

'Differences in Emphasis' Held Healthy for GOP by Sen. Morse

PORTLAND, Ore., April 27 (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) here for a Young Republican Federation of Oregon meeting, declared today that "differences in emphasis" are healthy for the republican party.

He told an interviewer that the word "unity" is being misused by "ultra-conservative republicans" who try to give the impression that any republican who disagrees with them should not belong to the same party.

"I think it is essential to the vitality of the party that we have all points of view represented in the party," Morse declared. "It is our duty as republicans to point out the choices and let the voters themselves determine what is good policy."

Voters of both parties want much the same objectives, he stated, but differ largely in ways of achieving them.

If party members could vote "between the type of republicanism which we who call ourselves liberals stand for" and a return to laissez faire economy "for which reactionary republicanism must be charged, we would win at least five to one," he asserted.

Morse declared the administration practice of vesting "arbitrary power in the hands of an all-powerful central government" was "striking at the very roots of representative government."

A resolution favoring giving Oregon youth the vote at age 18 years was rejected 37 to 14 after long debate climaxed by a roll call vote on the issue. A similar resolution was favored by the young republicans confederation convention in 1942.

Schools Stage Events to Add New Facilities

Salem's schools, from elementary on up, are going all-out for self-improvement—the latest being Bush grade school which Thursday night held a carnival that netted $749 for the purchase of a motion picture projector.

The carnival, arranged by Principal Walter Beck and the school's teachers, attracted hundreds of spectators to the various shows including boxing, freaks, clowns, fishing ponds, a Dutch tea room, games, a flower exhibit and other events. Pupils aided in all activities.

The voting for "queen" gave the title to Ardyth Garver, 515 S. 12th, and her runner-up princess was Jessie Mayes, 340 E. Winter. Other grade schools, too, have raised funds through their own efforts, such as:

Highland—which has installed and paid for a public address system.

Garfield—which is purchasing tumbling acts.

Englewood—which is considering use of available funds for the purchase of a movie projector.

Washington—now considering ordering its own public address system.

Richmond—which has equipped its cafeteria.

McKinley—which has considerably increased its library.

Grant—which is buying a $400 projector.

The initiative of the schools has been highly commended by Superintendent Frank Bennett.

The school district itself also has been augmenting facilities at the grade buildings. "Jungle Jims" (a series of bars at various heights) already having been installed, and outdoor basketball goals scheduled within the immediate future.
