Exchange of Ideas Sparks Housing Forum

A lively exchange of information and ideas on housing sparked a housing forum, under sponsorship of the local American Veterans Committee, in which more than 100 veterans and authorities on various phases of housing for veterans participated last night in the chamber of commerce rooms.

Walter E. Hutchinson, assistant director of FHA in Portland, assured veterans that the current building program is giving them preference, despite the prevalence of non-housing building. The latter, he explained, is due to the leak of information which preceded the government "stop building" order March 26 and prompted the early start of much commercial building.

Jack Hubbard, representing OPA, said OPA's contribution to veteran housing has been holding down price of building materials and construction to 30 or 35 per cent over pre-war prices, as compared with costs 185 per cent higher for the comparable period after World War I. Other speakers included George Aiken, state budget director and housing commission member, County Service Officer Hub Saalfeld, Mayor I. M. Doughton and City Treasurer Paul Hauser.

A. Forkner, Frieda Carlson, Roberta Klempel, Mrs. Fred L. Rose, Mrs. H. W. Irvine, altos; E. H. Ellis, Kenneth Hamilton, Robert Klempel, mezzos; H. J. Rehfsus, E. V. Yung and K. W. Hamilton, tenors; Richard F. Smart will be guest soloist.

Admirals Head Waste Inquiry

ASTORIA, Ore., May 3-(AP)—Rear Admirals C. E. Van Hook, general inspector, and D. W. Mitchell, supply officer for the western sea frontier, today opened an official navy investigation into charges of dumping of food and other supplies made earlier this week by Rep. Walter Norblad.

Adm. Van Hook said the investigation would require several days. Findings will be sent to Washington and not released here previously, he said.

W.U. Presents Religious Drama

The last years in the life of Christ were depicted by the Willamette university players in the "Family Portrait," last night at the high school auditorium.

The leading role of Mary was played by Joyce Feiden and Margaret Allen enacted the role of Mary Magdalene.

Lucile Paulus directed the well-attended production with music arranged by Melvin Geist.

DeMolay Take Over City Hall Positions

Friday was DeMolay day in the city hall, with members of that group occupying city offices for the day.

Don Davis acted as mayor; Buster Wilson, treasurer; Dan McCall, water commissioner; Rod Bright, chief of police; Don Johnson, police officer, and Blair McCabe, jailer.

Music Features First Christian Church Programs

The First Christian church, Center at High street, each year presents a series of musical concerts Sunday nights between and including Easter and Music week. Last Sunday Salem high school choir presented a concert under the direction of Lena Belle Tardar.

Next Sunday Esther Miller, instructor of voice at Willamette university, will sing three special solos, "Oh! Had I Jubal's Lyre," an aria from the oratorio "Joshua" by Handel, and "Green Pastures" by Sanderson, and "The Lord Has Given Me A Song" by Wise-Livings-ton.

The choir, directed by John Schmidt, Jr., will sing "Salutation" by Gaines and "Great and Glorious" by Hayden. Lois Schmidt at the console of the organ will play a duet with Harold Ranton at the piano. The Rev. Dudley Strain preaches on the subject "Lost Weekend."

At the 10:50 morning worship he will preach on the topic of "Christian Values," and the choir sings the anthem "Beautiful Savior"—Riegger. Fred Bates will sing "Out of the Depths" by Rogers. Sunday is the beginning of National Music week and the opening official musical event of the week is to be the playing of the carillon bells of the church at 9:30 a.m. by the organist.

NIMITZ FIGHTS BILL

WASHINGTON, May 3-(AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, reportedly with White House authorization, urged congress today to junk its bill for merging the war and navy departments pending a joint study by the services themselves.

Salem Youth Hold Retreat At Sea Coast

Annually, the first weekend in May, Englewood United Brethren young people go to one of Oregon's beauty spots for a time of inspiration, fun and planning. For the fourth time the young people will spend this weekend at Neiscott's Sea Haven camp grounds. Thirty-five left Salem Friday night and will return Sunday night.

William Dunigan, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the retreat, announced the theme will be "Jesus Calls Us," as interpreted from John 11:28. Various conferences and devotional periods will be led by the following: Lola Koerner, president of the Sunday evening youth fellowship; Gertrude Westphal, assistant youth director; Mrs. Hugh Lowmyler, and the pastor, the Rev. J. M. Goodheart.

Sunday morning service will be by C. O. Goodman, who will speak on "Compassion At Work." Night services are dismissed for this week.

Market Suffers Third Setback

NEW YORK, May 3-(AP)—The stock market today suffered its third successive average setback with light selling blamed mainly on the national coal crisis and threats of a railway walkout.

While closing losses ran to two or more points for pivotal rails and industrials, extreme recessions were shaded in most cases at the last, and there was a smattering of gainers. Transfers of 1,001,000 shares compared with 1,000,000 Thursday.

Wall Street viewed the labor situation as sufficiently bearish to offset another batch of good dividends, earnings and split-up possibilities.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off 7 of a point at 78.4, widest retreat since April 24. It was about two points under the 15-year peak established April 20.

4500 Veterans to Debark Today

By the Associated Press
Some 4500 returning veterans are expected to debark from five vessels at two US ports today. Ships arriving: At New York—Rensselaer Victory from Le Havre. At San Francisco—San Saba from Okinawa, Renville from Tokyo, LST 668 from Pearl Harbor.

Rufus Wood on Campaign Tour

Rufus Wood of Oregon City, democratic candidate for congressman from the first Oregon district, was in Salem Friday calling on voters in the interest of his candidacy. Wood has been making a tour of the district. He lived for many years in Lincoln county and on this trip renewed acquaintances in that section of the district. Wood is county assessor of Clackamas county, having held the office ten years. He has had experience as a postmaster, school teacher, farmer and logger. He holds membership in the grange, the Eagles lodge and the Christian church.

Running against him in the primaries May 17th is Lyman Ross, former state senator, Aloha.
