Academy Award Winner, 'Lost Weekend' at Elsinore

Last year's Academy Award winner, "The Lost Weekend," one of the most talked-about motion pictures ever made, is now playing at the Elsinore theatre. The picture co-stars Ray Milland and Jane Wyman.

The story concerns the shocking experiences of a sensitive, intelligent man during his five days' abandonment to an insatiable hunger for liquor. The devotion of his sweetheart, the patient understanding of his brother, cannot keep him from going off the deep end into an abyss never yet interpreted on the screen. It is not until he sinks to the depths of degradation that he finds himself. By then, according to reports, you will have lived through a picture experience so exciting, you will never forget it.

Ray Milland plays Don Birnam, the story's bedevilled hero, and Jane Wyman is seen as Helen, his sweetheart. For both Milland and Miss Wyman their roles in "The Lost Weekend" represent a debut into the dramatic field of acting, as each has heretofore specialized in romantic comedy and other light mediums.

Others in the Charles Brackett-Billy Wilder film are Phillip Terry, Howard da Silva, Doris Dowling, Frank Faylen.

HOLLYWOOD

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD — Veronica Lake's blonde hair was piled and pinned carelessly on top of her head, and truant wisps hung in several directions. I am sorry to report that Veronica Lake at home was about as glamorous, probably, as her own maid on a day off.

She didn't look or act like a movie star, and, somehow, I liked that. She didn't turn on a lot of gushing personality. She was just a slimy shapely young woman at ease in slacks and pullover plaid sweater, a gal with prominent ears, cool blue eyes, an erect head and a peculiar, walking-on-ice gait.

Veronica lives in a two-story Beverly Hills home which, she thinks, has 12 rooms. It is white, tile-roofed and Spanish, and its front gate, opening into a walled garden, could stand a coat of paint.

She and her husband, Director Andre de Toth, aren't worrying about that, though. They're bidding on a several-acre lot and plan to build a bigger home in the Hollywood hills. Veronica said, leading the way upstairs to meet her son. A stray thread clung to one of her hips.

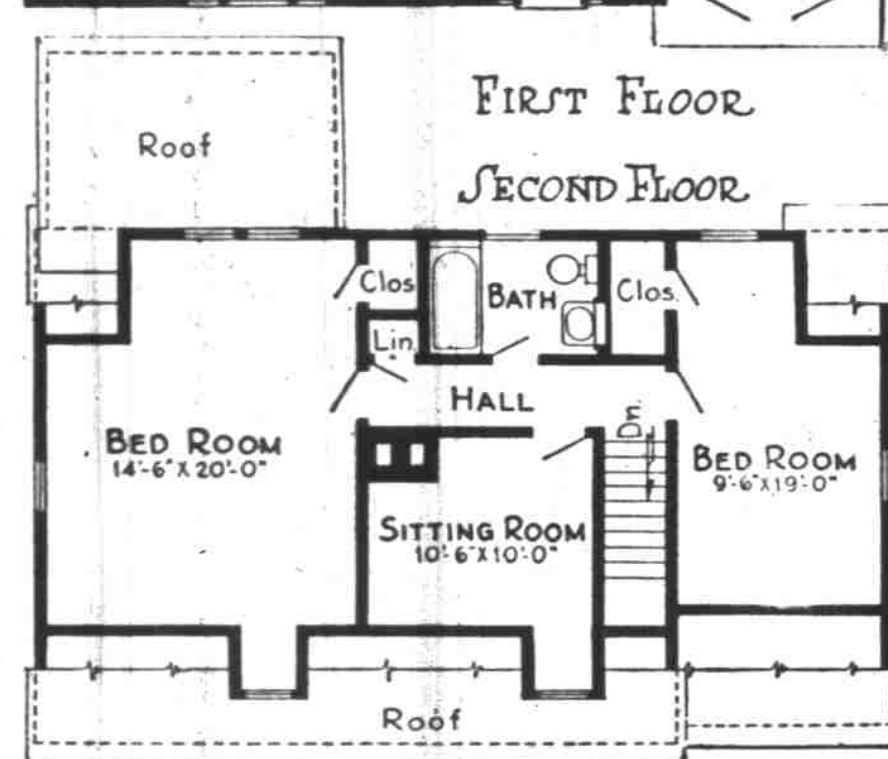

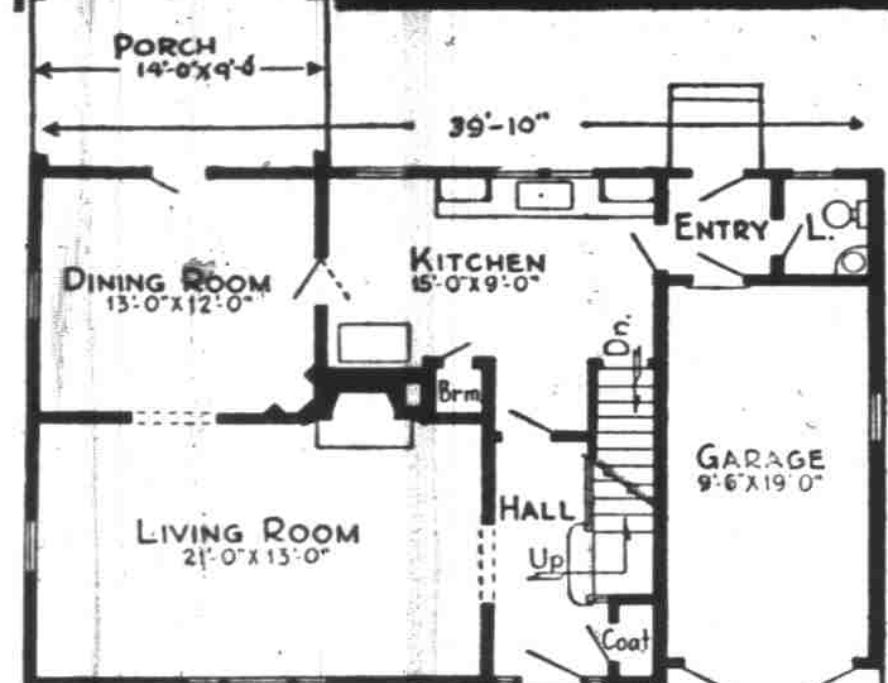

On a tarpapered balcony roof, three-month-old Andre Anthony Michael de Toth III ("Mike for short") lay in a bassinest exposed to the California sun. A plump, competent looking nurse stood over him. Mike raised his wobbly head and appraised me skeptically. "He already has a mind of his own," Veronica said.

Elaine, 4½, was away at a private kindergarten. She's Veronica's child by her marriage to John DeLue, former film studio art director and now an army major.

A knotty pine den is the owners' favorite room. We sank into its gigantic soft leather chairs, Veronica with her legs pulled up in front of her. Gleaming copper pots ornament the long fireplace mantel, antique firearms the wall above.

Veronica likes to accompany her husband on fishing and hunting trips into the high Sierras. She calls him Bandi (pronounced bonydi; "it's a Hungarian nickname for Andrew; he was born in Hungary in a little place famous for its onions") He calls her Ronny, as do her friends. The de Toths pronounce their name "de Toath."

Gale Storm, Phil Regan Top Grand Bill

"Sunbonnet Sue," a picture of the Gay Nineties era in New York, steeped in the atmosphere of the fabled Bowery, is now at the Grand theatre.

Stars of the production are Gale Storm, who sings in her father's saloon on the famous street, and Phil Regan, a brash young Irishman who is a candidate for alderman. Their romantic adventures are the moving force in a charming story of a past generation, before life became even more complicated with the perfection of such inventions as the horseless carriage and the moving picture. Other members of the cast are George Cleveland, Alan Mowbray, Minna Gombell, Charles D. Brown, Edna M. Holland and Raymond Hatton.

Popular songs of the era are featured, mainly such perennially popular numbers by the famous Gus Edwards as "School Days" and "By the Light of the Silvery Moon." Miss Storm and Regan are the principal singers, and there are also tunes by entertainers in a Bowery concert hall, vying for the attention of the audience with can-can dancers and the attractions of the adjacent bar.

Irene Dunne In 'Over 21' Now at Capitol

All that glitters IS gold when it comes to one of the special coiffures Irene Dunne wears in one scene in Columbia Pictures' "Over 21," which currently stars her with Alexander Knox and Charles Coburn at the Capitol theatre.

Real gold dust—bona fide pay dirt—was sprinkled over her hair for the episode. Serving like miniature mirrors, the particles reflected the light and imparted a halo-like appearance to her tresses.

Unobtainable since the start of the war, the gold dust was some left over from one of Miss Dunne's earlier Columbia pictures, "The Awful Truth."

OVER 600 MILLION FILLINGS NEEDED IN U. S. TEETH--

Twenty-two million decayed teeth show up in the 8 to 18 year age-group every year.

Dr. Painless Parker Says:

"So much discomfort and illness is directly traceable to mouth infection that you should waste no time in going about having teeth put in repair. You may do this by arranging with Accepted Credit. It permits you to budget dental expense and you can begin work now and pay later."

You must know future health depends upon dental care

Natural physical resistance is weakened when poison finds its way into the system and the mouth has been called the greatest menagerie of germs. Teeth become abscessed: the mouth becomes infected. Unless dental health is maintained strength and energy are impaired. If you require dental plates, bridgework, fillings, inlays, crowns, or extractions do not delay your visit to the dentist. Pay as you prefer, in weekly or monthly sums, with Accepted Credit for dental service.

Widespread need for dental attention among people of the nation

Figures based on public surveys indicate that 130 million dental chair hours would be required to meet the country's dental needs. Make your own terms, within reason, for dental service.

There is no excuse for not replacing poor or missing teeth with plates

Unless restorations are made when teeth are lost, cheeks become hollow, muscles sag and become flabby and your profile is distorted. Arrange to get new plates with ACCEPTED CREDIT. Pay as you are paid.

Realistic effects achieved by plates
For faithful reproduction, select dental plates made with the improved material recommended by all dentists. Plates are lighter in weight, with a soft surface lustre and tested balance.

Translucent teeth that resemble natural teeth

Have dental plates set with translucent teeth for a live, more vital effect. These artificial teeth absorb and reflect light as do your natural teeth. They can be obtained in the size, shade and shape of human teeth. It is a scientific fact that teeth take on a denser hue with the years and you can select translucent teeth, with a color guide, to correspond to these shades. Translucent teeth are so lifelike they are difficult to detect.
