Governor Snell Asks Balanced Federal Budget

The principle that a balanced federal budget is essential was endorsed Saturday by Gov. Earl Snell, who joined with 29 other governors in the stand.

"In view of the large national debt a balanced budget should be brought about at the earliest possible date," Governor Snell said. He declared that this should not be an ill-considered program but should be directed toward eliminating needless activities and establishing a general program of economy. An ill-advised program, Governor Snell said, might jeopardize essential projects, services and obligations.

Governor Snell warned against inflationary conditions which, he averred, would affect the economy of all states, their political subdivisions and the people. He asked that Oregon residents support its congressional delegation in the balanced budget program.

End of State Classification Survey Due

Classification survey of state government positions, under the state civil service law of the 1945 legislature, is progressing satisfactorily and will be completed within the next three weeks, William G. Colman, director, reported Saturday.

The state workers are being classified largely on the basis of job responsibility.

A survey also is in progress dealing with wages paid in private industry which will be used as a factor in determining a uniform salary and wage plan for state employees. Questionnaires distributed among business establishments several weeks ago to obtain this information are now being returned. More than 1000 already have been received.

Salem Active Club to Meet

Salem's Active club, revived last week after suspension during the war years, will conduct its first regular meeting since the war at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday at Nohlgren's restaurant.

Reorganization of the young men's service club was decided at a Friday evening meeting presided over by Joseph B. Felton, former local president and former district governor of the organization. Felton is temporary chairman and Harvey Michaels temporary secretary until permanent officers are elected.

Club leaders point out that Active International is the oldest American service club for young men. Its membership now covers many cities of the northwest, western Canada and Hawaii.

Joy and happiness of the greatest depth fill our hearts this Easter as we commemorate the glorious, awe-inspiring Resurrection, that magnificent moment when peoples all over the world looked to the promise of a better future.
Again we must reawaken to the new hope that lies ahead. Let us lift our spirits towards benevolence and lasting peace. Let us remember the recent, bitter struggle and spurn forever the base.
Let us strive for a better life through
His way of "goodness and mercy."
