Churchill said:

"If the soviet government does not take advantage of this sentiment, if on the contrary they discourage it, responsibility will be entirely theirs."

Hundreds of pickets, including a large bloc of CIO members, demonstrated outside the Waldorf-Astoria hotel where Churchill spoke.

Lehman Says Voluntary Rationing Inadequate

ATLANTIC CITY, March 15.—(AP)—Voluntary food rationing which President Truman has requested of the United States will prove inadequate to prevent the starvation which now threatens various areas of the world, Herbert H. Lehman, director general of the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration, said at a news conference today.

"More formal efforts may have to be made," he said, but declined to say whether they would include a return to rationing.

Canneries May Seek Intervention by Truman

WASHINGTON, March 15.—(AP)—California congressmen will ask the personal intervention of President Truman unless a CIO-AFL jurisdictional dispute affecting California is settled this week end. Rep. Lea (D-Calif.) told a reporter today that he will seek a personal interview with the president for a committee representing the entire California house delegation as a "last ditch effort" to assure processing of the California fresh fruit and vegetable crops.

Cosmopolitan Flavor Marks Concert by Jennie Tourel

By Maxine Buren

Jennie Tourel in concert last night at the Salem high school auditorium brought the Community Concert association's winter series to a climactic conclusion. Her's was a program with decidedly a cosmopolitan flavor. There were numbers by Russian, English, French, Spanish, Italian and Americans. Sung in Russian, Spanish, French and English—with a bit of auld Irish in an encore.

Miss Tourel, short, dark and with a voice of wide range, first sang three compositions by Italians of the 17th and 18th century, "Per Pietra" by Stradella, "Se ru m'ami" by Pergolesi and "Vuel la Zinfarella" by Paisiello. She followed with the rondo from "La Cenerentola" by Rossini, which displayed her wide range and fluency of tone.

The third group, sung also in French, included "Apres un Reve" by Faure, "Mandoline" by Debussy, "Romance de L' Etoile" by Chabrier, "Si mes vers avaient des ailes" (If My Poetry Had Wings) by Hahn and Habanera from "Carmen."

Russian Group

Then came a Russian group which ranged from the deeply moving "Cense Thy Singing Maiden Fair" by Rachmaninoff, the dashing "Hopak" by Moussorgsky and "Lullaby" by Gretchaninoff—all doubly effective because sung in Russian—and two rhythmic Spanish numbers by Nin, "Pano Murciano" and "El Vito." These she sang in Spanish.

Her final group was in strong contrast to the others. "I Wonder as I Wander," an Appalachian carol, is well known here and much loved, she sang it with beautiful simplicity. "The Doves" a melodious little number was by Chanler and the final "I Hate Music" by Leonard Bernstein proved to be "Five Kid Songs" in which Miss Tourel displayed a pleasing and unexpected humor.

Encores Included

The encores "Comin' Through the Rye," "My Hero" and finally "Think On Me" were received with pleasure by the audience.

Miss Tourel's voice had a certain velvety quality that makes it particularly pleasing. Her diction is excellent, tones round and range especially wide. The low notes are a little more round and full than the higher, but she seems at home anywhere in the scale.

Though foyer critics differed on some points, it seemed the general opinion that the singer was excellent and her concert thrilling.

Free education in Australia is provided in state primary, secondary and technical schools.
