but . . . Music Week is stepping out a far of pretty red things, took 'em home—they were beats. Next we read on the label "prunes cooked in syrup"—they turned out to be stewed dried ones. Really don't know what we'll get next time.

Life was so simple . . . We used to only be concerned with satisfying the brides with pictures, getting all the club notices in, pacifying mothers whose children's pictures have never been published and keeping the musicians satisfied. Now we are going to have to keep the artists out of our hair.

Now I've heard everything . . . and nothing can surprise me, since I listened to an orchestra make "Allah's Holiday" sound like "Money Is the Root of All Evil."

We'll do it if it kills us . . . and we may have to read the labels. We just wanted a can of prunes, plain cooked fresh prunes.

First we picked out a jar of pretty red things, took 'em home—they were beats. Next we read on the label "prunes cooked in syrup"—they turned out to be stewed dried ones. Really don't know what we'll get next time.

All in the line . . . of Music Week. We hear about one of the latest music groups—a chamber music trio, made up of ten-year olds. Sidney Kromer is 'cellist, Carol Lee, violinist and Julie Miller pianist. They play the "Robin's Lullabye" by somebody or other, and if they get an encore, it'll be the very same number. Chamber music isn't just whipped up in a day you know! They put the robin to sleep at McKinley school assembly the other day and are now booked for a Camp Fire Girls Mothers tea' soon. . . . Miss Helen Neiger a Bride

At a candlelight ceremony Saturday night at the Bethel Baptist church Miss Helen Martha Neiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Neiger, became the bride of Harold Marvin Cherry, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cherry. The Rev. J. F. Othoff officiated at 8:30 o'clock. The altar was decorated with pastel snapdragons, stock, iris and carnations flanked by white tapers. Candles were in each window and the pews were marked with sprays of flowers tied with white ribbon.

Cousins of the bride, Clarissa and Dorothy Caspar, in pink and blue net frocks, lighted the tapers. Miss Louise Hunt was the organist and Miss Melba Juckl sang "Because" and "I Love Thee." The wedding took place in the church of which the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Guy Heyden, is a charter member.

For her wedding the bride selected a white marquisette gown fashioned with a full gathered skirt and three-quarter length sleeves gathered at the elbow. Her fingertip length net veil fell from a narrow satin band caught with a gardenia at either side. She carried a white bible marked with an orchid. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls, which were given to her when a girl by her grandparents and which they purchased while traveling in Europe.

Attend the Couple
Miss Ruth Cherry, sister of the groom, was the honor attendant. She wore a blue marquisette dress fashioned similar to the bride's and wore gardenias in her hair. Her nosegay was of pink and yellow sweetpeas and roses.

Robert M. Cherry, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Paul Fuhrer, cousin of the bride, and Clarence Cherry, brother of the groom.

For her daughter's nuptials Mrs. Neiger wore a two-piece black dress and corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Cherry also wore a black gown and her flowers were gardenias.

The wedding reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Jack Jessup of Newberg cut the bride's cake. Mrs. Roy Rocks presided at the coffee urn and Mrs. E. D. Berlin of Corvallis was at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Karl Heyden was in charge of the bride's table and assisting

A Bouquet
to the Mothers
of America

There are no medals made for mothers. There are no words in any language that can adequately express the appreciation in our hearts for the tender care . . . the patience . . . the understanding . . . the love they give us through the years. Day in and day out we accept—take for granted—their kind words, helpful suggestions, soft smiles. Day in and day out we go about our business with little thought of their problems, with not too much consideration for their feelings.

—yet, we do not mean to be selfish, but unconsciously we are. In a small measure we can show our love this Mother's day—we can make this the most beautiful Mother's Day ever. We can augment the gift of Victory with tokens of love—we can pay tribute to the grandest ladies in the world with gifts we know they want and will cherish. Shopping here will give you every opportunity to please them; for here you will find everything Mothers adore from a beautifully hand rolled handkerchief to a luxurious fur scarf. We join you in handing a bouquet to the Mothers of America.
