

Miss Vida Cox Weds

Before a setting of white delphinium and calla lilies and a lattice of greenery, Miss Vida Cox, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Cox, became the bride of H. Carl Flood, in the sanctuary of the First Christian church, June 21. The Rev. Dudley Strain officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Emil Scholz, wore a white skinner satin gown, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline bordered by seed pearls. The long fitted sleeves came to a point over the wrists. The gown was made with a fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt which fell into a full train. Her finger-tip veil of double illusion and lace fell from a seed pearl coronet. She wore a single strand of pearls with matching earrings and carried an arm bouquet of white gladioluses.

For her maid of honor and bridesmaid she chose Miss Dorothy Lane and Miss Imogene Johnson who also wore white gowns with shoulder length veils. They carried nosegays of yellow rose buds, sweet peas, and white asters.

Harlan Moorman acted as best man for Mr. Flood, and Ralph Bolling was the groomsmen. Ushers were Keith Grossenbacher and Neil Witting.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. John Schmidt played organ selections and "The Bells of Saint Mary" on the Carillon bells. Lola Schulz and Martha Jane Kupper lighted the tapers. Vocal numbers were: "Until," sung by Mae Lamb and John Schmidt, Jr.; "At Dawning," by Martha Jane Kupper, and "Because" by John Schmidt, Jr.

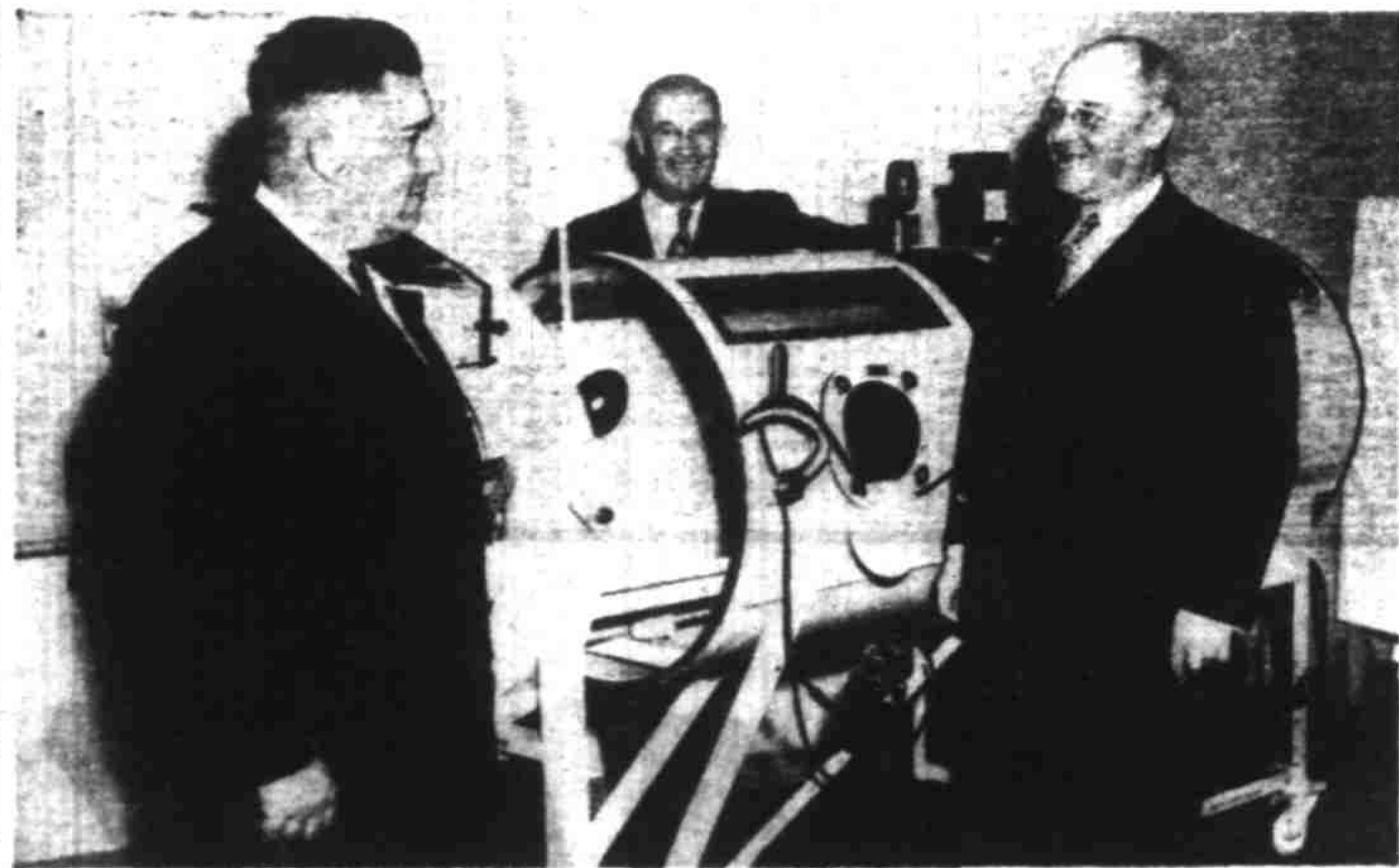

The ring bearer, Rodney Schmidt, was followed by the flower girls, Kathleen and Gloria Schmidt.

A large reception followed the wedding and was held in the adjoining church parlors.

A Chin Up "get-together" will be held in Salem Sunday afternoon June 30 at St. Vincent's Catholic hall, Highland and Columbia streets. A covered dish dinner will be served at 1 o'clock. Steel Foot Bridge Found too Costly For Silver Creek

SILVERTON, June 26 — That a steel bridge is too costly for the city of Silverton, was reported by Robert E. Borland, city manager at the Tuesday night meeting of the city planning commission, headed by Rhoin Cooley. Various types of bridge were discussed with Manager Borland asked to obtain additional information on bridge materials and costs. It is hoped to be able to span Silver Creek in the park area this summer but it may not be possible because of shortage of both materials and labor. Borland explained.

Mayor George Christenson was present at the meeting and explained that parking meters might be one way of solving the present impossible parking situation in Silverton. He said that there would be no cost installation and that the meters would be paid for by half of the proceeds until costs were made up. The city would retain the other half of proceeds. Reber Allen, former mayor and member of the present council, reported that the meters in many towns of Silverton's size up and down the coast. Allen has recently returned from a visit in the Puget Sound region. The planning commission went on record as favoring the installation of the meters at Silverton. The meters could be removed at the end of nine months if they are not found satisfactory, Christenson explained.

'Heat's Off.' President Truman's Anti-Strike Bill Lies Dormant

By Max Hall
Associated Press Labor Reporter
WASHINGTON, June 27—(AP)—President Truman's emergency anti-strike bill, which congress cheered only a month ago, now appears to be unloved, unwanted, and unlikely to succeed. Administration leaders are not pushing it, though President Truman again formally asked for it on June 11.

The lack of steam behind the measure has been widely noticed in capitol hills. The fact is: congress has experienced one of the biggest reversals of sentiment in its recent history. On May 25 the house passed the emergency bill by a vote of 306 to 13. On June 1 the senate passed it, with certain changes, by a vote of 61 to 20.

Bill Stagnant
Today it was on speaker Sam Rayburn's desk and no one had yet risen to fight for it further.

Why the sudden change?
1. The heat's off. There are no major strikes. The coal and railroad strikes ended. The maritime dispute was settled on June 14—three days after the president's last formal request for the legislation.

2. Administration leaders in congress have become noticeably silent about the bill.

Parties Disagree
3. Those in congress who had hoped to attach to this measure certain provisions of the Case bill—which was vetoed by the president—have not been able to agree on how to proceed.

4. A great many lawmakers have an idea it would be better not to have any more pro-labor, anti-labor fights until the congressional elections are over.

Chinese Ask U. S. Quit Aid

MANKING, Friday, June 28—(AP)—"Peoples' organizations" in areas liberated by Chinese communists demanded a halt in U. S. military aid to China in a message today to President Truman and U. S. congressional leaders.

At the same time, the communist party's emancipation daily leveled a fresh propaganda attack at proposed new U. S. support, charging the United States with "seeking to dominate Chinese internal affairs and foreign policy."

The demands came as General Marshall, special American envoy to China, worked ceaselessly to arrange a permanent peace in Manchuria before expiration Sunday of the present truce. Reorganization of government and communist armies was the major stumbling block.
