

Senators Club Spokes, 9-3, Regain WL Loop Leadership

Locals Stage 15-hit Attack

Paul Soderburg, Often In Trouble, Bags 4th

W.L. LEAGUE
Salem 30 21 450 Spokane 30 25 545
Wenatchee 29 21 450 Yakima 22 33 410
Sumner 31 23 585 Victoria 14 44 267
Friday's scores: at Spokane 3, Spokane 9, at Tacoma 7, Wenatchee 3, at Yakima 3, Bremerton 8, at Vancouver, Victoria, postponed, rain.

By Al Lightner
Statesman Sports Editor
FERRIS FIELD, Spokane, Wash., June 21—(Special)—Salem's Senators turned loose some of the biting power of which they are capable, fanned in a heavy flavoring of sparkling left-center defense work, and spanked the home-town Spokes here tonight, 9 to 3. Paul Soderburg, although in trouble much of the way, went the route to notch his fourth win of the season. The win evened the count, 2-2, in this crucial series, for the Salems, trying their hardest to get momentum Tuesday leading the league again.

This photo of the Leslie swimming pool shows the effects of reconversion as it applies to the weather. A week ago The Statesman photographer couldn't find much evidence of action in Olinger pool—the weather was just too cold. It's been different this week, as the above attests. (Photo by Bill Scott, Statesman staff photographer.)

The Senators unloaded a 15-hit batting attack against three Spoke pitchers and actually salted down the struggle in the first frame with five runs, all slam-banged across on four hits after Spokane starter Pete Bartomeo walked Duane Crawford and Wally Flager to start the game. Vern Reynolds moved them up and then in machine-gun style George Vico crashed a single to center, Dick Wenner rifled another to the same spot, Skipper Ted Gullic dropped a double into left center, Ted Kerr walked and Hal Summers lined a double far to the left center boards.

Were it not for a beautiful throw to the plate by center fielder Bob Patterson after fielding Vico's hit the Salems would have made it even more. The throw cut down Flager for the second out. Soderburg, who had been on one of Soderburg's three walks for the night, an infield hit and a fielder's choice, Salem got that one back in the fifth when Gullic singled and Summers whacked another double, this one to right.

The Spokes, who banged 12 hits off Soderburg, but managed when they did little damage, counted once again in the sixth on three hits and in the eighth on three more. In all, the Indians left 12 men stranded on the sacks. But Salem outdid them even here by leaving 13 perched around the bases.

A walk to Flager and hits by Reynolds and Vico picked up a Salem run in the sixth, and in the eighth it was a walk to Reynolds, Vico's sacrifice, Gullic's terrific line drive to left, and Summers' and Kerr's double to right that gave the Salems two more. It was a pretty miserable night for the lower half of the Spoke pitching department as they yielded nine bases on balls with the 15 most solidly-kissed nits. Both Skipper Gullic and Summers lined a double to right and at times looked as if he's a cinch to hang up more wins for the Senators.

Tonight's game was played in a high wind but it did little damage to fielders. Only one error, and that a mental one, when the Spokes' infield forgot to cover second on Crawford's stolen base in the second. A 2262 crowd was out for this one despite the wind and threatening weather. Tomorrow night its Guy Hallbour for the Indians and likely Eddie Kowalski for the Gullic gang.

Fielding gems by Wally Flager and Mgr. Gullic, plus a pair of Vico's "splits" at first, and Soderburg's pitch at least three deep holes. Flager had the sparkler of the night when with men on second and third in the fourth frame and but one out he slapped down Lohrke's hard smash between the third- and second-base wheels and threw out Spoke runner Levi McCormick at the plate. Had that one gone through at that time it would have put the Indians right back in the ball game despite Salem's big opening inning.

Salem had at least one man on base every inning and left at least one stranded every heat. Spokane did little worse, but always Soderburg settled down to pitch his way out when his mates didn't haul him free with a nice play. Soderburg pitched three, play and whiffed six and at times looked as if he's a cinch to hang up more wins for the Senators.

Tonight's game was played in a high wind but it did little damage to fielders. Only one error, and that a mental one, when the Spokes' infield forgot to cover second on Crawford's stolen base in the second. A 2262 crowd was out for this one despite the wind and threatening weather. Tomorrow night its Guy Hallbour for the Indians and likely Eddie Kowalski for the Gullic gang.

Back On Top
Salem (3) 9 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Spokane (3) 3 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Crawford 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Flager 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Kerr 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Vico 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Wenner 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Gullic 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Kerr 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Summers 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Soderburg 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Peters 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Totals 30 21 450
Spokane 30 25 545
Salem 30 21 450
Spokane 30 25 545

SPORTS EVENTS

SATURDAY:
Golf—Men's club Best Ball Twosome tourney at Salem course.
Swimming—Leslie and Olinger pools open until 9 p.m.
Baseball—Junior Legion, Woodburn at Silverton, 7:30 p.m.

SUNDAY:
Golf—Men's club Best Ball Twosome tourney at Salem course.
Swimming—Leslie and Olinger pools open until 9 p.m.
Baseball—Junior Legion, Silverton at Salem (Waters park) 2:30.

SPORTSLIGHTNER

Walter L. Flager, the most recent addition to the Senators and in the shortstop slot, is another of those fast-traveling ballgamers who now finds himself hustling to hold a job in a class B circuit after playing only last year in the majors. Walter L. was last year with both the Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia Phillies and is the short-patcher plucked off by Portland during the winter in one of the Beavers' player deals with the Philadelphia club. In the Wally played 21 games for Cincy in '45 and then finished up by playing 49 more for the Phils for '70 in all. He was 220 times at bat in the National league, scored 26 runs, rapped 33 hits, including five doubles, one triple and two homers, and finished with an overall .241 average. Other major league shortstoppers hit worse than that. As a fielding middleman Flager had 121 putouts, 178 assists, .517 total average, 29 double plays and 18 errors for a .943 percentage. Marty (Slats) Marion, the "Mr. Shortstop" of the majors, fielded .967 last year if you want a comparison. Skipper Ted Gullic hasn't made up his mind as to just how he'll let his infield settle now that Flager has joined the team. He may move Lou Kubiak over to third and bench weak-hitting Hank Bartomeo, or he may keep Kubiak on the boards as a utility man. Vern Reynolds will be back in second when he's over his lameness. And when the infield is set, Skipper Gullic intends taking over the center pasture himself and flanking with Dick Wenner and Duane Crawford. Gullic, incidentally, holds hustling Mr. Crawford high as a baseball prospect. Gosh knows what the skipper will do when Frank Luchesi gets over his cracked ankle, but right now the Salems appear to be settling down for the tough July and August drives for the pennant. Having Woody Salmon and his big bat, plus his capabilities in handling pitchers, back in the lineup regular is certainly good news to all Salems fans also.

Spurts: Remember how magically inclined was young Billy Bishop, Biddy's oldest son, when he used to hang around the ball club here in 1940? The kid wowed many an audience with his sleight-of-hand stuff and kept it up even when he went into the army air forces to become one of the war's bemedaled heroes and finally a major. Well, Billy is making his hobby pay off now. He's joined a vaudeville circuit, and often enough it's a lucre-laden one, for this week he does his stuff nightly at Leonard's romp and stomper. Even as a wet-eared kid Billy used to astound the natives with his Houdini stuff. And now he's so good at it he gets paid for it. Incidentally, the gal with the pretty bird is still there this week too. Billy's magic lasted in with the bird's tricks could make things quite embarrassing for Mame Dare. Those interested in Joe (Cowboy) Carroll's ups and downs as a pro pitcher now that he is with Fresno in the Calif. State circuit might like to know the Fresno skipper thinks quite a lot of Joseph and, with more experience, figures he'll turn out to be an okeh slabman one day. Joe writes that he like pro baseballing, too.

Notice how tough the W.L. has become on managers' already this year? First it was the decapitating of Glenn Wright at Spokane and even before the season started. Then came the tragedy that was Frisco Edwards' departure. Laurel Harney at Victoria walked the plank next; then Spencer Harris, the once-likeable Portland Beaver, at Yakima. Now Sly Johnson is through at Vancouver. Quite a turnover for one season. On top of that, Ted Norbert at Victoria has been rendered practically useless for the rest of the season with his dislocated shoulder. Tough league, the W.L. Dick Adams, Wenatchee first baseman, and Bill Barhoff, Bremerton outfielder, are having it out between them for homer hitting honors in the league. Both play in cracker-box parks when at home, and particularly Barhoff. If those lads can keep up their homer whacking when they visit the expansive Waters yard, then they can be acclaimed as real home run swatters. Anybody can hit 320-foot high flies—and they are definitely not legitimate home runs.

Notice how tough the W.L. has become on managers' already this year? First it was the decapitating of Glenn Wright at Spokane and even before the season started. Then came the tragedy that was Frisco Edwards' departure. Laurel Harney at Victoria walked the plank next; then Spencer Harris, the once-likeable Portland Beaver, at Yakima. Now Sly Johnson is through at Vancouver. Quite a turnover for one season. On top of that, Ted Norbert at Victoria has been rendered practically useless for the rest of the season with his dislocated shoulder. Tough league, the W.L. Dick Adams, Wenatchee first baseman, and Bill Barhoff, Bremerton outfielder, are having it out between them for homer hitting honors in the league. Both play in cracker-box parks when at home, and particularly Barhoff. If those lads can keep up their homer whacking when they visit the expansive Waters yard, then they can be acclaimed as real home run swatters. Anybody can hit 320-foot high flies—and they are definitely not legitimate home runs.

Hunter Follows In Dad's Trail

AMES, Ia., June 21—(AP)—Sixteen-year-old Mac Hunter, rich in golf heritage, won the Western Junior Amateur championship today in a tension packed 38 hole duel with Bob Abraham, Northwestern university player.

The Santa Monica, Calif., boy, whose father, Willie, Hunter, was the British amateur champion in 1921 and whose grandfather, was a prominent English professional, took the title on the 429-yard second extra hole with a birdie 4.

Oakland 000 050 211 1 1 1
Los Angeles 000 011 1 1 1 1
Stephens and B. Martin, Chagners, Baker, (1), Erickson, (2) and Stephenson, Williams (9).
Hollywood 000 020 013 1 1 1
San Francisco 000 200 100 1 1 1
Russett, Gregory (3), Bittner (8) and Unser, Seward and Ivy.
Seattle 000 000 00 1 1 1
Sacramento 000 000 00 1 1 1
Preston and Polanco, Mann and Conroy.

DIFFERENT NOW

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—A federal judge applied the selective service law to baseball players today and told the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers to pay a discharge second baseman the difference between his $720 monthly pre-war salary and the $150 monthly he's getting in a new job.

Federal Judge Lloyd L. Black ruled that Al Niemiec, whom the Rainiers let go this spring on the ground that he had slowed down, was entitled to his former salary for the entire season, minus other earnings. Tom A. Durham, assistant U.S. attorney, confirmed that Niemiec was released at his own request yesterday from a $150 monthly contract with the Providence (R. I.) Cranston club of the New England league, and that he planned to stay in Seattle. Niemiec was not immediately available for comment.

"The ball club," Judge Black said, "need not play, but must pay, the petitioner."
Tom A. Durham, assistant U.S. attorney, called the decision "a great victory for returning GIs." Vice President Torrance of the Seattle Rainiers said the club would wait for the formal opinion—due next Monday—before deciding whether to appeal.

The decision may have wide effect, since organized baseball generally has guaranteed veterans only a 30-day trial.
In this case former Manager Bill Skiff testified for the Rainiers that Niemiec was discharged because at his age, 36, he no longer had the speed and agility he displayed before entering service in October 1942.
Judge Black held Niemiec's unconditional release "was not a discharge for cause as recognized by the statute." Remarkably he had long envied the baseball umpire who merely has to say "strike one, strike two" or "you're out." But it is expected that he not only give my results, but also give the reasons. Today, I am taking the prerogative of the umpire by announcing the result. I will defer until next Monday at 4:30 o'clock a statement of some of the reasons which convince me the result I am announcing is the correct one."

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—The weatherman said tonight the winner of tomorrow's eight-crew regatta will have to be a good "mudder." His forecast was for light intermittent rain and gentle to moderate sou'westerly wind, indicating a damp and choppy course.
Coach Allen Walz, the man on the spot, put his favored Wisconsin Badgers through the paces as he wound up training for tomorrow's international eight-crew collegiate regatta on scenic Lake Washington.
"I'm afraid we've lost whatever advantages we might have had," Walz gloomed after a mortified run from that trip out here. They didn't get much sleep and they didn't eat well. And they're not used to the shell, I'm not kidding, because it was a matter of the draw for shells, but our boat is 11 years old."
Then, looking toward the lake, he said:
"Now there's a real crew for you. These are the boys who can take this thing. Look at my row!"
Walz was referring to Skipper Sanford's Cornell oarsmen who were just concluding their workout. Despite rather choppy water, Sanford expressed himself as quite pleased with their showing.
Six of the eight crews in tomorrow's race took to the water this morning. All were slated for workouts in the afternoon. Dark-horse Rutgers and Washington kept their shells racked during the morning.
Shellhouse experts generally were picking the redshirted Wisconsin Badgers in tomorrow's race, mainly on their undefeated record for the year. And those who followed them over the lake today were impressed with their size and ability.

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—The Clearbrook Stables' big black stallion, Sir Jeffrey, found a muddy Longacres track much to his liking today and crashed up from the outside to take the $500 featured seventh race over six furlongs.

Are Your GLASSES UP-TO-DATE?
Eyes change. Glasses don't. Unless you've had your eyes examined recently, it may be that further correction is indicated. Only way to make sure is to come in for a check-up. Modern eyewear is so flattering that new glasses, if needed, will pay you generous dividends in good looks—as well as correct vision.

HAVE YOUR EYES EXAMINED BROWN'S OPTICAL SERVICE Since 1926 Liberty and Court St.

What's Your Favorite Orchestra?
Whether it's Spike Jones or Guy Lombardo, you'll find his newest and best loved recordings here. Listen to the music you like whenever you like—select your records here!

HEIDER'S 425 Court St. Call 7522

Decision in Niemiec Case Jolt to Organized Baseball

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—A federal judge applied the selective service law to baseball players today and told the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers to pay a discharge second baseman the difference between his $720 monthly pre-war salary and the $150 monthly he's getting in a new job.

Federal Judge Lloyd L. Black ruled that Al Niemiec, whom the Rainiers let go this spring on the ground that he had slowed down, was entitled to his former salary for the entire season, minus other earnings. Tom A. Durham, assistant U.S. attorney, confirmed that Niemiec was released at his own request yesterday from a $150 monthly contract with the Providence (R. I.) Cranston club of the New England league, and that he planned to stay in Seattle. Niemiec was not immediately available for comment.

"The ball club," Judge Black said, "need not play, but must pay, the petitioner."
Tom A. Durham, assistant U.S. attorney, called the decision "a great victory for returning GIs." Vice President Torrance of the Seattle Rainiers said the club would wait for the formal opinion—due next Monday—before deciding whether to appeal.

The decision may have wide effect, since organized baseball generally has guaranteed veterans only a 30-day trial.
In this case former Manager Bill Skiff testified for the Rainiers that Niemiec was discharged because at his age, 36, he no longer had the speed and agility he displayed before entering service in October 1942.
Judge Black held Niemiec's unconditional release "was not a discharge for cause as recognized by the statute." Remarkably he had long envied the baseball umpire who merely has to say "strike one, strike two" or "you're out." But it is expected that he not only give my results, but also give the reasons. Today, I am taking the prerogative of the umpire by announcing the result. I will defer until next Monday at 4:30 o'clock a statement of some of the reasons which convince me the result I am announcing is the correct one."

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—The weatherman said tonight the winner of tomorrow's eight-crew regatta will have to be a good "mudder." His forecast was for light intermittent rain and gentle to moderate sou'westerly wind, indicating a damp and choppy course.
Coach Allen Walz, the man on the spot, put his favored Wisconsin Badgers through the paces as he wound up training for tomorrow's international eight-crew collegiate regatta on scenic Lake Washington.
"I'm afraid we've lost whatever advantages we might have had," Walz gloomed after a mortified run from that trip out here. They didn't get much sleep and they didn't eat well. And they're not used to the shell, I'm not kidding, because it was a matter of the draw for shells, but our boat is 11 years old."
Then, looking toward the lake, he said:
"Now there's a real crew for you. These are the boys who can take this thing. Look at my row!"
Walz was referring to Skipper Sanford's Cornell oarsmen who were just concluding their workout. Despite rather choppy water, Sanford expressed himself as quite pleased with their showing.
Six of the eight crews in tomorrow's race took to the water this morning. All were slated for workouts in the afternoon. Dark-horse Rutgers and Washington kept their shells racked during the morning.
Shellhouse experts generally were picking the redshirted Wisconsin Badgers in tomorrow's race, mainly on their undefeated record for the year. And those who followed them over the lake today were impressed with their size and ability.

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—The Clearbrook Stables' big black stallion, Sir Jeffrey, found a muddy Longacres track much to his liking today and crashed up from the outside to take the $500 featured seventh race over six furlongs.

Are Your GLASSES UP-TO-DATE?
Eyes change. Glasses don't. Unless you've had your eyes examined recently, it may be that further correction is indicated. Only way to make sure is to come in for a check-up. Modern eyewear is so flattering that new glasses, if needed, will pay you generous dividends in good looks—as well as correct vision.

HAVE YOUR EYES EXAMINED BROWN'S OPTICAL SERVICE Since 1926 Liberty and Court St.

What's Your Favorite Orchestra?
Whether it's Spike Jones or Guy Lombardo, you'll find his newest and best loved recordings here. Listen to the music you like whenever you like—select your records here!

HEIDER'S 425 Court St. Call 7522

What's Your Favorite Orchestra?
Whether it's Spike Jones or Guy Lombardo, you'll find his newest and best loved recordings here. Listen to the music you like whenever you like—select your records here!

HEIDER'S 425 Court St. Call 7522

Decision in Niemiec Case Jolt to Organized Baseball

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—A federal judge applied the selective service law to baseball players today and told the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers to pay a discharge second baseman the difference between his $720 monthly pre-war salary and the $150 monthly he's getting in a new job.

Federal Judge Lloyd L. Black ruled that Al Niemiec, whom the Rainiers let go this spring on the ground that he had slowed down, was entitled to his former salary for the entire season, minus other earnings. Tom A. Durham, assistant U.S. attorney, confirmed that Niemiec was released at his own request yesterday from a $150 monthly contract with the Providence (R. I.) Cranston club of the New England league, and that he planned to stay in Seattle. Niemiec was not immediately available for comment.

"The ball club," Judge Black said, "need not play, but must pay, the petitioner."
Tom A. Durham, assistant U.S. attorney, called the decision "a great victory for returning GIs." Vice President Torrance of the Seattle Rainiers said the club would wait for the formal opinion—due next Monday—before deciding whether to appeal.

The decision may have wide effect, since organized baseball generally has guaranteed veterans only a 30-day trial.
In this case former Manager Bill Skiff testified for the Rainiers that Niemiec was discharged because at his age, 36, he no longer had the speed and agility he displayed before entering service in October 1942.
Judge Black held Niemiec's unconditional release "was not a discharge for cause as recognized by the statute." Remarkably he had long envied the baseball umpire who merely has to say "strike one, strike two" or "you're out." But it is expected that he not only give my results, but also give the reasons. Today, I am taking the prerogative of the umpire by announcing the result. I will defer until next Monday at 4:30 o'clock a statement of some of the reasons which convince me the result I am announcing is the correct one."

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—The weatherman said tonight the winner of tomorrow's eight-crew regatta will have to be a good "mudder." His forecast was for light intermittent rain and gentle to moderate sou'westerly wind, indicating a damp and choppy course.
Coach Allen Walz, the man on the spot, put his favored Wisconsin Badgers through the paces as he wound up training for tomorrow's international eight-crew collegiate regatta on scenic Lake Washington.
"I'm afraid we've lost whatever advantages we might have had," Walz gloomed after a mortified run from that trip out here. They didn't get much sleep and they didn't eat well. And they're not used to the shell, I'm not kidding, because it was a matter of the draw for shells, but our boat is 11 years old."
Then, looking toward the lake, he said:
"Now there's a real crew for you. These are the boys who can take this thing. Look at my row!"
Walz was referring to Skipper Sanford's Cornell oarsmen who were just concluding their workout. Despite rather choppy water, Sanford expressed himself as quite pleased with their showing.
Six of the eight crews in tomorrow's race took to the water this morning. All were slated for workouts in the afternoon. Dark-horse Rutgers and Washington kept their shells racked during the morning.
Shellhouse experts generally were picking the redshirted Wisconsin Badgers in tomorrow's race, mainly on their undefeated record for the year. And those who followed them over the lake today were impressed with their size and ability.

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—The Clearbrook Stables' big black stallion, Sir Jeffrey, found a muddy Longacres track much to his liking today and crashed up from the outside to take the $500 featured seventh race over six furlongs.

Are Your GLASSES UP-TO-DATE?
Eyes change. Glasses don't. Unless you've had your eyes examined recently, it may be that further correction is indicated. Only way to make sure is to come in for a check-up. Modern eyewear is so flattering that new glasses, if needed, will pay you generous dividends in good looks—as well as correct vision.

HAVE YOUR EYES EXAMINED BROWN'S OPTICAL SERVICE Since 1926 Liberty and Court St.

What's Your Favorite Orchestra?
Whether it's Spike Jones or Guy Lombardo, you'll find his newest and best loved recordings here. Listen to the music you like whenever you like—select your records here!

HEIDER'S 425 Court St. Call 7522

What's Your Favorite Orchestra?
Whether it's Spike Jones or Guy Lombardo, you'll find his newest and best loved recordings here. Listen to the music you like whenever you like—select your records here!

HEIDER'S 425 Court St. Call 7522

Decision in Niemiec Case Jolt to Organized Baseball

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—A federal judge applied the selective service law to baseball players today and told the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers to pay a discharge second baseman the difference between his $720 monthly pre-war salary and the $150 monthly he's getting in a new job.

Federal Judge Lloyd L. Black ruled that Al Niemiec, whom the Rainiers let go this spring on the ground that he had slowed down, was entitled to his former salary for the entire season, minus other earnings. Tom A. Durham, assistant U.S. attorney, confirmed that Niemiec was released at his own request yesterday from a $150 monthly contract with the Providence (R. I.) Cranston club of the New England league, and that he planned to stay in Seattle. Niemiec was not immediately available for comment.

"The ball club," Judge Black said, "need not play, but must pay, the petitioner."
Tom A. Durham, assistant U.S. attorney, called the decision "a great victory for returning GIs." Vice President Torrance of the Seattle Rainiers said the club would wait for the formal opinion—due next Monday—before deciding whether to appeal.

The decision may have wide effect, since organized baseball generally has guaranteed veterans only a 30-day trial.
In this case former Manager Bill Skiff testified for the Rainiers that Niemiec was discharged because at his age, 36, he no longer had the speed and agility he displayed before entering service in October 1942.
Judge Black held Niemiec's unconditional release "was not a discharge for cause as recognized by the statute." Remarkably he had long envied the baseball umpire who merely has to say "strike one, strike two" or "you're out." But it is expected that he not only give my results, but also give the reasons. Today, I am taking the prerogative of the umpire by announcing the result. I will defer until next Monday at 4:30 o'clock a statement of some of the reasons which convince me the result I am announcing is the correct one."

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—The weatherman said tonight the winner of tomorrow's eight-crew regatta will have to be a good "mudder." His forecast was for light intermittent rain and gentle to moderate sou'westerly wind, indicating a damp and choppy course.
Coach Allen Walz, the man on the spot, put his favored Wisconsin Badgers through the paces as he wound up training for tomorrow's international eight-crew collegiate regatta on scenic Lake Washington.
"I'm afraid we've lost whatever advantages we might have had," Walz gloomed after a mortified run from that trip out here. They didn't get much sleep and they didn't eat well. And they're not used to the shell, I'm not kidding, because it was a matter of the draw for shells, but our boat is 11 years old."
Then, looking toward the lake, he said:
"Now there's a real crew for you. These are the boys who can take this thing. Look at my row!"
Walz was referring to Skipper Sanford's Cornell oarsmen who were just concluding their workout. Despite rather choppy water, Sanford expressed himself as quite pleased with their showing.
Six of the eight crews in tomorrow's race took to the water this morning. All were slated for workouts in the afternoon. Dark-horse Rutgers and Washington kept their shells racked during the morning.
Shellhouse experts generally were picking the redshirted Wisconsin Badgers in tomorrow's race, mainly on their undefeated record for the year. And those who followed them over the lake today were impressed with their size and ability.

SEATTLE, June 21—(AP)—The Clearbrook Stables' big black stallion, Sir Jeffrey, found a muddy Longacres track much to his liking today and crashed up from the outside to take the $500 featured seventh race over six furlongs.

Are Your GLASSES UP-TO-DATE?
Eyes change. Glasses don't. Unless you've had your eyes examined recently, it may be that further correction is indicated. Only way to make sure is to come in for a check-up. Modern eyewear is so flattering that new glasses, if needed, will pay you generous dividends in good looks—as well as correct vision.

HAVE YOUR EYES EXAMINED BROWN'S OPTICAL SERVICE Since 1926 Liberty and Court St.

What's Your Favorite Orchestra?
Whether it's Spike Jones or Guy Lombardo, you'll find his newest and best loved recordings here. Listen to the music you like whenever you like—select your records here!

HEIDER'S 425 Court St. Call 7522

What's Your Favorite Orchestra?
Whether it's Spike Jones or Guy Lombardo, you'll find his newest and best loved recordings here. Listen to the music you like whenever you like—select your records here!

HEIDER'S 425 Court St. Call 7522

Senator Seeks Investigation

Irishman O'Toole to Sue Promoter Jacobs

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—That fighting Irishman from Brooklyn, Rep. Donald L. O'Toole, turned his punches toward Eddie Eagan today in pressing for an investigation of the Joe Louis-Billy Conn bout.

O'Toole made a brief speech on the floor of the house in which he reiterated that he was filing a $100,000 suit against Promoter Mike Jacobs, complaining that the promoter accused him of extortion. Jacobs claims that O'Toole's office phoned for complimentary tickets, which were refused.

O'Toole then turned his attention to Eagan. In a 500-word extension of his remarks for publication in the Congressional Record, O'Toole asserted that it is Eagan's duty as New York state Boxing commission chairman to conduct an investigation of the world heavyweight title bout.

About the time O'Toole was expanding his campaign, the justice department took itself out of the capital's hectic front lines in a hurry. It denied a published story that it would look into both boxing and baseball for anti-trust violations.

The Philadelphia Athletics spotted the Chicago White Sox three runs and then beat them 5 to 3. The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-5 to increase their National league margin to two and a half games over the runner-up Redbirds.

The Philadelphia Phillies moved out of the National league cellar with a 2 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds before an estimated 12,000. Schoolboy Rowe held the Reds to three hits.

Big Mort Cooper capped the Braves' four-game losing streak by turning back the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2.

Relief Pitcher Paul Erickson throttled the New York Giants on four hits and one run over the final six and one-third innings to register his third straight victory as the Chicago Cubs came from behind to defeat the Giants 5-4.

TOLEDO, O., June 21—(AP)—Shooting consecutive best ball rounds of 64, the team of Byron Nelson and Harold (Jug) McSpaden was out in front by two points today at the end of the third round of the Inverness Invitational golf tournament.

Nelson and McSpaden drubbed Toney Penna and Herman Barron five up in the morning round and then came back to do the same kind of a job on Herman Keiser and Chandler Harper in the afternoon.

Those two triumphs gave the Nelson-McSpaden duo a score of 13 points to 11 for Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret, the first day leaders.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 21—(AP)—Don Moeft of Tacoma annexed the Oregon Golf association junior crown, for boys under 18, by downing Marsh Smith, Portland, 2 up, in a close match today.

Sox Beat Feller; Phils Win, Climb From Loop Cellar

Phils Win, Climb From Loop Cellar

CLEVELAND, June 21—(AP)—Tex Hughson edged Bob Feller in a mound duel tonight as the Boston Red Sox snapped a four game losing streak to defeat the Cleveland Indians 1 to 0. The Sox snared their run in the second when Bobby Doerr tripled and came home on Rudy York's foul fly. The win increased the Soxers' lead to 7 1/2 games over the Yankees.

With four New York errors making his task simple, Hal Newhouse achieved his 12th pitching triumph of the year and the 100th of his seven-year big league career as the Red Sox Tigers paster the Bombers 6 to 2.

Newhouse, who struck out 10 men, had a two-hit shutout until the ninth when Charley Keller doubled and Joe DiMaggio lined his 13th homer into the right center field seats 400 feet from the plate.

The Washington Senators scored three runs in the ninth inning on Cecil Travis' and Gil Coan's singles and defeated the St. Louis Browns 4 to 2 in the opening of a four-game series.

The Philadelphia Athletics spotted the Chicago White Sox three runs and then beat them 5 to 3. The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-5 to increase their National league margin to two and a half games over the runner-up Redbirds.

The Philadelphia Phillies moved out of the National league cellar with a 2 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds before an estimated 12,000. Schoolboy Rowe held the Reds to three hits.

Big Mort Cooper capped the Braves' four-game losing streak by turning back the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2.

Relief Pitcher Paul Erickson throttled the New York Giants on four hits and one run over the final six and one-third innings to register his third straight victory as the Chicago Cubs came from behind to defeat the Giants 5-4.

TOLEDO, O., June 21—(AP)—Shooting consecutive best ball rounds of 64, the team of Byron Nelson and Harold (Jug) McSpaden was out in front by two points today at the end of the third round of the Inverness Invitational golf tournament.

Nelson and McSpaden drubbed Toney Penna and Herman Barron five up in the morning round and then came back to do the same kind of a job on Herman Keiser and Chandler Harper in the afternoon.

Those two triumphs gave the Nelson-McSpaden duo a score of 13 points to 11 for Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret, the first day leaders.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 21—(AP)—Don Moeft of Tacoma annexed the Oregon Golf association junior crown, for boys under 18, by downing Marsh Smith, Portland, 2 up, in a close match today.

Sox Beat Feller; Phils Win, Climb From Loop Cellar

<