"Big Doorstep" Under Production

Daily rehearsals are now being held for the senior class play, "The Great Big Doorstep," to be given April 26, at the high school auditorium at 8:15 p. m. Reserved seat tickets go on sale next Tuesday at the high school.

The cast directed by Miss Margaret Burroughs, is headed by the Commodore and Mrs. Crochet, a southern couple with a Cajun dialect. Jim Baer plays the part of the commodore and the wife is played by Jean Mitchell.

The Crochets live in Grass Margin, Louisiana, in a broken-down shack on which they have nailed an elaborate doorstep, salvaged from the Mississippi river. The Commodore spends most of his time loafing on the doorstep, although he claims to be a "ditching engineer," his glorified term for a ditch digger. Mrs. Crochet, the Commodore's wife, is the backbone of the family and the exact opposite of her husband. They have six children all of whom have their numerous problems to be solved, mainly by Mrs. Crochet.

The stage setting is under the supervision of D. A. Ramsdell, stagecraft adviser, and the set has been designed by Dale Cleaver. The setting includes the shack, which has been built by the Stagecraft club out of old lumber from a barn. A huge canvas backdrop, producing an atmosphere of a swamp, has been sewed together by the sewing classes of the high school. Students from the art department are painting the curtain with a suitable swampland scene.

Miss Lillian Davis, senior class adviser, is supervising the entire production.

Federation Meeting

SeMI-annual spring meeting of the Marion county Federation of Women's clubs will be held in Stayton at the Woman's clubhouse on Friday, April 28. Delegates will register at 9:30 a. m., with the session opening at ten o'clock.

The program will consist of committee reports and resumes of the year's activities by each club president. The main address will be given by David James Ferguson, DD, recently an army chaplain and an Oregon delegate to the United National conference in San Francisco. W. B. Schnebly, superintendent of the Children's Farm Home will give a talk and show pictures. Music will be provided by a group of the Stayton high school.

Mrs. Donald E. Sheythe of the Mill City Woman's club is president of the Marion county Federation and will preside. Election of officers will be held during the closing session.

Third Dance for Social Club

Salem's social organization for newcomers and returning veterans, the community social and recreation club, has announced plans for a gay May dance Friday night in the VFW hall. Claude Bird's orchestra will play for the dancing from 8:30 to midnight. An intermission dance specialty will feature several young Salem couples who are members of a local square dance group.

Committee chairmen who have planned the event include Mrs. John Yeasley, decorations; Mrs. Floyd McNeil, refreshments; Mrs. A. J. Walker, hospitality; Elinor Danielson, prizes, and Betty Dotson, publicity.

Richard E. Pickell will be master of ceremonies.

Sponsorship of the club has become a joint project of the young adult committee of the local YWCA and the veterans committee of the YMCA. Tickets for the May dance are being handled at the YM and YW.

Chapter B.Q. of PEO sisterhood will meet Monday at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Roy Harland, 1649 State street.
