'Expendable' Starts Today at Capitol Theatre

Packed with the high octane excitement of a PT boat foray itself, "They Were Expendable" comes to the Capitol screen today from the pages of a best-seller novel.

Robert Montgomery, John Wayne, Donna Reed, Jack Holt and Ward Bond head the army of players Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer mustered for the picturization of W. L. White's action-cramped story. In addition to a brilliant stellar lineup, thrice Academy Award winner Capt. John Ford handled the directorial chore.

Montgomery, fresh from four years of naval combat duty, makes a signal screen return as Lieutenant John Brickley, one of the PT boat skippers who helps defend the Philippines from Jap invaders during early stages of the war. A lieutenant commander, awarded the bronze star for heroism in action, Montgomery was last seen in the memorable "Here Comes Mr. Jordan."

As Montgomery's fellow commanding officer, John Wayne makes his initial bow under Leo the Lion's star-spangled banner. Wayne has appeared in numerous John Ford pictures, including "Stagecoach" and "The Long Voyage Home."

Popular Maria Montez has her first modern dramatic role in Universal's sensational "Tangier," in which she is co-starred with the talented film favorites Robert Paige and the former celebrated "Elephant boy," Sabu. Now at the Grand.

'Scarlet Street,' Dramatic Thriller, Currently at Elsinore

"Scarlet Street," heralded as the most explosive cinema melodrama to emerge from Hollywood in recent seasons, is now playing at the Elsinore theater. Edward G. Robinson and Joan Bennett are co-starred. Dan Duryea has the leading featured role. The same trio, it is recalled, scored emphatically in Fritz Lang's "The Woman in the Window."

The new production is said to deal elementally with a man's uncontrolled infatuation and its tragic consequences. Dudley Nichols contrived the screenplay which is based upon the novel and play "La Chienne" by Georges de La Fouchardiere in collaboration with Mouezy-Eon.

A modest, middle aged cashier of a New York clothing company is the central character of the story. He is an artist of some escape from a disagreeable married existence and it is his frustrated sentiment which excuses his fatal entanglement with a chance acquaintance, a beautiful but altogether disreputable girl. Robinson is seen as the credulous, eager "little man" blinded and duped by physical charm.

Miss Bennett appears as the scheming enchantress, the glamorous bait in a trap set to snare the man but in which she herself is eventually destroyed. Duryea, described as the screen's most convincing villain, has the role of the romantic rascal who engineers the sordid conspiracy.
